Police Trial Is Continued To Monday

Absence Of Witness Sought At Toronto Forces Halt Of Case

Failure to locate a missing prosecution witness after an overnight search in Toronto resulted in a continuance of the police burglary trial at Lisbon this morning.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, declaring he was "not happy" about a further delay, ordered the case continued until Monday morning to give Prosecutor G. William Brokaw more time to locate Richey Wallace, Toronto jeweler and pawnbroker.

The trial of Ira Cunningham and Robert Carroll, former police officers, and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, charged with a 1952 burglary of the Burbick Hardware store, was halted late Thursday morning because of the absent Wallace.

When court reconvened at 1 p. m., prosecutor Brokaw reported the sheriff's office and Jefferson County authorities had not been able to find Wallace. He said Wallace had been missing from his home about three days.

Brokaw said Wallace's w was also not at the home when a resident subpoena was served yesterday. The prosecutor said he phoned Wallace Friday and the jeweler promised he would be available for the trial this week, adding he would come when notified.

The Toronto man is known to go away unexpectedly on occasions, but not for such a length of time or without notifying Toronto police, Brokaw said.

"I spent seven or eight hours in Toronto last night, and Assistant Prosecutor Warren Bettis is there today," Brokaw said. "But Wallace was not located nor had he returned home." Brokaw said a woman employe had been opening and working at the store this week and had told officials she does not know where Wallace is.

The prosecutor said someone was sent into the store "ostensibly as a shopper," a person the woman did not know, and she advised the "shopper" Wallace would be back today.

Brokaw told Judge Buzzard the

Russia Maps West's Upset In Germany

U.S. Officials Are Still Uncertain Of New Red Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its chief European allies expect to decide in the next few days on moves to counter Russia's campaign to upset Western positions in Germany.

Preliminary discussions already are under way with the governments of Britain, France, West Germany and other interested countries.

Premier Khrushchev announced in a speech Monday that the Soviet government would hand over to East German authorities the functions now performed by the Russian military authorities in East Berlin. He demanded that the United States, Britain and France abandon West Berlin and let the East German Communist regime take over the whole city.

The Western powers' response so far has been to issue public statements making clear they plan to permit no change in the status of West Berlin.

Officials here feel, however, that actions of a stronger and more official nature are required.

One possibility is the issuance of a new formal three-power declaration reaffirming the intention of the United States, Britain and France to maintain their positions in West Berlin and their use of access routes from the west to that city.

Another is a declaration of NATO policy, which could be drawn up and approved at a scheduled meeting of NATO foreign ministers next month.

Officials here say privately that there is nothing the West can do to prevent the Russians from pulling out of East Berlin if they want to. Such a move is feared, however, as opening up a new period of troubles and tensions for the Western powers in Germany. It would put the East Germans in a position to interfere with the traffic flow into Berlin and would also raise difficult political questions because the West refuses to recognize the East German regime.

U.S. authorities are not certain yet of the ultimate aim of the new Russian strategy.

But the main theory points to the ultimate purpose of forcing United States military withdrawal from Germany and therefore from Western Europe.

What Khrushchev apparently hopes to achieve, according to the analysis of Washington authorities is a renewal of tension and fear on the Allied side so that some nations might put pressure on the United States to make concessions to Russia's European aims.

Probe Of Fire Goes On; Wife Still Critical

Funeral Held Today For East End Father And 3 Young Sons

A young mother remained in serious condition today at City Hospital as funeral services were held for her husband and three sons who died in the East End apartment house fire Wednesday morning.

Although Mrs. Caroline Wolfe still is listed as "critical," a City Hospital spokesman said she spent "a better night."

Services were held this afternoon for her husband, Robert Wolfe, and three sons, Randy, Bobby and Ricky. Survivors include the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Bourne of East Liverpool.

Meanwhile, a probe into the cause of the fire was to resume today, Chief Charles Bryan said.

An investigation of the fire in the four-story apartment building on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." Thursday by the chief, Asst. Chief Alfred Van Dyne and Mike Melillo and Delbert Owens, deputy state fire marshals, failed to show the cause of the blaze that almost wiped out the young family and forced 12 others to flee.

Questioning of Mrs. Wolfe, when permitted, may aid fire officials in learning the sequence of events that led to the disastrous fire that caused the greatest loss of life here in some 20 years, Chief Bryan said.

Dr. J. Keith Rugh, deputy Columbiana County coroner, said today he still hasn't ruled on the cause of the deaths. All four were burned, he said, but the mother escaped with comparatively minor burns, suffering mostly from smoke inhalation.

Confusion and misunderstanding apparently led to the belated discovery that the Wolfes were trap-

Stacey succeeds John W. Peterson of East Palestine, who was appointed after the death of John W. Coleman. Gard succeeds Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool who was appointed to succeed W. A. Southan. Soviet Brands Bulganin As Foe Of Party

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikolai Bulganin today was publicly branded an enemy of the Communist party after serving in its high command almost since the 1917 revolution.

The former Soviet premier, already reduced to a minor provincial job, was expected to be stripped soon of membership in the party's Central Committee — his last claim to importance.

The denunciation of Bulganin was contained almost casually in a report on the Soviet seven-year economic plan of Premier Nikita Khrushchev, once Bulganin's comrade in government. The report was issued after a meeting Wednesday of the Central Committee.

Moscow radio said the report mentioned "the exposure and routing of the antiparty group of Malenkov, Kaganovich, Molotov, Bulganin and Shepilov who joined them, who slid down the road to faction-splitting activity."

This was the first time that the name of the ailing, 63-year-old Bulganin had been included as a member of "the antiparty group." The other four were ousted from party leadership in late June 1957 on charges of collusion and intrigue.

V. M. Molotov, former premier and foreign minister, was named ambassador to Outer Mongolia; Georgi Malenkov, premier before Bulganin, was made a provincial power station manager; Lazar Kaganovich, former deputy premier and industrial expert, became a provincial executive in the building materials industry; and Dmitri Shepilov, former foreign minister headed a scientific institute in Soviet Central Asia.

School Board Aspirants Are Being Sought

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Little Rock sought candidates for its vacant school board posts today while a court battle shaped up over Supt. Virgil Blossom's contract.

A friend of Gov. Orval E. Faubus is expected to announce a slate of board candidates tonight to replace the five members who resigned Wednesday after declaring their position was one of "utter hopelessness, helplessness and frustration."

Before the five board members resigned, they voted to buy up Blossom's contract and release him in an effort to protect him against an incoming board which may be hostile.

The issue of paying Blossom was challenged in a state court Thursday and now must go through legal channels that probably will be lengthy.

Only one candidate has announced he will seek a board post in the Dec. 6 election. He is James T. Karam, a clothier and a close friend of Faubus.

Killer Of Two Being Sought In Virginia

Gunman Held Eight As Hostages Before Murdering Women

BOWLING GREEN, Va. (AP) —A Negro gunman, after gaining entrance to a home by asking for food, held eight persons hostage more than two hours Thursday night, then shot and killed two white women. He was still at large today.

Killed while they sat tied in the dining room were Mrs. James S. Brooks, 33, wife of James S. (Cap) Brooks and the mother of four small children, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Lewis Brooks, 74.

Frederick Van Allen, in the Brooks' home to give a music lesson, was injured during a scuffle with the gunman and was hospitalized at Fredericksburg.

More than 150 state and local police sought the slayer with bloodhounds near this central Virginia town of 700, some 20 miles south of Fredericksburg.

Edna Mae Parker, 18, a Negro hired as a maid by the Brooks earlier this week, gave this account:

About 4:30 p.m. the intruder knocked at the back door. When Jean Brooks, 9, answered he pulled out a pistol and forced the girl and maid into the dining room.

There he collected the younger Mrs. Brooks, Van Allen and Mrs. Brooks' twin sons, Lynn and Lewis, 5. He then tied the three adults.

The elder Mrs. Brooks came downstairs and was tied with the rest.

Asked if she had any money, the younger Mrs. Brooks said she had $15 or $20 in her purse upstairs. The gunman sent Jean after the purse.

When the telephone rang, the intruder had Jean answer it. It was her brother, Mason, 7, asking why his mother had not come to art school for him. The intruder had Jean tell him his mother was taking a bath.

Mason called back a few minutes later and said the art teacher was sending him home in a taxicab. When the taxi arrived, the gunman had Jean go outside and pay the driver with a $5 bill.

A short time later the younger Mrs. Brooks' husband drove up and the intruder went outside to meet him. They scuffled in front of the house and Brooks fled for help.

The gunman then returned to the house and shot the two women.

Van Allen, meanwhile, had managed to work loose and attempted a break. The intruder grappled with him but the music teacher tore loose and ran from the house.

No Sign Of Accord On Geneva Conference

GENEVA (AP)—There was no sign of agreement on an agenda as the 10-nation technical conference on surprise attack ended its fifth session today.

A communique issued after the hour-long meeting said the delegates "continued discussion of the plan of work for the conference."

Test Firing To Don Cloak Of Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Test firings at the new Pacific missile weapon range may start within the next two months.

But secrecy, far tighter than any attempted by the military at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site, apparently will cloak operations at the West Coast range.

The two sites from which missiles will be fired are Point Arguello and Vandenberg Air Force Base in California. They are designated as "maximum security areas."

A memorandum issued by Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles last summer instructed the Air Force, Navy and Army "to take the necessary steps within your department and, in cooperation with one another, to establish the necessary military security measures."

This suggests that public spectator and press coverage possibilities at the Pacific range will be something short of the setup at the Florida launching site. At Cape Canaveral, preparations for the launchings, as well as the launchings themselves, often can be seen from nearby beaches.

The Defense Department currently is considering proposals for press coverage at the Pacific range, but a spokesman said today no final plan has been approved.

It is expected there will be some space vehicle firings at the Pacific range. But the greater part of the operation will involve testing and training of crews using weapons.

Shoved Out By ICBM

Shorter Range Rockets May Be Shelved By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long range intercontinental ballistic missile and the cold facts of international relations may shove the intermediate range rocket out of the United States arsenal.

That trend was indicated in a news conference by Secretary of Defense McElroy Thursday.

McElroy hastened to say that the United States will go ahead with production of the Thor and Jupiter IRBMs to complete orders for weapons to be deployed to Europe—to England and probably to Italy.

But the defense chief also said that "the farther you go down the road of the ICBM, the less interesting it is to employ additional IRBMs."

With the ICBM, which would be launched from bases in the United States, "we would have complete control," commented McElroy. This presumably meant that the United States would be free of the complications of sharing with other countries control of the missiles which, in the case of the IRBMs, would be fired from bases in allied nations.

McElroy had another point to make: if an enemy had to use his own ICBMs to strike U.S. missile bases, the job would be more difficult at 5,000 miles range than at 1,500—the range of an IRBM. The first missile to be pitched would not be ours, but the enemy's. We would have more time, even if only half an hour, to start countermeasures than we would if the reliance was on medium-range missiles at forward bases overseas, he implied.

McElroy's remarks seemed to suggest encouraging hope for perfection of ICBMs. Currently, the Air Force has three ICBM projects. They are the Atlas, the Titan and the Minute Man. The Minute Man is to be a solid fuel instead of liquid fuel rocket, more reliable in firing and easier to install in heavily fortified underground launching positions.

McElroy's news conference also brought word of another change in military planning.

The Defense Department, he said, will reinstate its program for cutting 55,000 more men out of the Army and Marine ground forces. The cutback was delayed when crises developed in Lebanon and Formosa, and U.S. troops were rushed to Lebanon.

McElroy said "we are about ready to start" again on the cutback. This means that by next June 30 the Army should be down to 870,000 men and the Marines to 175,000.

Gomulka Due Quiz By U.S. On Policy Rap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will ask Polish leader Wladyslaw Gomulka to explain his move in joining Russia to denounce American policies as endangering world peace.

Gomulka's remarks, made Wednesday after talks in Moscow with Premier Khrushchev, have disturbed top State Department officials.

Authorities are particularly upset over his outspoken support for new Soviet demands for an end to four-power control of Berlin.

His denunciation of "American imperialists" comes at a time when Poland has appealed for more economic aid to bolster its shaky economy.

During the past two years, the United States has extended 193 million dollars in aid to Poland, mainly surplus food, cotton and machinery. This aid, given despite some congressional opposition, has gone to help Gomulka with his professed objective of leading Poland toward more independence from Russia.

Jacob Beam, U.S. ambassador to Poland, returned Sunday for consultations with the State Department on Polish-American relations. His trip, scheduled for several weeks, preceded Gomulka's recent utterances, however, and informants said the trip is

Jury Convicts In Tax Charge

Azdell To Pay Costs On Top Of $50 Fine

A Municipal Court jury of 11 men and 1 woman deliberated only 24 minutes today before convicting William F. Azdell of Harding Ave. of violating the defunct city income tax ordinance for failure to file an estimate of 1958 income before the deadline July 15.

Judge George L. Brokaw fined Azdell $50 and ordered him to pay the costs, which will total $150 or more because of jury fees and other expenses. He gave Azdell 30 days in which to pay.

The trial got under way at 9:30 this morning and went to the jury at 10:40. The jury returned with its verdict about 11:10. Azdell represented himself. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper prosecuted for the city.

The city alleged that Azdell was a prospective taxpayer required to file an estimate of income because his earnings as a Post Office employe were not

Recounts Set For Thursday By Vote Board

The County Election Board today set recounts Thursday at 8 p. m. in its office on W. 6th St. on Nov. 4 election returns that showed apparent defeat of bond issues proposed in New Waterford village and the Fairfield-Waterford School District.

The board acted after proponents of both issues filed recount applications yesterday.

A committee headed by Andrew Bretz filed for a recount of returns from three Fairfield Township precincts in the school district, where a $550,000 building bond issue apparently was defeated by a 70-vote margin.

Another group headed by Mrs. Joseph Fittante asked a recount of the lone precinct in New Waterford, seeking to overturn the apparent 5-vote defeat of a $35,000 sewer bond issue.

Supporters of the school bond issue asked the recount in the Center, North and West Precincts of Fairfield Township. Other members of the petitioning committee are George Garrod, Ben Weingart, Joseph B. Edgerton and W. Ralph Rupert.

Police Trial Is Continued To Monday

Failure to locate a missing prosecution witness after an overnight search in Toronto resulted in a continuance of the police burglary trial at Lisbon this morning.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, declaring he was "not happy" about a further delay, ordered the case continued until Monday morning to give Prosecutor G. William Brokaw more time to locate Richey Wallace, Toronto jeweler and pawnbroker.

The trial of Ira Cunningham and Robert Carroll, former police officers, and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, charged with a 1952 burglary of the Burbick Hardware store, was halted late Thursday morning because of the absent Wallace.

When court reconvened at 1 p. m., prosecutor Brokaw reported the sheriff's office and Jefferson County authorities had not been able to find Wallace. He said Wallace had been missing from his home about three days.

Russia Maps West's Upset In Germany

U.S. Officials Are Still Uncertain Of New Red Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its chief European allies expect to decide in the next few days on moves to counter Russia's campaign to upset Western positions in Germany.

Preliminary discussions already are under way with the governments of Britain, France, West Germany and other interested countries.

Premier Khrushchev announced in a speech Monday that the Soviet government would hand over to East German authorities the functions now performed by the Russian military authorities in East Berlin. He demanded that the United States, Britain and France abandon West Berlin and let the East German Communist regime take over the whole city.

The Western powers' response so far has been to issue public statements making clear they plan to permit no change in the status of West Berlin.

Officials here feel, however, that actions of a stronger and more official nature are required.

One possibility is the issuance of a new formal three-power declaration reaffirming the intention of the United States, Britain and France to maintain their positions in West Berlin and their use of access routes from the west to that city.

Another is a declaration of NATO policy, which could be drawn up and approved at a scheduled meeting of NATO foreign ministers next month.

Officials here say privately that there is nothing the West can do to prevent the Russians from pulling out of East Berlin if they want to. Such a move is feared, however, as opening up a new period of troubles and tensions for the Western powers in Germany. It would put the East Germans in a position to interfere with the traffic flow into Berlin and would also raise difficult political questions because the West refuses to recognize the East German regime.

U.S. authorities are not certain yet of the ultimate aim of the new Russian strategy.

But the main theory points to the ultimate purpose of forcing United States military withdrawal from Germany and therefore from Western Europe.

What Khrushchev apparently hopes to achieve, according to the analysis of Washington authorities is a renewal of tension and fear on the Allied side so that some nations might put pressure on the United States to make concessions to Russia's European aims.

Probe Of Fire Goes On; Wife Still Critical

Funeral Held Today For East End Father And 3 Young Sons

Killer Of Two Being Sought In Virginia

Gunman Held Eight As Hostages Before Murdering Women

BOWLING GREEN, Va. (AP) —A Negro gunman, after gaining entrance to a home by asking for food, held eight persons hostage more than two hours Thursday night, then shot and killed two white women. He was still at large today.

Killed while they sat tied in the dining room were Mrs. James S. Brooks, 33, wife of James S. (Cap) Brooks and the mother of four small children, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Lewis Brooks, 74.

Frederick Van Allen, in the Brooks' home to give a music lesson, was injured during a scuffle with the gunman and was hospitalized at Fredericksburg.

More than 150 state and local police sought the slayer with bloodhounds near this central Virginia town of 700, some 20 miles south of Fredericksburg.

Edna Mae Parker, 18, a Negro hired as a maid by the Brooks earlier this week, gave this account:

About 4:30 p.m. the intruder knocked at the back door. When Jean Brooks, 9, answered he pulled out a pistol and forced the girl and maid into the dining room.

There he collected the younger Mrs. Brooks, Van Allen and Mrs. Brooks' twin sons, Lynn and Lewis, 5. He then tied the three adults.

The elder Mrs. Brooks came downstairs and was tied with the rest.

Asked if she had any money, the younger Mrs. Brooks said she had $15 or $20 in her purse upstairs. The gunman sent Jean after the purse.

When the telephone rang, the intruder had Jean answer it. It was her brother, Mason, 7, asking why his mother had not come to art school for him. The intruder had Jean tell him his mother was taking a bath.

Mason called back a few minutes later and said the art teacher was sending him home in a taxicab. When the taxi arrived, the gunman had Jean go outside and pay the driver with a $5 bill.

A short time later the younger Mrs. Brooks' husband drove up and the intruder went outside to meet him. They scuffled in front of the house and Brooks fled for help.

The gunman then returned to the house and shot the two women.

Van Allen, meanwhile, had managed to work loose and attempted a break. The intruder grappled with him but the music teacher tore loose and ran from the house.

Test Firing To Don Cloak Of Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Test firings at the new Pacific missile weapon range may start within the next two months.

But secrecy, far tighter than any attempted by the military at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site, apparently will cloak operations at the West Coast range.

The two sites from which missiles will be fired are Point Arguello and Vandenberg Air Force Base in California. They are designated as "maximum security areas."

A memorandum issued by Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles last summer instructed the Air Force, Navy and Army "to take the necessary steps within your department and, in cooperation with one another, to establish the necessary military security measures."

This suggests that public spectator and press coverage possibilities at the Pacific range will be something short of the setup at the Florida launching site. At Cape Canaveral, preparations for the launchings, as well as the launchings themselves, often can be seen from nearby beaches.

The Defense Department currently is considering proposals for press coverage at the Pacific range, but a spokesman said today no final plan has been approved.

It is expected there will be some space vehicle firings at the Pacific range. But the greater part of the operation will involve testing and training of crews using weapons.

Shoved Out By ICBM

Shorter Range Rockets May Be Shelved By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long range intercontinental ballistic missile and the cold facts of international relations may shove the intermediate range rocket out of the United States arsenal.

That trend was indicated in a news conference by Secretary of Defense McElroy Thursday.

McElroy hastened to say that the United States will go ahead with production of the Thor and Jupiter IRBMs to complete orders for weapons to be deployed to Europe—to England and probably to Italy.

But the defense chief also said that "the farther you go down the road of the ICBM, the less interesting it is to employ additional IRBMs."

With the ICBM, which would be launched from bases in the United States, "we would have complete control," commented McElroy. This presumably meant that the United States would be free of the complications of sharing with other countries control of the missiles which, in the case of the IRBMs, would be fired from bases in allied nations.

McElroy had another point to make: if an enemy had to use his own ICBMs to strike U.S. missile bases, the job would be more difficult at 5,000 miles range than at 1,500—the range of an IRBM. The first missile to be pitched would not be ours, but the enemy's. We would have more time, even if only half an hour, to start countermeasures than we would if the reliance was on medium-range missiles at forward bases overseas, he implied.

McElroy's remarks seemed to suggest encouraging hope for perfection of ICBMs. Currently, the Air Force has three ICBM projects. They are the Atlas, the Titan and the Minute Man. The Minute Man is to be a solid fuel instead of liquid fuel rocket, more reliable in firing and easier to install in heavily fortified underground launching positions.

McElroy's news conference also brought word of another change in military planning.

The Defense Department, he said, will reinstate its program for cutting 55,000 more men out of the Army and Marine ground forces. The cutback was delayed when crises developed in Lebanon and Formosa, and U.S. troops were rushed to Lebanon.

McElroy said "we are about ready to start" again on the cutback. This means that by next June 30 the Army should be down to 870,000 men and the Marines to 175,000.

Gomulka Due Quiz By U.S. On Policy Rap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will ask Polish leader Wladyslaw Gomulka to explain his move in joining Russia to denounce American policies as endangering world peace.

Gomulka's remarks, made Wednesday after talks in Moscow with Premier Khrushchev, have disturbed top State Department officials.

Authorities are particularly upset over his outspoken support for new Soviet demands for an end to four-power control of Berlin.

His denunciation of "American imperialists" comes at a time when Poland has appealed for more economic aid to bolster its shaky economy.

During the past two years, the United States has extended 193 million dollars in aid to Poland, mainly surplus food, cotton and machinery. This aid, given despite some congressional opposition, has gone to help Gomulka with his professed objective of leading Poland toward more independence from Russia.

Jacob Beam, U.S. ambassador to Poland, returned Sunday for consultations with the State Department on Polish-American relations. His trip, scheduled for several weeks, preceded Gomulka's recent utterances, however, and informants said the trip is

Azdell To Pay Costs On Top Of $50 Fine

A Municipal Court jury of 11 men and 1 woman deliberated only 24 minutes today before convicting William F. Azdell of Harding Ave. of violating the defunct city income tax ordinance for failure to file an estimate of 1958 income before the deadline July 15.

Judge George L. Brokaw fined Azdell $50 and ordered him to pay the costs, which will total $150 or more because of jury fees and other expenses. He gave Azdell 30 days in which to pay.

The trial got under way at 9:30 this morning and went to the jury at 10:40. The jury returned with its verdict about 11:10. Azdell represented himself. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper prosecuted for the city.

The city alleged that Azdell was a prospective taxpayer required to file an estimate of income because his earnings as a Post Office employe were not

Recounts Set For Thursday By Vote Board

The County Election Board today set recounts Thursday at 8 p. m. in its office on W. 6th St. on Nov. 4 election returns that showed apparent defeat of bond issues proposed in New Waterford village and the Fairfield-Waterford School District.

The board acted after proponents of both issues filed recount applications yesterday.

A committee headed by Andrew Bretz filed for a recount of returns from three Fairfield Township precincts in the school district, where a $550,000 building bond issue apparently was defeated by a 70-vote margin.

Another group headed by Mrs. Joseph Fittante asked a recount of the lone precinct in New Waterford, seeking to overturn the apparent 5-vote defeat of a $35,000 sewer bond issue.

Supporters of the school bond issue asked the recount in the Center, North and West Precincts of Fairfield Township. Other members of the petitioning committee are George Garrod, Ben Weingart, Joseph B. Edgerton and W. Ralph Rupert.

Firemen Slate Pumper Relay

Demonstration Due Sunday In Calcutta

A public fire drill to demonstrate mutual aid offered by area fire departments will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 in Calcutta.

Participating will be the Liverpool Township, east, Calcutta, and Glenmoor volunteer fire departments along with the Civil Defense fire team and CD police and rescue units.

The problem has been worked out by Harry Smith, Laverne Seckman, Kenneth Mills and Herman Heiney. it will deal with a problem of fighting a fire in Calcutta and a lack of water.

Water will be relayed through a series of pumpers from half a mile away to the scene of the fire.

Glenmoor volunteer firemen went through a rehearsal for their part in the relay at a meeting Thursday night. Eighteen firemen attended, along with 7 members of the CD fire unit headed by Heiney. Constable John Jackson also was present.

On the run from Glenmoor to Calcutta, members of the CD police team will be stationed at intersections to help direct traffic.

Renault Cars Put On Display Here

Also included as standard equipment are four doors, water - cooled four - cylinder rear engine, hydraulic brakes, heater - defroster, wheel discs and directional signals.

ONE REASON for the increasing acceptance of the Renault, according to foreign car enthusiasts, is that its design is more conventional giving it a more pleasing appearance and less style obsolescence.

Two current models are available — the "4CV" and "Dauphine". Both feature four doors, water - cooled four - cylinder rear engines, torsion bar front suspension (with coil springs and hydraulic shock absorbers at each wheel), fully padded dashboards, four - wheel hydraulic brakes, semi - flexible steering wheels, combination heater - defrosters, wheel discs, directional signals and luxury matched interiors all as standard equipment.

The result of four years of extensive work at the drawing board, countless road trials and continual modification, the Dauphine blends the best features of the famous 4CV with the beauty and comfort of other, more expensive foreign automobiles which have gained so much favor in the U.S. and abroad.

Fire

ped in the apartment, Chief Bryan said.

He said firemen were assured when they first arrived that all of the occupants were out. Bryan said he discovered the bodies "at least 20 minutes and probably longer" after firemen started to battle the blaze.

Firemen still were fighting the blaze on the top two floors when the bodies were removed, Chief Bryan said.

Even prompt notice that the family was trapped probably wouldn't have saved them, the chief said, because the flames and intense heat drove firemen back as they attempted to put a line into the apartment.

Two witnesses substantiated Chief Bryan's statement.

John Ruhe, a Review employe, apparently was the first to discover the blaze. Ruhe said he saw smoke coming from the Wolfe apartment while en route over the Hill Rd. to work.

Ruhe said he stopped and notified a man and woman who came out that the building was on fire and asked if everyone was out. He was assured all were safe, Ruhe said.

The East End resident said he then crossed to the George Hargraves home, saw Hargraves on the porch and called him to turn in the alarm. His daughter, Mrs. Jackie Fisher, of Calcutta notified the department immediately.

The two men returned to the porch on the Pennsylvania Ave. level and again asked the two occupants if everyone was out and again were assured all were safe, Ruhe continued.

When firemen arrived, one asked the two men if anyone was in the frame building. The men told the firemen they had been informed all were out, Ruhe said.

Dominic Volino, who was working at the nearby Volino Bros. Block Works, said he saw Wolfe come out on the porch on the State St. side and then turn back through the door. He kicked in a window of the apartment but was driven back by the heat, Volino said.

Murray Keener, who occupied the apartment above the Wolfes, told Chief Bryan he had returned from the grocery about 5 minutes earlier and there was no trace of smoke.

Keener said he had just removed his coat when his wife opened the door and saw smoke. He said he heard people yelling "Fire!"

Council Will Get Plan For City Building Code

Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti said today he will give Council a recommendation Monday night for adoption of a city building code designed to prevent repetition of a fire like the disaster that wiped out the lives of a father and three young sons Wednesday in a home on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

"Situations exist in this community that are liable to produce more of this sort of fires," the director said. "Ironically we have to do something about it despite the cutbacks we must make in the fire department."

He referred to impending layoffs of city employes as a result of defeat of the city income tax at the Nov. 4 election.

Water will be relayed through a series of pumpers from half a mile away to the scene of the fire.

Glenmoor volunteer firemen went through a rehearsal for their part in the relay at a meeting Thursday night. Eighteen firemen attended, along with 7 members of the CD fire unit headed by Heiney. Constable John Jackson also was present.

On the run from Glenmoor to Calcutta, members of the CD police team will be stationed at intersections to help direct traffic.

Renault Cars Put On Display Here

Also included as standard equipment are four doors, water - cooled four - cylinder rear engine, hydraulic brakes, heater - defroster, wheel discs and directional signals.

ONE REASON for the increasing acceptance of the Renault, according to foreign car enthusiasts, is that its design is more conventional giving it a more pleasing appearance and less style obsolescence.

Two current models are available — the "4CV" and "Dauphine". Both feature four doors, water - cooled four - cylinder rear engines, torsion bar front suspension (with coil springs and hydraulic shock absorbers at each wheel), fully padded dashboards, four - wheel hydraulic brakes, semi - flexible steering wheels, combination heater - defrosters, wheel discs, directional signals and luxury matched interiors all as standard equipment.

The result of four years of extensive work at the drawing board, countless road trials and continual modification, the Dauphine blends the best features of the famous 4CV with the beauty and comfort of other, more expensive foreign automobiles which have gained so much favor in the U.S. and abroad.

Woman Thought Train Was Leaving Crossing

HONOLULU (AP)—An island woman approaching a railroad crossing saw a train on the tracks but decided to proceed because the locomotive was at the far end of the train.

She thought the train was leaving the crossing, Mrs. Solina Agudong explained to a police officer. But it wasn't.

Phoenix City Manager 'Saved By The Hair'

Mink's Mattress

HAYWARD, Wis. (AP)—Bedding for mink is the by-product of a local factory's manufacture of medical swab sticks. The Hayward Wood Products Co. uses white birch to make swab sticks and found it had a lot of shavings left over. Then a mink rancher tried the shavings as bedding for his mink. Now the wood company has more orders for mink bedding than the swab machines can produce. So it is planning to install another machine—just to turn out shavings.

Fire

ped in the apartment, Chief Bryan said.

He said firemen were assured when they first arrived that all of the occupants were out. Bryan said he discovered the bodies "at least 20 minutes and probably longer" after firemen started to battle the blaze.

Firemen still were fighting the blaze on the top two floors when the bodies were removed, Chief Bryan said.

Even prompt notice that the family was trapped probably wouldn't have saved them, the chief said, because the flames and intense heat drove firemen back as they attempted to put a line into the apartment.

Two witnesses substantiated Chief Bryan's statement.

John Ruhe, a Review employe, apparently was the first to discover the blaze. Ruhe said he saw smoke coming from the Wolfe apartment while en route over the Hill Rd. to work.

Ruhe said he stopped and notified a man and woman who came out that the building was on fire and asked if everyone was out. He was assured all were safe, Ruhe said.

The East End resident said he then crossed to the George Hargraves home, saw Hargraves on the porch and called him to turn in the alarm. His daughter, Mrs. Jackie Fisher, of Calcutta notified the department immediately.

The two men returned to the porch on the Pennsylvania Ave. level and again asked the two occupants if everyone was out and again were assured all were safe, Ruhe continued.

When firemen arrived, one asked the two men if anyone was in the frame building. The men told the firemen they had been informed all were out, Ruhe said.

Dominic Volino, who was working at the nearby Volino Bros. Block Works, said he saw Wolfe come out on the porch on the State St. side and then turn back through the door. He kicked in a window of the apartment but was driven back by the heat, Volino said.

Murray Keener, who occupied the apartment above the Wolfes, told Chief Bryan he had returned from the grocery about 5 minutes earlier and there was no trace of smoke.

Keener said he had just removed his coat when his wife opened the door and saw smoke. He said he heard people yelling "Fire!"

Council Will Get Plan For City Building Code

Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti said today he will give Council a recommendation Monday night for adoption of a city building code designed to prevent repetition of a fire like the disaster that wiped out the lives of a father and three young sons Wednesday in a home on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

"Situations exist in this community that are liable to produce more of this sort of fires," the director said. "Ironically we have to do something about it despite the cutbacks we must make in the fire department."

He referred to impending layoffs of city employes as a result of defeat of the city income tax at the Nov. 4 election.

House That Jack Built In 1871 Is No More

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—The House That Jack Built is no more.

Built in 1871 by Jacob Heatherington, the mansion got its name from the likeness of a mule named Jack carved on its keystone. It was his tribute to a faithful mule which helped him earn his fortune in coal mining and, later, to build the mansion.

Why Strain At The Gnat?

Ohio's attorney general has certified that the wording of a proposal to legalize charity bingo in this state is accurate and in good order.

If all goes well for the backers of the proposal, it will be on the ballot in the 1960 election. The prospect of approval by voters if it gets on the ballot is from fair to good.

It has been demonstrated in New York state and in New Jersey that people who want charity bingo are a powerful bloc with tremendous influence. They know how to put on a campaign. They have the money and the motive to win.

The proposal they will push here — or the proposal that their counterparts here will push — is disarmingly simple.

All they propose to do is add three little words to the section of the Ohio constitution that now says: "Lotteries, and the sale of lottery tickets, shall forever be prohibited in this state."

They would make it say: "Lotteries, and the sale of lottery tickets, for personal profit, shall forever be prohibited in this state."

That would legalize all lotteries which were not for personal profit. Anyone professing to be interested only in charity would be in business — even the charitable hoodlums.

It would salve the consciences of people who think gambling is different and therefore respectable if the profit is collective, instead of personal.

The fact that gambling is a way to separate more people from more money than would be possible in any morally defensible enterprise is of no importance to the legalized-lottery people.

With one fraction, they can say bingo is fine if it is for their collective benefit—for charity.

With the other fraction, they can say bingo is terrible if it is for the benefit of an entrepreneur trying to make a buck for himself.

This schizophrenia has been a red-hot issue in states like New York and New Jersey, where bingo now is legal, provided the rakeoff is collectivized.

It will be a red-hot issue in Ohio.

There is no reason to believe bingo backers can't get enough names on their petitions to put it on the ballot. They may not even have to go to that trouble. They might get the new General Assembly to put it on the ballot for them.

It will be a rough, tough, unrewarding and probably unsuccessful fight to oppose charity bingo on the grounds that gambling is wrong.

But it might put the issue in another light to oppose charity bingo on the grounds that there should be no discrimination among gamblers if gambling is no longer wrong.

After all, Ohio doesn't say that betting on horse racing is legal only if the profit is collectivized.

Rather than let gambling collectivists set up a monopoly on bingo in Ohio, someone should propose that Ohio should blow off the lid and legalize all kinds of lotteries.

Nothing would take the wind out of charity bingoists like the threat of having to compete for suckers' money with professional gamblers. They would lose interest.

What Did Joe Schlump Say?

Among many baffling things about Harold E. Stassen is this one that scarcely can be mentioned above a whisper:

Why does he make news? Why do newspapers quote him?

The other day he was spotted by newsmen leaving the White House. He had been talking with President Eisenhower.

Newsmen pounced on him, which is what he was praying for, unless he has changed nature recently. He told them a lot of stuff, including his opinion that four men could win the presidency in 1960. Vice President Nixon was not one of them, which was not unexpected.

Stassen hit his all-time peak as a political fumbler in 1956 when he staged that unforgettable vendetta against Nixon as a vice-presidential candidate, on the grounds Nixon would hurt Dwight Eisenhower's chances. Eventually, he nominated Nixon for the office, which was about as hypocritical an exhibition of two-timing as the American public could have been treated to.

It is interesting now to recall who his favorites were for the vice-presidential nomination. Besides Christian A. Herter, who was relatively unknown outside of Massachusetts, they were Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington, Sen. William F. Knowland of California, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, presidential assistant Sherman Adams and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Lodge is on his presidential list for 1960, along with Nelson Rockefeller Jr., Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton and Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson.

Who cares what Stassen thinks? He said on July 29, 1956, according to the official record, that he renounced presidential and vice-presidential ambitions forever. At that instant, he ceased to be any more newsworthy than everybody's pal, Joe Schlump.

When Harold Stassen comes out of the White House, though, he's news. It's puzzling. He could have been delivering a turkey.

A Public School Must Be Public

Resignation of five members of the Little Rock, Ark., school board and the fact the sixth board post will fall vacant when its anti-integrationist occupant joins the new Congress in January gives Little Rock voters direct responsibility for the next step in the nation's most closely watched integration squabble.

It would seem to be out of the question for anyone who is not an all-out segregationist to seek a school board post in Little Rock at this time. Every move the retiring board and its superintendent, Virgil Blossom, made in the effort to obey the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation order has been blocked and repudiated.

The reasonable men on the board have been manhandled by extremists. They have been forced into court to explain why they could not do what they were required to do by law. They have been living in a state of siege, targets of abuse for people they did not respect and criticized severely by people they had reason to fear.

There was nothing left for them to do but step aside and let the mob that had frustrated them decide what it wanted to do in the future.

Thanks to what has happened in Little Rock, it now is clear that anti-integrationists have only one way out of an irreconcilable position, when they choose to be irreconcilable.

They can forego public education. They can close public schools. They can open private schools, if they feel like it. They can freeze out Negro students. But they cannot run a public school unless they open it to the public — all the public. That is the law.

They can have public schools, open to the public, or they can have private schools. It has boiled down to that.

The Once Over

New York attorney general says gangsters have been operating in the brokerage business. If any racketeers are in brokerage houses they are extremely few and unimportant, but it's easy to imagine an encounter with the type:

Racketeer — Welcome, and we can make a lot of money.

Customer — Who is "we"?

Racketeer — Don't get technical.

Customer — I want only a listed stock.

Racketeer — Everything I sell is listed in Cicero, Appalachin, Leavenworth and on all slot machines. How much have you to invest?

Customer — I've little cash.

Racketeer — Turn your wallet over to our Mr. Stickup.

Customer — Who's he?

Racketeer — He's our wallet analyst. He's so quick at figures he can look at a wallet and tell just what's in it for me.

CUSTOMER — One of these stocks you recommend is interesting. Could I see an annual report?

Racketeer — I'll have to take that up with our bakery department.

Customer — Why the bakery?

Racketeer — We have to cook up the report.

Customer — What's with the rumor there are men with criminal records in your office?

Racketeer — It's silly. We haven't a director who isn't so well regarded he is out on probation.

Customer — I don't think I'll invest just now.

Racketeer — My analyst has examined your wallet and says you have $26.78. That's enough for a 10-pound bale of one of my best stocks. And, lissen, you'll be all set for a killing.

Customer (scramming) — That's what I was afraid of!

Start searching those attics again! Currier & Ives prints brought big money at a recent N.Y. auction, with "Home To Thanksgiving" bringing $2,200. Cole Brothers and Clyde Beatty circuses have merged. This may mean return of something badly missed: the road touring circus and the circus lot. The old - fashioned circus was a wonderful thing for kids, and juvenile delinquency might get a setback through the spell of "the big top" unloading at the railroad depot, the tent-raising in all open fields, the stirring parade and the big show out under the stars. Ike shot five ducks on hunting trip. This could hardly cheer him up after missing all those shots at a donkey from the back of an elephant. Outlook for GOP in 1960 is now so gloomy that reaction of any Republican victor to "You may be presidential nominee" is a cry of "Oh, No-o-o!"

Water does not boil, as it gives the impression of doing when dry ice is dropped into it. The bubbles that come to the surface are bubbles of carbon dioxide, and not water vapor, and are due to the carbon form of the dry ice to the vapor state directly.

Search For The Death Ray Goes On

By Victor Riesel

It is with grim satisfaction that I report there are in our government soldiers and scientists sufficiently wary of the Soviets and sufficiently practical to continue to search for the ultimate weapon — a death ray.

Victor Riesel

Evidence of this search and research comes from none other than L. S. Hardland, chief engineer of the National Inventors Council, supervised by the Dept. of Commerce. He tells me:

"I am sorry to report that we have found no promising approaches to the solution of this problem. Accordingly, we are continuing to circulate the item for the armed services."

By "circulating the item," Mr. Hardland means that his council is actively prodding scientists to develop the weapon for the Pentagon.

This is a shocker. True. But it is not fantastic. We were told the other day by the dean of interstellar rocketry that the earth is being observed by outer-space superhuman beings.

There is no turning back. We will find the death ray. But the thing is not to find it accidentally — that's one accident we can't afford.

IT COULD happen in any of a thousand laboratories. It could also develop mysteriously in literally tens of thousands of new plants and shops now taming nuclear energy for use like an old-fashioned steam engine.

Almost unnoticed by the public and almost uncounted by management are the plants and construction yards now "putting in" nuclear engines and atomic tools.

By the last count, 8,000 "different types of companies have been licensed for some type of atomic work," according to a report written recently by the leaders of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

These plants are increasing with jet speed. Union chiefs interested in the swiftly changing nature of the work for which their followers need to be trained these days, report that the Atomic Energy Commission is spending $3,650,000 for the development of new atomic tools.

This is for equipment which even now is being powered by hand and steam as well as electricity.

THE OTHER DAY some United Auto Workers Union technicians noted that they now have such job classifications as "atomic reactor component mechanic" and "missile pre-flight electronic mechanic."

This, indeed, is the nuclear revolution. And not in a crucible either.

It is far beyond the tender hand that rocks a test tube. It is in the truly calloused hands, for example, of shipyard workers.

Only the other day, John Grogan, leader of the Marine and Shipbuilding Workers Union, urged his followers to keep track of the amount of radiation to which they were being exposed.

Where? In ship construction yards. Some of these already are building atomic reactors for the first ships of the nuclear age fleet.

Soon there will be on the ways of at least one yard, a 40-million-dollar underwater tanker, powered by atomic energy. These submarine freighters surely will replace many of the others.

AND OUTSIDE of Cincinnati, the General Electric Co. has built several atomic aircraft engines. The company merely awaits word from the Pentagon that fuselages are ready somewhere.

On the land, in the sea and in the air, nuclear power has begun to replace steam and electric power with the inevitability that made the horse only a sideshow to the parimuteul window.

Thus, with the more earthly thing called elections now out of the way, labor has called a conclave to take stock of this new type of power.

The new group, made up of 14 national member unions of the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department, will meet on Nov. 25.

Its creation was little noticed, though it was pinpointed the other day by Walter Reuther — which means that it will hit the headlines soon enough.

The committee thus far is nameless but it has been told to "study problems created for workers by the increasing use of atomic energy in industry."

This will mark the first intra-union nuclear power parley in history. It will be recorded as having met in Washington.

Who is there to say that in decades to come it will not meet in less confining spheres?

Letters To The Editor

I have delayed the writing of this letter for I felt that by now the residents of East Liverpool should begin feeling ashamed over the fact that so many of them voted to repeal the city income tax.

Since defeat of the tax, there have been two 2-alarm fires. Responding to the fire on W. 6th St. was an aerial ladder truck manned with two men, a pumper from Central Station with two men and a chief, a pumper from Pleasant Heights with one man and a fill-in truck from North Side with two men. A fireman had to go back to Central to take the emergency truck to the scene, which was one of the first pieces of apparatus that should have arrived, but was not able to because of lack of men.

I know exactly what you are thinking by now—that a ladder truck, three pumpers and an emergency truck and eight men at the scene should have been enough. But a ladder truck should have a minimum of four men for proper operation, a pumper from Central should have a minimum of four and fill-in trucks should have at least three men.

People seem to be satisfied so long as one man carries the burden when the layoffs begin. East Liverpool has been operating under these fire standards for years.

Turning to the tragedy on Hill Rd. Wednesday. Of the first group of firemen arriving at the fire, three quite likely will be laid off because of the defeat of the city income tax.

I would like to point out that in the precinct where the fire took place the tax was voted out 146 to 48.

I am not saying that keeping these men on the department would prevent deaths in case of fire, but it would provide the assurance of a well-manned department.

All the money that could be collected in a year's time couldn't bring back the lives of the four people, but it could help to protect the lives of others.

Many people are going to think that I'm merely sympathetically dramatizing a story. But these are the facts and it could happen to you through "the lack of services made possible by the repeal of your city income tax."

Now let's take a look at some of the apparent reasons that turned people against the tax. Some were because of some of the things that were being done with our money, the way it was being spent. I didn't fully agree with everything that was being done either, but I wouldn't cut off my nose just to spite my face.

When a farmer plants his seeds he doesn't know where the weeds are going to grow. He has to wait, then he does away with the bad weeds.

I hear people comment on the city administration. If you stop to think, you voted Mayor Lawrence in on a landslide, but the minute he picked his co-workers and mentioned money to do a job you started complaining.

In 1960 you would have had the right to vote out both your administration and your income tax if you wished, but you didn't give either a chance.

I heard several people say they didn't like it because they never did anything in their neighborhood. You can't expect something to be done for nothing.

Last, but not least, I heard most people say they didn't like the way the tax was shoved down their throat. The biggest percentage who went to the polls just wanted to vote out the tax to claim a moral victory. Now that you have had your victory, what do plan to do, hang the crepe on the city of East Liverpool or give it a real test of your own?

GEORGE BENNETT
137 W. 2nd St.

If Mayor Lawrence wants the cooperation of the people who must pay a city income tax, he must listen first to the Trades and Labor Council, then to the IBOP, then to someone who represents the mill workers of Midland.

As long as Council can find the money to pay Safety-Service Director Maggianetti, but not to pay our city employes, there would be no use of any further meetings.

The city administration, with a big assist from the Review and the "WOHI Editor," is entirely responsible for what has happened. But you don't seem to learn, not even the hard way, because since Nov. 4 you ran an editorial which read in part: ..."...as a vote of confidence in the way union executives have been handling union affairs..." That is exactly right. We, the working people, are satisfied with our officers and we know what to do anytime we are not.

Ask Bricker. And we surely wish other people, including you, would please allow us to take care of our own business.

I think the voters of East Liverpool will back any sensible and reasonable program if they are consulted first, but they will not be pushed around.

The Issue For Congress

By David Lawrence

Will 'Modern' Republicans Side With Unions?

The labor unions poured millions of dollars, including members' services, into the recent election campaign and are claiming a majority now in both houses of Congress on their side.

David Lawrence

"The "law of the land" says specifically that neither labor unions nor corportations may contribute money or "anything of value" to elect candidates for Congress. How is this law being circumvented? Will the Democratic party leaders have the courage to investigate campaign spending or will they listen to the clamor already coming from the unions to squelch even the anti-racketeering inquiry authorized by the last session of Congress?

Since 23 of the senatorial candidates backed by the AFL-CIO were elected—one being William Langer (R-ND) and the other 22 being Democrats — the labor oligarchy feels it now can count on 54 senators to vote as the labor-union leaders may demand.

This is a majority of the Senate. Similarly, there is a majority in the House who either voted "right"—according to labor union standards—more than half the time or were elected with considerable support from the unions.

The latest tabulation on this basis, derived from labor union sources, indicates 220 members of the House on labor's side. It requires 219 for a majority.

THE CONSEQUENCES of this victory are already apparent. The AFL-CIO has just announced that it will demand that Congress at one fell swoop remove the right-to-work laws from the statute books of 19 states.

This would be possible if Congress amended the Taft-Hartley Act, thus taking away from the states the right to enact any legislation whatsoever on this subject.

At present, if the states do not legislate, the federal statute permitting compulsory unionization remains in effect. This law says that, unless a worker pays dues to a union, he must be fired from his job by the employer and he cannot get or keep a job unless he is ready to join a union.

So Congress, by one single piece of legislation, can take away the civil rights of all the unionized workers of America—the right to join or not to join a union and the right to protest against racketeering and corruption by resigning and quitting his payment of dues.

This means a form of slavery that will be up to the Supreme Court to limit or abolish in its next decision. For, although the right of two private organizations—the employing company and the labor union—to agree to keep on the job only those who pay dues to a union has been upheld as constitutional, there is an important reservation which the highest court has recorded.

It is that, in making such a private contract, there can be no violation of the "due process" clause of the Fifth Amendment or of the free speech and freedom of belief privileges granted under the First Amendment.

THE COURT has said that the "validity or enforceability" of a so-called "union shop" or "closed shop" agreement would be questioned "if the exaction of dues, initiation fees or assessments is used as a cover for enforcing ideological conformity or other action in contravention of the First or the Fifth Amendments."

Cases are arising which haven't reach the high court as yet and which involve the use of labor union money for "educational" or political purposes that are at variance with the beliefs of individual members.

Their dues are not used merely to pay "collective - bargaining expenses," as is so often claimed, but acually to help elect certain state and federal legislators.

Where does the Eisenhower administration stand on this issue? During the campaign in California, which had a right-to-work proposal on the ballot, the President and vice president declared that this was a "local" issue and did not therefore take either side.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell, however, didn't hesitate to contradict the President and vice president by making speeches against the right-to-work proposals.

During the campaign this antagonized many conservative Republicans, who want to know now whether the Eisenhower administration has a split personality and just how this is going to keep the Republican party from being so divided in 1960 as to insure a Democratic victory.

Mr. Mitchell says right-to-work laws are "phony." He has a right to his view. But as long as he is a member of the President's cabinet, the public has a right to know if he reflects the view of the President and vice president or is just expressing his own ideological preference.

INCIDENTALLY, the issue concerns small business far more than big business. For many in the latter category can operate under the high rates charged by unions. It is the small businesses that will go to the wall when labor rates skyrocket, as they inevitably will if the labor union monopoly and its industrywide bargaining technique is perpetuated.

There are 42 million voters comprising the employes of small businesses and farm groups which are not unionized. They have not yet become politically active, but they will have to do so if they hope to prevent the labor unions from bringing on a runaway inflation in America and eventually a buyers' strike that produces a recession.

This is the big economic issue that emerges from the recent election, and it will be interesting to see if the "modern" Republicans side with the labor unions.

For if the "modernists" go along with the labor unions, there will be no reason for conservatives to support the Republican ticket in many parts of the country.

Their next move would naturally be to run independent Republicans as candidates or work inside the Democratic party by supporting conservative Democrats, starting with the primaries.

This would split the Democratic vote and, if enough Republican conservatives helped nominate and elect such Democrats, it would defeat the "modernists" as well as the "radicals." This is clearly feasible under state primary laws and through the "write - in" vote system that most states have legalized.

Why Strain At The Gnat?

Ohio's attorney general has certified that the wording of a proposal to legalize charity bingo in this state is accurate and in good order.

If all goes well for the backers of the proposal, it will be on the ballot in the 1960 election. The prospect of approval by voters if it gets on the ballot is from fair to good.

It has been demonstrated in New York state and in New Jersey that people who want charity bingo are a powerful bloc with tremendous influence. They know how to put on a campaign. They have the money and the motive to win.

The proposal they will push here — or the proposal that their counterparts here will push — is disarmingly simple.

All they propose to do is add three little words to the section of the Ohio constitution that now says: "Lotteries, and the sale of lottery tickets, shall forever be prohibited in this state."

They would make it say: "Lotteries, and the sale of lottery tickets, for personal profit, shall forever be prohibited in this state."

That would legalize all lotteries which were not for personal profit. Anyone professing to be interested only in charity would be in business — even the charitable hoodlums.

It would salve the consciences of people who think gambling is different and therefore respectable if the profit is collective, instead of personal.

The fact that gambling is a way to separate more people from more money than would be possible in any morally defensible enterprise is of no importance to the legalized-lottery people.

With one fraction, they can say bingo is fine if it is for their collective benefit—for charity.

With the other fraction, they can say bingo is terrible if it is for the benefit of an entrepreneur trying to make a buck for himself.

This schizophrenia has been a red-hot issue in states like New York and New Jersey, where bingo now is legal, provided the rakeoff is collectivized.

It will be a red-hot issue in Ohio.

There is no reason to believe bingo backers can't get enough names on their petitions to put it on the ballot. They may not even have to go to that trouble. They might get the new General Assembly to put it on the ballot for them.

It will be a rough, tough, unrewarding and probably unsuccessful fight to oppose charity bingo on the grounds that gambling is wrong.

But it might put the issue in another light to oppose charity bingo on the grounds that there should be no discrimination among gamblers if gambling is no longer wrong.

After all, Ohio doesn't say that betting on horse racing is legal only if the profit is collectivized.

Rather than let gambling collectivists set up a monopoly on bingo in Ohio, someone should propose that Ohio should blow off the lid and legalize all kinds of lotteries.

Nothing would take the wind out of charity bingoists like the threat of having to compete for suckers' money with professional gamblers. They would lose interest.

What Did Joe Schlump Say?

Among many baffling things about Harold E. Stassen is this one that scarcely can be mentioned above a whisper:

Why does he make news? Why do newspapers quote him?

The other day he was spotted by newsmen leaving the White House. He had been talking with President Eisenhower.

Newsmen pounced on him, which is what he was praying for, unless he has changed nature recently. He told them a lot of stuff, including his opinion that four men could win the presidency in 1960. Vice President Nixon was not one of them, which was not unexpected.

Stassen hit his all-time peak as a political fumbler in 1956 when he staged that unforgettable vendetta against Nixon as a vice-presidential candidate, on the grounds Nixon would hurt Dwight Eisenhower's chances. Eventually, he nominated Nixon for the office, which was about as hypocritical an exhibition of two-timing as the American public could have been treated to.

It is interesting now to recall who his favorites were for the vice-presidential nomination. Besides Christian A. Herter, who was relatively unknown outside of Massachusetts, they were Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington, Sen. William F. Knowland of California, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, presidential assistant Sherman Adams and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Lodge is on his presidential list for 1960, along with Nelson Rockefeller Jr., Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton and Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson.

Who cares what Stassen thinks? He said on July 29, 1956, according to the official record, that he renounced presidential and vice-presidential ambitions forever. At that instant, he ceased to be any more newsworthy than everybody's pal, Joe Schlump.

When Harold Stassen comes out of the White House, though, he's news. It's puzzling. He could have been delivering a turkey.

A Public School Must Be Public

Resignation of five members of the Little Rock, Ark., school board and the fact the sixth board post will fall vacant when its anti-integrationist occupant joins the new Congress in January gives Little Rock voters direct responsibility for the next step in the nation's most closely watched integration squabble.

It would seem to be out of the question for anyone who is not an all-out segregationist to seek a school board post in Little Rock at this time. Every move the retiring board and its superintendent, Virgil Blossom, made in the effort to obey the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation order has been blocked and repudiated.

The reasonable men on the board have been manhandled by extremists. They have been forced into court to explain why they could not do what they were required to do by law. They have been living in a state of siege, targets of abuse for people they did not respect and criticized severely by people they had reason to fear.

There was nothing left for them to do but step aside and let the mob that had frustrated them decide what it wanted to do in the future.

Thanks to what has happened in Little Rock, it now is clear that anti-integrationists have only one way out of an irreconcilable position, when they choose to be irreconcilable.

They can forego public education. They can close public schools. They can open private schools, if they feel like it. They can freeze out Negro students. But they cannot run a public school unless they open it to the public — all the public. That is the law.

They can have public schools, open to the public, or they can have private schools. It has boiled down to that.

The Once Over

New York attorney general says gangsters have been operating in the brokerage business. If any racketeers are in brokerage houses they are extremely few and unimportant, but it's easy to imagine an encounter with the type:

Racketeer — Welcome, and we can make a lot of money.

Customer — Who is "we"?

Racketeer — Don't get technical.

Customer — I want only a listed stock.

Racketeer — Everything I sell is listed in Cicero, Appalachin, Leavenworth and on all slot machines. How much have you to invest?

Customer — I've little cash.

Racketeer — Turn your wallet over to our Mr. Stickup.

Customer — Who's he?

Racketeer — He's our wallet analyst. He's so quick at figures he can look at a wallet and tell just what's in it for me.

CUSTOMER — One of these stocks you recommend is interesting. Could I see an annual report?

Racketeer — I'll have to take that up with our bakery department.

Customer — Why the bakery?

Racketeer — We have to cook up the report.

Customer — What's with the rumor there are men with criminal records in your office?

Racketeer — It's silly. We haven't a director who isn't so well regarded he is out on probation.

Customer — I don't think I'll invest just now.

Racketeer — My analyst has examined your wallet and says you have $26.78. That's enough for a 10-pound bale of one of my best stocks. And, lissen, you'll be all set for a killing.

Customer (scramming) — That's what I was afraid of!

This may mean return of something badly missed: the road touring circus and the circus lot. The old - fashioned circus was a wonderful thing for kids, and juvenile delinquency might get a setback through the spell of "the big top" unloading at the railroad depot, the tent-raising in all open fields, the stirring parade and the big show out under the stars. Ike shot five ducks on hunting trip. This could hardly cheer him up after missing all those shots at a donkey from the back of an elephant. Outlook for GOP in 1960 is now so gloomy that reaction of any Republican victor to "You may be presidential nominee" is a cry of "Oh, No-o-o!"

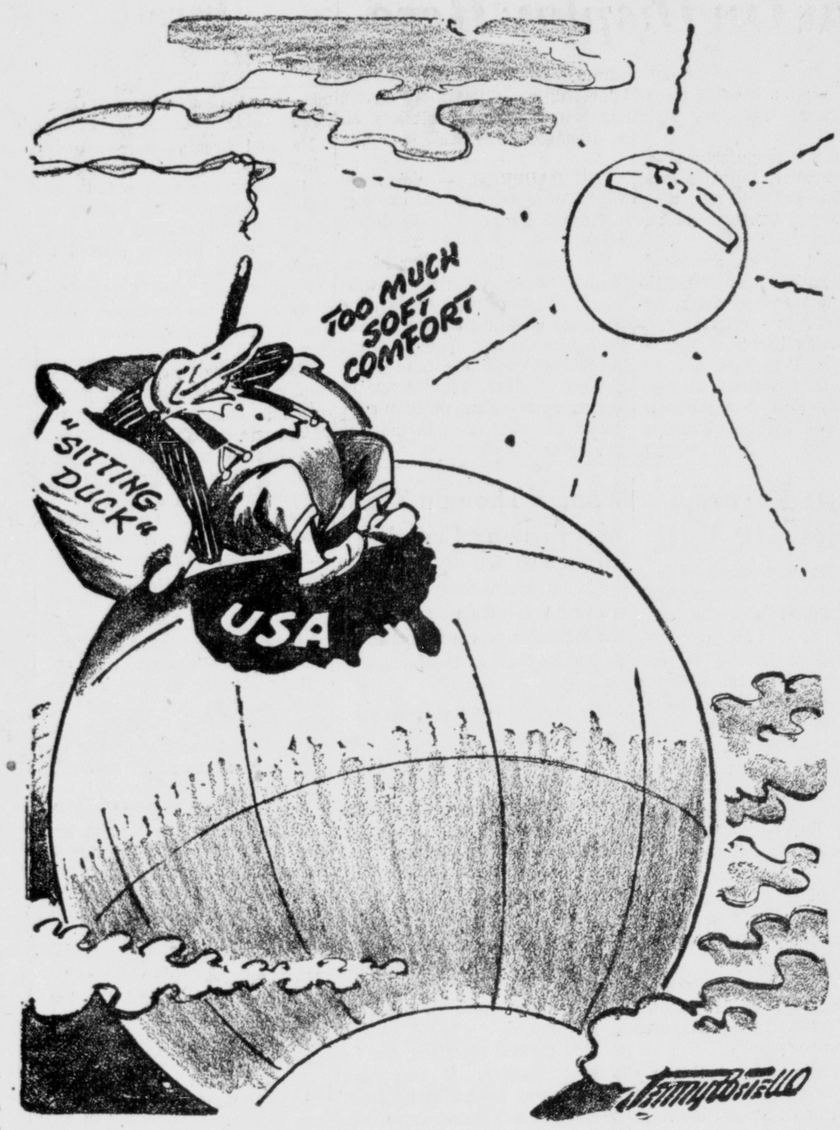
Maybe We're Not Sitting Pretty



Search For The Death Ray Goes On

By Victor Riesel

It is with grim satisfaction that I report there are in our government soldiers and scientists sufficiently wary of the Soviets and sufficiently practical to continue to search for the ultimate weapon — a death ray.

Victor Riesel

Evidence of this search and research comes from none other than L. S. Hardland, chief engineer of the National Inventors Council, supervised by the Dept. of Commerce. He tells me:

"I am sorry to report that we have found no promising approaches to the solution of this problem. Accordingly, we are continuing to circulate the item for the armed services."

By "circulating the item," Mr. Hardland means that his council is actively prodding scientists to develop the weapon for the Pentagon.

This is a shocker. True. But it is not fantastic. We were told the other day by the dean of interstellar rocketry that the earth is being observed by outer-space superhuman beings.

There is no turning back. We will find the death ray. But the thing is not to find it accidentally — that's one accident we can't afford.

IT COULD happen in any of a thousand laboratories. It could also develop mysteriously in literally tens of thousands of new plants and shops now taming nuclear energy for use like an old-fashioned steam engine.

Almost unnoticed by the public and almost uncounted by management are the plants and construction yards now "putting in" nuclear engines and atomic tools.

By the last count, 8,000 "different types of companies have been licensed for some type of atomic work," according to a report written recently by the leaders of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

These plants are increasing with jet speed. Union chiefs interested in the swiftly changing nature of the work for which their followers need to be trained these days, report that the Atomic Energy Commission is spending $3,650,000 for the development of new atomic tools.

This is for equipment which even now is being powered by hand and steam as well as electricity.

THE OTHER DAY some United Auto Workers Union technicians noted that they now have such job classifications as "atomic reactor component mechanic" and "missile pre-flight electronic mechanic."

This, indeed, is the nuclear revolution. And not in a crucible either.

It is far beyond the tender hand that rocks a test tube. It is in the truly calloused hands, for example, of shipyard workers.

Only the other day, John Grogan, leader of the Marine and Shipbuilding Workers Union, urged his followers to keep track of the amount of radiation to which they were being exposed.

Where? In ship construction yards. Some of these already are building atomic reactors for the first ships of the nuclear age fleet.

Soon there will be on the ways of at least one yard, a 40-million-dollar underwater tanker, powered by atomic energy. These submarine freighters surely will replace many of the others.

AND OUTSIDE of Cincinnati, the General Electric Co. has built several atomic aircraft engines. The company merely awaits word from the Pentagon that fuselages are ready somewhere.

On the land, in the sea and in the air, nuclear power has begun to replace steam and electric power with the inevitability that made the horse only a sideshow to the parimuteul window.

Thus, with the more earthly thing called elections now out of the way, labor has called a conclave to take stock of this new type of power.

The new group, made up of 14 national member unions of the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department, will meet on Nov. 25.

Its creation was little noticed, though it was pinpointed the other day by Walter Reuther — which means that it will hit the headlines soon enough.

The committee thus far is nameless but it has been told to "study problems created for workers by the increasing use of atomic energy in industry."

This will mark the first intra-union nuclear power parley in history. It will be recorded as having met in Washington.

Who is there to say that in decades to come it will not meet in less confining spheres?

Letters To The Editor

I have delayed the writing of this letter for I felt that by now the residents of East Liverpool should begin feeling ashamed over the fact that so many of them voted to repeal the city income tax.

Since defeat of the tax, there have been two 2-alarm fires. Responding to the fire on W. 6th St. was an aerial ladder truck manned with two men, a pumper from Central Station with two men and a chief, a pumper from Pleasant Heights with one man and a fill-in truck from North Side with two men. A fireman had to go back to Central to take the emergency truck to the scene, which was one of the first pieces of apparatus that should have arrived, but was not able to because of lack of men.

I know exactly what you are thinking by now—that a ladder truck, three pumpers and an emergency truck and eight men at the scene should have been enough. But a ladder truck should have a minimum of four men for proper operation, a pumper from Central should have a minimum of four and fill-in trucks should have at least three men.

People seem to be satisfied so long as one man carries the burden when the layoffs begin. East Liverpool has been operating under these fire standards for years.

Turning to the tragedy on Hill Rd. Wednesday. Of the first group of firemen arriving at the fire, three quite likely will be laid off because of the defeat of the city income tax.

I would like to point out that in the precinct where the fire took place the tax was voted out 146 to 48.

I am not saying that keeping these men on the department would prevent deaths in case of fire, but it would provide the assurance of a well-manned department.

All the money that could be collected in a year's time couldn't bring back the lives of the four people, but it could help to protect the lives of others.

Many people are going to think that I'm merely sympathetically dramatizing a story. But these are the facts and it could happen to you through "the lack of services made possible by the repeal of your city income tax."

Now let's take a look at some of the apparent reasons that turned people against the tax. Some were because of some of the things that were being done with our money, the way it was being spent. I didn't fully agree with everything that was being done either, but I wouldn't cut off my nose just to spite my face.

When a farmer plants his seeds he doesn't know where the weeds are going to grow. He has to wait, then he does away with the bad weeds.

I hear people comment on the city administration. If you stop to think, you voted Mayor Lawrence in on a landslide, but the minute he picked his co-workers and mentioned money to do a job you started complaining.

In 1960 you would have had the right to vote out both your administration and your income tax if you wished, but you didn't give either a chance.

I heard several people say they didn't like it because they never did anything in their neighborhood. You can't expect something to be done for nothing.

Last, but not least, I heard most people say they didn't like the way the tax was shoved down their throat. The biggest percentage who went to the polls just wanted to vote out the tax to claim a moral victory. Now that you have had your victory, what do plan to do, hang the crepe on the city of East Liverpool or give it a real test of your own?

GEORGE BENNETT
137 W. 2nd St.

If Mayor Lawrence wants the cooperation of the people who must pay a city income tax, he must listen first to the Trades and Labor Council, then to the IBOP, then to someone who represents the mill workers of Midland.

As long as Council can find the money to pay Safety-Service Director Maggianetti, but not to pay our city employes, there would be no use of any further meetings.

The city administration, with a big assist from the Review and the "WOHI Editor," is entirely responsible for what has happened. But you don't seem to learn, not even the hard way, because since Nov. 4 you ran an editorial which read in part: ..."...as a vote of confidence in the way union executives have been handling union affairs..." That is exactly right. We, the working people, are satisfied with our officers and we know what to do anytime we are not.

Ask Bricker. And we surely wish other people, including you, would please allow us to take care of our own business.

I think the voters of East Liverpool will back any sensible and reasonable program if they are consulted first, but they will not be pushed around.

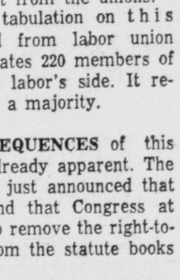
The Issue For Congress

By David Lawrence

Will 'Modern' Republicans Side With Unions?

The labor unions poured millions of dollars, including members' services, into the recent election campaign and are claiming a majority now in both houses of Congress on their side.



David Lawrence

"The "law of the land" says specifically that neither labor unions nor corportations may contribute money or "anything of value" to elect candidates for Congress. How is this law being circumvented? Will the Democratic party leaders have the courage to investigate campaign spending or will they listen to the clamor already coming from the unions to squelch even the anti-racketeering inquiry authorized by the last session of Congress?

Since 23 of the senatorial candidates backed by the AFL-CIO were elected—one being William Langer (R-ND) and the other 22 being Democrats — the labor oligarchy feels it now can count on 54 senators to vote as the labor-union leaders may demand.

This is a majority of the Senate. Similarly, there is a majority in the House who either voted "right"—according to labor union standards—more than half the time or were elected with considerable support from the unions.

The latest tabulation on this basis, derived from labor union sources, indicates 220 members of the House on labor's side. It requires 219 for a majority.

THE CONSEQUENCES of this victory are already apparent. The AFL-CIO has just announced that it will demand that Congress at one fell swoop remove the right-to-work laws from the statute books of 19 states.

Federated Clubs Hear Olympics Figure

"The Olympics movement tends to bring together in a radiant union all the qualities which guide mankind to perfection", Mrs. Arthur C. Toner Jr. told the City Federation of Women's Clubs at the Mary Patterson Memorial Thursday night.

She told of her experiences as manager - chaperone of the Olympics U. S. women's swimming team and displayed "swap pins" which the athletes from all the nations exchange among themselves.

She explained the Olympics Shield with the five inter-locking colors, pointing out the 70 flags from all over the world have at least one of the colors in them.

SHE ALSO told of humorous episodes in traveling with the team, such as being beseiged with orchids in Hawaii and the daily fresh roses the Australian maids provided.

She described the colorful procession and the tremendous ovation each nation's representatives receive prior to the lighting of the Olympic Torch, which is kept burning for the duration of the competition among 7,000 athletes from over 70 nations.

She closed with the quote given at the finish of the Olympics — "May all who have been present go forth to their homelands and may the Olympic spirit go with them."

MRS. TONER was introduced by Mrs. William Cooper, program chairman.

Medical Students Hit Record Of 29,473

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of students enrolled in medical colleges in this country has reached a record total of 29,473.

The figures, for the 1957-58 school year, were reported today by the American Medical Assn's Council on Medical Education.

Cabbie Drives 2 Who Robbed Him Right To Police

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four policemen were gathered at a call box early today when a man driving an Indianapolis taxicab pulled to a stop beside them, pointed to two men sleeping in the back seat and said:

"These men robbed me."

Then the cab driver, George Hott, 39, of Indianapolis, told a story of being forced to drive them from that city to Cincinnati. The men identified themselves as William Finn, 44, Pulaski, W. Va., and Thomas R. Hall, 25, Banner, Ky.

Hott said the men took $26 and his watch after flagging him down in Indianapolis. He said they first asked to be driven to the city limits, where they intended to hitch hike a ride to this city. But, the complaining cabbie added, they pushed something hard against his body and told him to just keep on coming this way.

Finally, the men fell asleep and Hott, on the alert, saw the four policemen and pulled to a stop beside them. No weapon was found.

Finn and Hall were taken to jail, where they were to be questioned later today. No charges were preferred immediately.

West Virginia Hopes To Quell 40 Forest Fires

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Conservation Department hoped to have under control early today the worst outbreak of forest fires in West Virginia this fall.

Fifty such blazes, including 38 in southwestern counties, were counted later yesterday. Ten were extinguished and Assn. State Forester Asher W. Kelly expected the other 40 to be under control by today.

One of seven fires in Kanawha County was set off when a one-room, isolated elementary school in the Second Creek section about three miles from Sissonville caught fire and was destroyed.

County School Supt. K. K. Lovenstein said the 12 students at the school probably will be transferred to classes in elementary grades at Sissonville. He estimated the loss of the school at $5,000.

Boone County also had seven fires yesterday, and Mercer listed five. Kelly said, however, that there was no immediate serious threat in the woodlands although weather conditions were ideal for the spread of fires.

The state Legislature has appropriated 15 million dollars for the building.

Four Secure Injunction To Halt Teamster Voting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Four officers battling for control of the 5,000-member, Youngstown - area Teamsters Local 377 have secured a temporary injunction to halt an election of officers scheduled for Saturday.

The temporary injunction granted by Federal Judge James C. Connell Thursday ordered James R. Hoffa, international president of the union, and John English, international secretary - treasurer, to halt the election. The judge ordered that there be no election before Dec. 10 and set Dec. 1 for a hearing on a permanent injunction.

The four officers charged in their suit that three "rank and file" candidates nominated last week are not qualified to become officers.

The four leaders of the union, which has members in Ashtabula, Trumbull and Mahoning Counties, are seeking re-election. They are Robert Higham, local president; Harry Kaufman, recording secretary; Abe Schwartz and Frank Zangara, trustees.

They charged that under the union constitution adopted in 1957 William Gaw of Columbiana and Joseph Sammartino and Joseph Carelly, both of Youngstown, are not qualified for officer posts. Gaw is running for vice president and the other two are candidates for trustee posts.

The 1957 constitution was declared illegal by two of three monitors appointed for the union by the U. S. District Court in Washington.

But W. M. Briggs, Cleveland lawyer representing the local and its present officers, argued that the monitors could only make recommendations and it was up to Hoffa to interpret the constitution so far as locals are concerned.

Judge Connelly held that both Hoffa and the monitors were remiss in not taking the majority recommendation of the monitors before the court in Washington for decision before any action was taken. The judge said Hoffa had told the monitors they were wrong but had not passed along any such opinion to the local.

The three monitors, to whom the rank and file candidates had appealed, have ruled the three are eligible. The plaintiffs charged that the three were ineligible because they failed to pay dues one month in advance, as prescribed in the Ohio constitution.

The monitors ruled they were eligible because they had submitted to checkoff for dues collection and their payments were made by the 10th of the month as specified in statements sent to union members.

Woman Given $8,055 For Ground By Jurors

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury late Wednesday awarded $8,055.85 to a Lisbon area woman for land appropriated by the state for improvement of Route 164 south of Lisbon.

Eva Toot of the Lisbon - Salineville Rd. refused an offer of $5,021.22 for 1.219 acres of land, which included a house. The civil suit followed.

The jury awarded her $2,705.85 for the land, $150 for damages to the residue and $5,200 for the building.

Four Secure Injunction To Halt Teamster Voting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Four officers battling for control of the 5,000-member, Youngstown - area Teamsters Local 377 have secured a temporary injunction to halt an election of officers scheduled for Saturday.

The temporary injunction granted by Federal Judge James C. Connell Thursday ordered James R. Hoffa, international president of the union, and John English, international secretary - treasurer, to halt the election. The judge ordered that there be no election before Dec. 10 and set Dec. 1 for a hearing on a permanent injunction.

The four officers charged in their suit that three "rank and file" candidates nominated last week are not qualified to become officers.

The four leaders of the union, which has members in Ashtabula, Trumbull and Mahoning Counties, are seeking re-election. They are Robert Higham, local president; Harry Kaufman, recording secretary; Abe Schwartz and Frank Zangara, trustees.

They charged that under the union constitution adopted in 1957 William Gaw of Columbiana and Joseph Sammartino and Joseph Carelly, both of Youngstown, are not qualified for officer posts. Gaw is running for vice president and the other two are candidates for trustee posts.

The 1957 constitution was declared illegal by two of three monitors appointed for the union by the U. S. District Court in Washington.

But W. M. Briggs, Cleveland lawyer representing the local and its present officers, argued that the monitors could only make recommendations and it was up to Hoffa to interpret the constitution so far as locals are concerned.

Judge Connelly held that both Hoffa and the monitors were remiss in not taking the majority recommendation of the monitors before the court in Washington for decision before any action was taken. The judge said Hoffa had told the monitors they were wrong but had not passed along any such opinion to the local.

The three monitors, to whom the rank and file candidates had appealed, have ruled the three are eligible. The plaintiffs charged that the three were ineligible because they failed to pay dues one month in advance, as prescribed in the Ohio constitution.

The monitors ruled they were eligible because they had submitted to checkoff for dues collection and their payments were made by the 10th of the month as specified in statements sent to union members.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: Last week when I returned from work I found the back door open, the furniture disarranged and the drawers a mess. Naturally I suspected burglars. Then I spotted a note on the kitchen table from my brother and sister-in-law saying "Ha ha; sorry you weren't home."

My husband and I both checked the back door when we left for work. They must have crawled in through a rear window. They know we work during the day and it's difficult to figure out why they came calling when they knew we'd be out.

We decided to say nothing of this strange incident. Last night we met them at a family dinner and she brought it up. I blew my top and let her have it. She laced into me saying, "Now you know how I felt."

I don't know what she was talking about but I imagine someone broke into their home and she thought it was us. She left in tears and I'm at a loss to know what to do. What do you suggest?—D.O.

If she actually suspected you and your husband of ransacking their home and did this to get even, she is extremely childish. A man who would assist his wife in such a stunt needs professional help, too. Steer clear of them both.

Hank Of Hair

Dear Ann: Uncle Len is 58 years old and we all love him. He's never married and has been wonderful to all his nieces and nephews.

He went to Europe in August and came back last night. When we met him at the airport we almost died of shock. He sported a full head of gorgeous black wavy hair. Uncle Len has been quite bald for many years. He told us at once that he had a toupee made in London by "the world's best" and asked how we liked it.

We must admit it looked pretty good but it's just not our Uncle Len. Shall we campaign to make him get rid of it? We're afraid he'll be the laughing stock of the town. Advise at once. We love him and don't want him hurt.—D.C.G.

Don't discourage the old boy. It's Uncle Len's head and if he wants to put a rug on it why shouldn't he? It's how HE feels that counts and apparently he feels pretty good.

Anyone who has been bald for years and suddenly turns up with a beautiful growth of black wavy hair should be armed with an elephant hide and a first-rate sense of humor. If Unc has 'em—good for him.

Good Luck

Dear Ann: I'm in the dumps tonight, worse than usual. Maybe you can say one thing that will help.

I'm 18 years old and have never had a date. The fellows come over to get help with English themes or ask for advice on how to make a hit with other girls, but not once has a boy asked me out.

I won't pretend I don't know what's wrong. I'm 5 feet 4 and weigh 165 pounds. I've followed several magazine diets but I can control myself just so long—then I go hog wild and eat everything in sight. Please help me. I'm miserable—TWO-TON TESS.

I'd like to help you, Tess, but I can't move into your house and guard your mouth. You must want to lose weight.

Stay away from bad diets. They could wreck your health. See a doctor. Perhaps you need therapy along with the diet. Let him decide. Food is often a substitute for other satisfactions.

People don't have to be emotional basket cases before they go to a psychiatrist for help. Get going and good luck.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wellsville Woman Resides In Same Home 57 Years

A Wellsville resident, Mrs. Joseph Naylor, believes that it takes "a heap o' livin' " to make a house a home, especially if you resided there 57 years!

She resided at 1788 Clark Ave. exactly 57 years Wednesday.

Seven years after she was married Dec. 25, 1894, they had the house built — the first one in Aten's First Addition.

When they moved in there was no water or gas and the nearest house in that section was on 15th St.

During the years she has seen many improvements. Her husband died in March 1956.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Michael MacWhite, 76, formerly Ireland's minister to the United States and to Italy, died Thursday. In 1921 he became Ireland's first resident representative to the League of Nations in Geneva. He was minister to the United States from 1929 to 1938 and to Italy from 1938 to 1950. He was born in Cork.

To Aid Fight Against Cancer

Science Is Getting Down To Rules Of Cell Growth

NEW YORK (AP) — Science is rapidly getting down to the basic rules of cell growth — and this knowledge will have great repercussions in the fight against cancer.

So reported Dr. Torbjorn Caspersson of the University of Stockholm today. He is a member of the committee that awarded the 1958 Nobel prize in medicine and physiology to three Americans.

Caspersson said his primary interest was in the chemistry of cells, and in the chemical events concerned with the genes, which transmit cell heredity.

If you took 100 normal cells, you might find them very much alike, he said, but if you took 100 cells from a tumor, these cancer cells would vary greatly from each other.

Scientific progress in learning the secrets of cell life and growth is moving extremely fast, he said. Great progress has been made in the past 10 years.

One of the big reasons for this progress, he said, was the use of radioactive isotopes, ordinary elements which have been tagged with radioactivity so that their use by a cell or a group of cells could be traced.

It was about 10 years ago, he said, that the United States made isotopes available to scientists in the free world.

Caspersson took part in a symposium on the cell as part of the sixth annual meeting of the Inter-Society Cytology Council, sponsored in part by the American Cancer Society.

'Inferior, Just Had To Die'

Youth, 18, Isn't Sorry He Killed His Brother, 14

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "My brother was an inferior person. He just had to die. He was a no-good person to be around. I couldn't stand the thought of Ted getting married and bringing kids into the world."

Their parents, Harry and Ruth Ginn, are a deacon and deaconess at the Community Church in suburban Altadena, where the family lives.

"Everything he did was bad," Bruce went on. "Instead of sitting straight he'd slouch. When he sat in a chair he'd cross his legs.

"A good friend of mine came to see me once and Edward (Ted) kept working a yo-yo in front of him.

"I just knew he was never going any place and there was no use in his being around."

He quit talking to his brother 21 months ago "because he tore up some book covers. That was the end."

"Are you sorry you killed your brother?" someone asked.

"Not at all. I'd do the same thing again."

"Last August I saw a magazine ad that said guns could be bought by mail order," he said. "I saved my money, and when I got $10 for my birthday I had enough. I sent the people $16.50 for the gun. They sent me an affidavit to fill out saying I was 21 and had never been in jail.

"The gun came about the middle of October. I hid it in my desk drawer. . . .

"Last Wednesday . . . I thought this might be the day."

Ted came home from school and "like always, he changed his clothes and went into the bathroom." As Ted opened the bathroom door, Bruce shot him. Then he called police.

The boy was booked on suspicion of murder.

Crippled Youth Awarded Scout's Highest Honor

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — Jimmy Whitlatch, 18, hobbled up on his crutches Thursday night to receive the highest Boy Scout honor—the Eagle Badge. He beamed with pride when his mother pinned it on him.

Jimmy received the award at a dinner attended by some 130 persons.

Stricken with polio seven years ago, Jimmy overcame many obstacles. At one point, doctors told his parents he couldn't survive. He spent six months in a hospital, most of the time in an iron lung. His weight dropped from 115 pounds to 65.

The boy swam, camped out and hiked, dragging 10 pounds of braces with him. One 20-mile hike took him 10½ hours, all on crutches.

"A good friend of mine came to see me once and Edward (Ted) kept working a yo-yo in front of him.

"I just knew he was never going any place and there was no use in his being around."

He quit talking to his brother 21 months ago "because he tore up some book covers. That was the end."

"Are you sorry you killed your brother?" someone asked.

"Not at all. I'd do the same thing again."

"Last August I saw a magazine ad that said guns could be bought by mail order," he said. "I saved my money, and when I got $10 for my birthday I had enough. I sent the people $16.50 for the gun. They sent me an affidavit to fill out saying I was 21 and had never been in jail.

"The gun came about the middle of October. I hid it in my desk drawer. . . .

"Last Wednesday . . . I thought this might be the day."

Ted came home from school and "like always, he changed his clothes and went into the bathroom." As Ted opened the bathroom door, Bruce shot him. Then he called police.

The boy was booked on suspicion of murder.

Crippled Youth Awarded Scout's Highest Honor

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — Jimmy Whitlatch, 18, hobbled up on his crutches Thursday night to receive the highest Boy Scout honor—the Eagle Badge. He beamed with pride when his mother pinned it on him.

Jimmy received the award at a dinner attended by some 130 persons.

Stricken with polio seven years ago, Jimmy overcame many obstacles. At one point, doctors told his parents he couldn't survive. He spent six months in a hospital, most of the time in an iron lung. His weight dropped from 115 pounds to 65.

The boy swam, camped out and hiked, dragging 10 pounds of braces with him. One 20-mile hike took him 10½ hours, all on crutches.

U.S. 7th Fleet Host To President Chiang

TAIPEI (AP) —The U.S. 7th fleet which guards Formosa against Communist attack was host today to President Chiang Kai-shek.

The 72-year-old Nationalist leader flew out to the 62,000-ton carrier Midway by helicopter for a four-hour visit.

The visit appeared to be a new demonstration to the Chinese Communists that the United States stands firmly behind its treaty commitment to protect Formosa from invasion.

Communist guns ringing the Quemoy Islands were silent.

witness is a vital part of his case, since he intends to show evidence that photographic equipment stolen from the hardware store was sold to Wallace by Raimond.

"It is absolutely essential the state have more time to locate this man," Brokaw told the judge. "He had not yet come back this morning and it is obvious why he hasn't —I am not making any accusations against counsel in this case but the facts are highly suspicious."

Atty. Samuel Fekett of Youngstown, co-defense counsel, asked Brokaw, "suspicious concerning counsel?" "No, not counsel," Brokaw replied.

Yesterday and again this morning Fekett and Atty. Hugo Alexander, co-defense counsel, objected to any continuance.

They said the prosecution could have subpoenaed the witness last week or could have declared him a material witness and placed him under bond.

Judge Buzzard said he was reluctant to grant any delay in the trial, but pointed out previous postponements had been permitted, some at the request of the defense.

Atty. Alexander said this morning he had called a number of witnesses yesterday and again today in anticipation of starting the defense case. "We can't keep our witnesses here indefinitely."

Fekett said a witness had been missing in the previous trial involving the burglary of the Smith & Phillips Co., — a defense witness which the prosecution had called back to question further—"and here we have it again."

Fekett declared he had called six character witnesses today, along with other witnesses, including some insurance men, and objected to delay which "would cause hardship to them and to the defense case."

"The administration of justice is fraught with hardship," Judge Buzzard remarked. "Hardship in delay and inconvenience to jurors and witnesses," he added.

He said there was some justification in the defense contention the witness should have been subpoenaed earlier, "But that is best seen in hindsight."

Judge Buzzard said the prosecutor had a right to expect a witness would be true to his word.

The judge said he was convinced that in the interests of justice the trial should be continued since the witness was material to the prosecution's case to link a piece of evidence — a movie projector — to which the defense had already objected as irrelevant.

"It would be, I think, an abuse of discretion if the court didn't grant a delay. It must be remembered the state does not have the right, as does the defense, to appeal the verdict of the trial."

Dave Lowry of Weirton, formerly of Toronto, testified yesterday as a prosecution witness. He said he had purchased a Bell & Howell movie projector from Wallace late in 1952, listing the serial number of the machine.

The prosecution is expected to show further evidence the equipment was originally taken from the hardware before Wallace obtained it.

The costs include $5 for each of the 12 jurors, plus $5 for each of the other 8 who reported but were not selected. Other costs will push the total to $150 or more.

The jury was comprised of: Flora Altman, 624 Blackmore St., Clifford J. Conley, 952 St. George St., Sampson J. Hamilton, 942 Huston Ave., Edward Lisk, 1753 Pennsylvania Ave., Joseph W. One Of City's Oldest Firm

Faulk Bros. Building Sold In Business Consolidation

Sale of the Faulk Bros. Co. building, 626 Dresden Ave., a landmark of one of the earliest businesses in East Liverpool, was announced today by the C. W. Powell & Co. real estate agency.

The heirs of the Faulk estate sold the four - story brick structure to William Mangano, operator of the Central Service auto agency and owner of extensive properties in the city.

Miss Camille Faulk, in charge of the local feed outlet and hardware store, said the business will be transferred in about a month to the Chester mill and store on Carolina Ave., with operations to be consolidated there. Eugene Hall is general manager of the concern.

It will remove from the city a business that was established shortly after the Civil War.

Solomon J. Faulk, who died in 1931, first operated a general store, opening it about 1876 when there were only a few scattered buildings on what is now the Diamond.

John Faulk then entered the business with his brother and they established a flour and saw mill on the riverfront about 1880. After John's death about 1896, Samuel Faulk, another brother, joined the firm. The latter died in 1935.

The riverfront property burned down in 1910 and the brothers erected the present building that year, grinding flour and feeds until about 1945, when the machinery was junked.

The company became famous for its quality "Moss Rose" flour brand established about 60 years ago. It had widespread sale from the start and the mill operated day and night to fill the demand. Local and shipped grain went into the flour in the early days and the firm also ground flour and grains on individual order of district farmers.

Miss Faulk's brother, H. C. Faulk, operated the concern until he died in 1954. A sister, Mrs. W. T. McNutt, sold out her interest before she died in 1949. Their father was Soloman Faulk.

Mrs. Margaret Faulk Hall, daughter of H. C. Faulk and wife of Hall, and Miss Mildred Faulk, another daughter, with their aunt, Miss Camille Faulk, sold the property for an unannounced sum. Hall also is a stockholder.

The sale of one of the oldest city businesses also involved one of the oldest real estate agencies as William Powell, owner, was the first licensed realtor in the county.

Mangano's plans for the property are indefinite, Powell said. It might be used for recreational purposes as the upper floors are large enough for basketball courts. The lot fronts 92½ feet on Dresden Ave. and extends 200 feet to the alley in the rear.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Michael DiSalle, Ohio's new Democratic governor - elect, says results of the Nov. 4 election showed the voters turned a deaf ear to the kind of campaign waged by Vice President Richard Nixon.

Voters were interested in "the future and what it will bring," DiSalle said Thursday.

"This was particularly true with younger people. I don't think they cared much for the emotional, name-calling approach of the vice president."

Pickets Marching Again

Head Of Firm Arrested In Slaying Strike Leader

CHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Pickets marched again today at the Chester Cable Co., whose president was arrested Thursday in the slaying of a onetime bank robber who was leading a wildcat strike.

Thomas Murphy of Port Jervis, N.Y., leader of a group of employes seeking recognition for an independent union, said he and other workers were shocked by the shooting.

But he said they would continue to press for their objective.

The company president, Malcolm White, was in jail at Goshen on a first-degree murder charge, awaiting a hearing Dec. 1.

The victim of the shooting, Alfred F. Dugan, 52-year-old New Jersey labor organizer with a long criminal record, had been engaged several weeks in an effort to switch the firm's 140 employes from an AFL-CIO union to a small independent organization.

The 48-year-old White, who has spent some 15 years building up his company, recently took out a gun permit saying he feared violence might occur at his plant. A few days ago he began gathering information about Dugan's criminal record.

Upon reaching the plant Thursday morning, White encountered Dugan. The two exchanged angry words and White shouted that he planned to reveal Dugan's record.

A short time later White drove away from the plant and Dugan followed in his own car. About half a mile away, White said, he noticed Dugan behind him and halted. Dugan also stopped and got out, White said.

White said that as Dugan approached, he thought the union organizer had his hand on a gun in his pocket.

White said he then drew his pistol and began firing at Dugan. Two shots hit the union man, killing him. White returned to his office. He called police who arrived soon afterward.

"I shot him," he told them.

Dugan had a record in New Jersey for bank robbery, armed robbery and mayhem.

The annual appeal to Columbiana County residents for donations to the Christmas fund for the county's foster - home children has been made by Robert Bycroft, director of the County Welfare Department.

"Through the generosity of many county contributors over the past years, each child under the department's care has received a gift he or she most desired, and with repeated help we hope to make that a reality again this year," Bycroft said.

He pointed out that traditionally Christmas is the "day of days" for children the world over, adding, "These children throughout the county look to you, through the welfare department, for what their families should be doing and are not."

SCHRECKENGOST has also pointed to changes in American culture which he said have influenced presentday design of dinnerware.

Citing the effects of foreign imports, encouraged chiefly by inadequate tariffs, he said American potteries are producing an "excellent product, but unfortunately, earnings have been steadily decreasing since about 1951, and in 1954 and 1955, the plants operated at a loss."

He said this is partly due to increased expense of raw materials and high labor costs, but stressed that foreign competition and cheaper prices of these imports are "helping apply the brakes to progress in the American pottery industry."

SCHRECKENGOST also credited a recent rise in popularity of plastic products as taking a huge share of dinnerware sales. He estimated $70 to $80 million in sales of plastic dishes and utensils last year, and pointed to "well promoted advertising and durability" among the reasons for the success of plastics.

Discussing factors influencing chinaware design, Schreckengost listed a "great movement toward the contemporary" and "A broadening of our dining scene brought about by television" as playing the most important parts.

"IN DINNERWARE design, the contemporary is beautiful in its simplicity — young in spirit, clean and uncluttered — with decoration emphasizing a new dignity and elegance," he said.

"Approximately 50 per cent of all new brides are 20 years of age or younger," he continued, "and knowledge of this fact means that much more of our designthinking is influenced by this sizable, potential market."

"Before television," Schreckengost related, "sometimes there were only two places for any respectable family to eat — the kitchen and the diningroom." "Now," he said, "television, patios and the vanishing housemaid have all widened our dining scene."

"We entertain more in our home and serve our guests at any place we find comfortable and convenient," he pointed out, and "this calls for dinnerware that is adaptable, easy to handle and fun to use as meals are on the move."

HE DISPLAYED several pieces of chinaware, one similar to the style used by Mrs. Eisenhower in the White House and which he designed, and another he created for the king of Saudi Arabia. Other designs from the hundreds in stock at the Newell plant were displayed on a table.

Schreckengost, who has received many awards and medals for chinaware and pottery design, was introduced by Paul Blair, assistant superintendent of East Liverpool High School, who was program chairman.

Roland Kaufman reported on sale of tickets for the Don Cossack Chorus concert to be given Nov. 28 at 8 p. m. at Westgate Junior High School auditorium.

Pennsylvania Doctor Starts His 98th Year

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Lindsey S. McNeely, a doctor for 68 years in the nearby village of Kirby, celebrates his 98th birthday today without "fuss and feathers."

"Just another day," he called it, then shrugged off all thoughts of retiring. "Who would take over my practice?" he asked.

Dr. McNeely, whom some recognize as the oldest active doctor in Pennsylvania and possibly in the United States, practices moderation and regularity. He calls them the keys to contentment and a long life.

Pianist Repeats Debut After 25 Years; She's 33

NEW YORK (AP)—Pianist Ruth Slenczynska returned to town hall Thursday night, repeating a debut she made 25 years ago. The remarkable part is that she now has achieved the ripe old age of 33.

Town Hall was crowded — the same as it was on Nov. 14, 1933, when Miss Slenczynska, then 8 years old, held her first recital there.

A quarter-century ago, she had to use a special piano, built so her legs could reach the pedals.

Miss Slenczynska actually started her professional career as a four-year-old. As a child prodigy she gave concerts all over the world, performed for royalty and with symphony orchestras.

Then, at the age of 14, she fell into musical oblivion. A couple of comebacks were not successful but a third, begun several years ago, has proved rewarding.

From the time she was 3 years old the pianist's father "willed her to be a genius" and was a stern taskmaster. Her father died seven years ago.

Youth's Body Found

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Missing since Tuesday night, Brent Allison Ashley, 16, was found dead in a field Thursday. There was a bullet hole in his head and a rusty, muddy rifle lay across his body. Head Of Carpenters Hopes To Keep Union In AFL-CIO

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners ends its convention today amid reports that President Maurice A. Hutcheson hopes to keep the giant union in the AFL-CIO despite threats to withdraw.

A vote on a resolution which would authorize the General Executive Board to pull out of the AFL-CIO was delayed until today. Approval of the measure was forecast since 1,200 of the convention's 2,000 delegates have signed copies of it.

The resolution might be a bargaining advantage for Hutcheson, who is under fire by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee on corruption charges and under indictment in Indiana's highway scandals.

Hutcheson, who has denied all charges, has been summoned to appear before the AFL-CIO's Executive Council for questioning.

Hutcheson succeeded his father, the late "Big Bill" Hutcheson, as head of the union in 1952. The union, which has 839,000 members, re-elected him to another four-year term in the $35,000-a-year post.

In a further demonstration of Hutcheson power, delegates, Thursday re-elected J. F. Cambiano of San Mateo, Calif., to the General Executive Board. Cambiano, the only administration candidate with opposition, defeated E. A. Brown of Petaluma, Calif., 1,183 to 584 in a secret vote.

Kiwanis Hears Pottery Designer

Foreign Ware Impact Told

Foreign dinnerware — mostly from Japan — accounts for more than 35 per cent of all sales in the United States today and has "slowed the wheels of the American pottery industry," Don Schreckengost, art director of the Homer Laughlin China Co., told the Kiwanis Club Thursday. He discussed "Table Fashions."

About 50 attended the luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel. Wives of members were guests.

SCHRECKENGOST has also pointed to changes in American culture which he said have influenced presentday design of dinnerware.

Citing the effects of foreign imports, encouraged chiefly by inadequate tariffs, he said American potteries are producing an "excellent product, but unfortunately, earnings have been steadily decreasing since about 1951, and in 1954 and 1955, the plants operated at a loss."

He said this is partly due to increased expense of raw materials and high labor costs, but stressed that foreign competition and cheaper prices of these imports are "helping apply the brakes to progress in the American pottery industry."

Falling Down On World News

2 Editors Hit Newspapers

By MERRILL SWEDLUND

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP) — Two newspaper editors accused their profession today of falling down on the job of giving their readers significant news from abroad.

E. T. Stone, managing editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, told The Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., "World news is becoming local news. Unless we wake up to the fact, we're living in a dream world of the past."

Norman Isaacs, managing editor of the Louisville Times, said, "I would suggest that all of us look at our newspapers when we get home and reflect as to whether we are giving our readers an intelligent and imaginative picture of today's world."

Speaking on a panel discussion of the foreign news provided by AP, Isaacs said, "The AP's world news coverage performance strikes me as better than most American newspapers deserve." He contended only a small minority of papers are doing outstanding jobs of informing readers about world news or even making full use of AP's foreign news.

Stone contended both the newspapers and wire services turn out "dull and sterile" foreign news "because we aren't reporting about people in the lands beyond our shores."

The so-called "hard news" from foreign capitals, Stone said, is "news that is hard to digest, hard to understand."

"We need to put some human flesh on it," said Stone, who did some reporting himself last year on a tour of byroads and villages in Europe.

Isaacs complained that too much of the foreign news is devoted to the adventures of celebrities like Brigitte Bardot and Frank Sinatra. He classes such news as "tripe."

New members added to the APME board of directors were: Frank Angelo, Detroit Free Press; Alfred Friendly, Washington Post and Times-Herald; Vint Jennings, Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail; Paul Swensson, Minneapolis Star, and John E. Stempel, Bloomington (Ind.) Daily Student.

Re-elected to three year terms on the board were John Q. Mahaffey, Texarkana (Tex.) Gazette-News; J. Edward Murray, Los Angeles Mirror News, and Kenneth R. West, Lansing (Mich.) State Journal.

Methodist Council Urges Church Back Integration

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Methodist Council of Bishops again has asked the church as a whole to support the U.S. Supreme Court rulings on school integration.

The council, winding up its sessions here Thursday, also suggested the church revise and improve its own methods as a means of curbing juvenile delinquency; urged clarification of the nation's foreign policy; proposed the United States try every possibility of United Nations actions "before it takes issues of vital international concern into its own hands" and deplored any attempts by government officials to "conceal basic facts" from the people.

The council previously had asked Methodists to abide by court rulings on integration in the schools and the latest message said "we earnestly urge all our people to accept the rulings in good faith."

It also said, "We commend our people who, while not always sharing the same attitudes of integration, are determined to demonstrate in their own lives the qualities of understanding, tolerance and brotherhood."

After proposing a clarification of the nation's foreign policy, the council called on Methodists "to take an increased initiative in the matter of control of nuclear armaments and in the suspension of nuclear weapons tests, either on a temporary or a permanent basis, preferable by a ban internationally agreed upon."

Recent bombing of churches, synagogues, schools and homes brought an expression of concern from the council which said:

"We would remind our people that equal justice can be had only under law. To obey the law only when it suits us is to invite others to do likewise and that ultimately leads to anarchy."

precinct that will be recounted. The law provides there will be no charge to the petitioning group for any precinct in which the result is changed or in which the number of votes in favor of the proposal is increased by more than 4 per cent.

Both issues required a 55 per cent affirmative vote. The school district issue received 674 favorable votes and 677 in opposition. The vote on the New Waterford village issue showed 125 in favor and 110 in opposition.

Train Travel Fatality Rate Lower Than Bus

CHICAGO (AP) — On the basis of passenger miles traveled last year, train travel had a lower fatality rate than bus, scheduled airliner, taxi or private car transportation.

Trains magazine says the fatality rate for each 100 million passenger-miles was 2.6 for cars and cabs; 0.14 for buses; 0.12 for the airlines; and 0.07 for the rails.

First Of Four Stratton Units Being Installed

Power Plant Progresses

The first of four turbo - generating units at the Ohio Edison Co.'s $115,000,000 Stratton power plant is now being installed and will be ready to produce electric power sometime during the summer of 1959, company officials have announced.

The unit will have a generating capability of 170,000 kilowatts. Three more units of the same size will be installed at one - year intervals following the first turbo - generator and will bring the plant's total capability to 680,000 kilowatts in 1962.

The Stratton plant has been under construction since May 1955, date of groundbreaking ceremonies.

When finished, it will be the largest power plant of the Ohio Edison System, which provides electric service to an 8,800-square - mile area in central and northeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

Already completed at the Stratton site is the plant's storage, maintenance and repair building. The section of the main building that will house turbo-generating units one and two is nearly finished. Construction of the portion of the plant for units three and four will begin next year.

The towering 500 - foot stack for the first two units has been completed, as has the stepup substation that will raise the voltage of electricity leaving the plant.

Since coal and water are the principal ingredients for electric power, much construction at Stratton has been hinged on providing facilities for handling these important items.

When the four generating units are in full operation, Stratton will consume 280 tons of coal each hour. Hundreds of thousands of gallons of water also will pass through the plant hourly to condense used steam back to water.

To handle these "raw materials", a large coal yard and extensive coal - handling equipment are being built and a river intake for water is now under construction. A screen house to screen any debris from the river water before it is circulated through the plant's condensors already has been built.

When completed, the main building at Stratton will cover an area approximately 300 by 400 feet. The power plant is equal in height to a 15 - story building and the 680,000 kilowatts that will flow from the plant when it is in full operation will be sufficient to handle the needs of a city of 720,000 population.

Power from Stratton will be carried over transmission lines to the northeastern Ohio section served by Ohio Edison.

The Ohio Edison System's present power plants are capable of producing a total of 1,851,500 kilowatts of electricity. Stratton's 680,000-kilowatt capability will increase this power supply more than a third and provide ample power for the increasing use of electricity by the company's customers.

Man's 'Dream' Boat Is Nearly Completed

James' boat is 8 feet wide and 22½ feet long. He has named it the "Waw-be-wawa" meaning snow goose from Longfellow's "Hiawatha."

Pete, The Bluejay, To Migrate In Style

"I'm having Ed build a cage so we can take him to Florida with us," said Mrs. Hibberd. "He'd never last the winter up here."

Falling Down On World News

2 Editors Hit Newspapers

By MERRILL SWEDLUND

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP) — Two newspaper editors accused their profession today of falling down on the job of giving their readers significant news from abroad.

E. T. Stone, managing editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, told The Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., "World news is becoming local news. Unless we wake up to the fact, we're living in a dream world of the past."

Norman Isaacs, managing editor of the Louisville Times, said, "I would suggest that all of us look at our newspapers when we get home and reflect as to whether we are giving our readers an intelligent and imaginative picture of today's world."

Speaking on a panel discussion of the foreign news provided by AP, Isaacs said, "The AP's world news coverage performance strikes me as better than most American newspapers deserve." He contended only a small minority of papers are doing outstanding jobs of informing readers about world news or even making full use of AP's foreign news.

Stone contended both the newspapers and wire services turn out "dull and sterile" foreign news "because we aren't reporting about people in the lands beyond our shores."

The so-called "hard news" from foreign capitals, Stone said, is "news that is hard to digest, hard to understand."

"We need to put some human flesh on it," said Stone, who did some reporting himself last year on a tour of byroads and villages in Europe.

Isaacs complained that too much of the foreign news is devoted to the adventures of celebrities like Brigitte Bardot and Frank Sinatra. He classes such news as "tripe."

New members added to the APME board of directors were: Frank Angelo, Detroit Free Press; Alfred Friendly, Washington Post and Times-Herald; Vint Jennings, Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail; Paul Swensson, Minneapolis Star, and John E. Stempel, Bloomington (Ind.) Daily Student.

Re-elected to three year terms on the board were John Q. Mahaffey, Texarkana (Tex.) Gazette-News; J. Edward Murray, Los Angeles Mirror News, and Kenneth R. West, Lansing (Mich.) State Journal.

Other Proposals Made

Methodist Council Urges Church Back Integration

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Methodist Council of Bishops again has asked the church as a whole to support the U.S. Supreme Court rulings on school integration.

The council, winding up its sessions here Thursday, also suggested the church revise and improve its own methods as a means of curbing juvenile delinquency; urged clarification of the nation's foreign policy; proposed the United States try every possibility of United Nations actions "before it takes issues of vital international concern into its own hands" and deplored any attempts by government officials to "conceal basic facts" from the people.

The council previously had asked Methodists to abide by court rulings on integration in the schools and the latest message said "we earnestly urge all our people to accept the rulings in good faith."

It also said, "We commend our people who, while not always sharing the same attitudes of integration, are determined to demonstrate in their own lives the qualities of understanding, tolerance and brotherhood."

After proposing a clarification of the nation's foreign policy, the council called on Methodists "to take an increased initiative in the matter of control of nuclear armaments and in the suspension of nuclear weapons tests, either on a temporary or a permanent basis, preferable by a ban internationally agreed upon."

Recent bombing of churches, synagogues, schools and homes brought an expression of concern from the council which said:

"We would remind our people that equal justice can be had only under law. To obey the law only when it suits us is to invite others to do likewise and that ultimately leads to anarchy."

Recounts

precinct that will be recounted. The law provides there will be no charge to the petitioning group for any precinct in which the result is changed or in which the number of votes in favor of the proposal is increased by more than 4 per cent.

Both issues required a 55 per cent affirmative vote. The school district issue received 674 favorable votes and 677 in opposition. The vote on the New Waterford village issue showed 125 in favor and 110 in opposition.

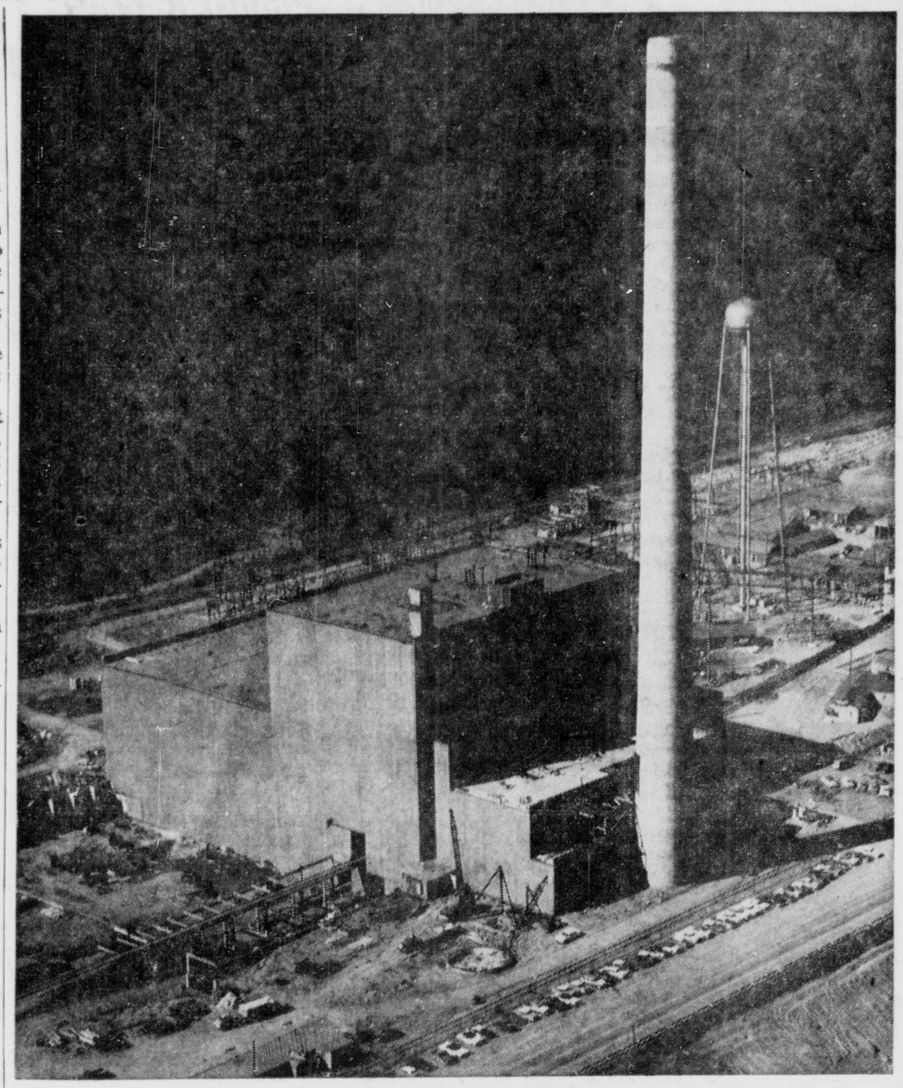
Train Travel Fatality Rate Lower Than Bus

CHICAGO (AP) — On the basis of passenger miles traveled last year, train travel had a lower fatality rate than bus, scheduled airliner, taxi or private car transportation.

Trains magazine says the fatality rate for each 100 million passenger-miles was 2.6 for cars and cabs; 0.14 for buses; 0.12 for the airlines; and 0.07 for the rails.

Wayward Missive

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Don B. King mailed a letter to friends in California and it wound up in Guam. The post office reported the missive somehow stuck to the back of another letter written by a McAlester resident to her sailor son on Guam.



First Of Four Stratton Units Being Installed

Power Plant Progresses

The first of four turbo - generating units at the Ohio Edison Co.'s $115,000,000 Stratton power plant is now being installed and will be ready to produce electric power sometime during the summer of 1959, company officials have announced.

The unit will have a generating capability of 170,000 kilowatts. Three more units of the same size will be installed at one - year intervals following the first turbo - generator and will bring the plant's total capability to 680,000 kilowatts in 1962.

The Stratton plant has been under construction since May 1955, date of groundbreaking ceremonies.

When finished, it will be the largest power plant of the Ohio Edison System, which provides electric service to an 8,800-square - mile area in central and northeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

Already completed at the Stratton site is the plant's storage, maintenance and repair building. The section of the main building that will house turbo-generating units one and two is nearly finished. Construction of the portion of the plant for units three and four will begin next year.

The towering 500 - foot stack for the first two units has been completed, as has the stepup substation that will raise the voltage of electricity leaving the plant.

Since coal and water are the principal ingredients for electric power, much construction at Stratton has been hinged on providing facilities for handling these important items.

When the four generating units are in full operation, Stratton will consume 280 tons of coal each hour. Hundreds of thousands of gallons of water also will pass through the plant hourly to condense used steam back to water.

To handle these "raw materials", a large coal yard and extensive coal - handling equipment are being built and a river intake for water is now under construction. A screen house to screen any debris from the river water before it is circulated through the plant's condensors already has been built.

When completed, the main building at Stratton will cover an area approximately 300 by 400 feet. The power plant is equal in height to a 15 - story building and the 680,000 kilowatts that will flow from the plant when it is in full operation will be sufficient to handle the needs of a city of 720,000 population.

Power from Stratton will be carried over transmission lines to the northeastern Ohio section served by Ohio Edison.

The Ohio Edison System's present power plants are capable of producing a total of 1,851,500 kilowatts of electricity. Stratton's 680,000-kilowatt capability will increase this power supply more than a third and provide ample power for the increasing use of electricity by the company's customers.

Man's 'Dream' Boat Is Nearly Completed

James' boat is 8 feet wide and 22½ feet long. He has named it the "Waw-be-wawa" meaning snow goose from Longfellow's "Hiawatha."

7-Year Economic Plan Set

Russian People Promised Highest Living Standard

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government today promised its people the highest living standards in the world by 1970.

The promise was made in a report on Premier Krushchev's seven-year economic plan which was approved Wednesday by the Communist party Central Committee.

The plan for the years 1959-1965 calls for an 80 per cent increase in Russian industrial production. This will enable the Communist bloc to produce more than half the world's industrial goods in 1965, compared with about one-third now, the report claimed.

This "will provide a real foundation for overtaking and outstripping per capita production in the United States" by 1970, according to the report.

By 1970 or possibly earlier, the report adds, "the U.S.S.R. will take first place in the world both for absolute volume of production and for per capita production, which will insure the highest living standards in the world."

Such economic success would prove the absolute superiority of communism over capitalism, the report declared.

The report will be delivered at the 21st party congress, scheduled for next January. At a date not yet announced it will be presented to the Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, for certain approval.

The seven-year plan was presented as part of a 15-year development program which "provides the necessary conditions to be created for completing the transition to communism." The report refrains from promising a date for the Soviet millenium of pure communism in which each contributes according to his ability and is rewarded only according to need.

The report touches on almost all phases of Russian life, from Khrushchev's new work-plus-study educational system to expansion of airlines. But primary emphasis is placed on heavy industry.

The volume of state capital investments during the next seven years will almost equal capital investments in the 41 years of Communist rule, Khrushchev said.

At the same time he promised a better life to the more than 200 million Russians. The real incomes of factory and office workers will increase an average of 40 per cent and of collective farmers by no less than 40 per cent, the report said.

Improvements in pensions and health services plus alleviation of the housing shortage also were promised.

The report says, "The U.S.S.R. working day and working week." will have the world's shortest

The official news agency Tass issued three versions of how this will be accomplished.

Avoiding flat commitment, two versions said a five-day work week "is suggested" for factory and office workers, who will number 66 million in 1965. A third version said that for those working six or seven hours a day, "a five-day working week, with two days off a week, is to be introduced" at an unspecified time, but presumably within the seven-year plan.

"The transition of factory and office workers to a six or seven-hour working day is to be completed by 1960," Tass said, and those with a seven-hour day will have a 40-hour week—meaning almost six work days—by 1962.

TV Set, Stand And $32 Cash Taken At Store

COLUMBIANA — Sheriff's deputies today were investigating the theft of a new television set, a stand and $32 in cash Thursday night from the City Radio & TV Shop, 15 N. Main St.

John Lambright of East Palestine, owner of the firm which moved here about a year ago, did not estimate the value of the television set.

He said the theft occurred between 5:30 p. m. when he closed and 10:30 p. m. when it was discovered by employes of the adjoining Churchfield Drugs.

Scientific Fair Plans Related For Meeting Of BPW Group

Plans for the Scientific Fair to be held in the spring at the Carnegie Public Library were reported at the dinner meeting of the Business & Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening at the Travelers Hotel.

Mrs. Frances Jones, vice chairman of the career advancement committee, discussed the project.

A steering committee is planned from faculty members of area schools. The fair is proposed to stimulate interest in science and for students to prepare their own displays. Prizes will be awarded for scientific achievement.

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh, president, presided for the business. A resolution of respect was read for Miss Agnes Cleland, deceased member, prepared by the Executive Board in recognition of her 14 years as a member.

The speaker was Mrs. Joseph F. DuMont, who is known professionally as Miss Emilie Ruetenik, of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. public relations department at Cleveland.

The program was arranged by the international relations committee, comprised of Miss Jean Woodward, Mrs. Helen Bradfield, Miss Janice Brookman, Mrs. Rebecca Turk and Mrs. Lela Werkeiser.

Several selections were presented by the Note Nuts quartet, Dean Manning, Glenn Woods, Bill Brooks and Charles Brooks.

The Executive Board meeting set Nov. 25 has been canceled due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Plans are being made for the annual Child Health Clinic Christmas party Sunday, Dec. 14 at 2:30 p. m. at the Elks Club. Mrs. Mae Hartt is chairman.

The club Christmas party will be held Dec. 10 at the hotel and a gift exchange will be featured.

To Keep Independence

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslavia told the Soviet bloc today that she will never abandon her independence. The government newspaper Borba replied to attacks by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Polish Communist boss Wladyslaw Gomulka in Moscow four days ago.

Swing Onto Dead End Halts Pursued Driver

Two pursuing policemen knew they had their man early today when he swung his auto into a dead end street in East End.

Dennis Pridemore, 1812 Michigan Ave., nabbed by Patrolmen William Nott and Samuel Hays, was fined $300 and costs and given a 10-day jail term today in Municipal Court on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $25 more on a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

The officers said they first spotted Pridemore's car at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. Deciding to check his registration card, they followed him onto Etruria St., where the pursued car shot past the cruiser without lights, then turned onto the dead end street.

Just A Water Haul

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies had no trouble finding the five youths who had been swiping gasoline from Paul Jernegan's farm tank. The exasperated farmer finally had filled his tank with water, and the thieves were arrested nearby where their car had stalled.

Woman Hurt Slightly In Chester Area Crash

A Clarksburg woman was injured slightly Thursday night on Route 30 near Chester when the pickup truck in which she was a passenger collided with a car operated by a Maryland man.

Mrs. Mabel Abell, wife of Bland Abell, 54, the driver of the 1954 model truck, suffered a bruised right arm when the vehicle crashed into the car of Robert J. Hall of Mount Savage, Md.

Mrs. Abell was treated by a physician. Deputies said the mishap occured at 8:10 p. m. when the 1955 car driven by Hall was being pushed off the highway and was struck in the rear by the Clarksburg man's vehicle.

Avoiding flat commitment, two versions said a five-day work week "is suggested" for factory and office workers, who will number 66 million in 1965. A third version said that for those working six or seven hours a day, "a five-day working week, with two days off a week, is to be introduced" at an unspecified time, but presumably within the seven-year plan.

"The transition of factory and office workers to a six or seven-hour working day is to be completed by 1960," Tass said, and those with a seven-hour day will have a 40-hour week—meaning almost six work days—by 1962.

Scientific Fair Plans Related For Meeting Of BPW Group

Plans for the Scientific Fair to be held in the spring at the Carnegie Public Library were reported at the dinner meeting of the Business & Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening at the Travelers Hotel.

Mrs. Frances Jones, vice chairman of the career advancement committee, discussed the project.

A steering committee is planned from faculty members of area schools. The fair is proposed to stimulate interest in science and for students to prepare their own displays. Prizes will be awarded for scientific achievement.

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh, president, presided for the business. A resolution of respect was read for Miss Agnes Cleland, deceased member, prepared by the Executive Board in recognition of her 14 years as a member.

The speaker was Mrs. Joseph F. DuMont, who is known professionally as Miss Emilie Ruetenik, of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. public relations department at Cleveland.

The program was arranged by the international relations committee, comprised of Miss Jean Woodward, Mrs. Helen Bradfield, Miss Janice Brookman, Mrs. Rebecca Turk and Mrs. Lela Werkeiser.

Several selections were presented by the Note Nuts quartet, Dean Manning, Glenn Woods, Bill Brooks and Charles Brooks.

The Executive Board meeting set Nov. 25 has been canceled due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Plans are being made for the annual Child Health Clinic Christmas party Sunday, Dec. 14 at 2:30 p. m. at the Elks Club. Mrs. Mae Hartt is chairman.

The club Christmas party will be held Dec. 10 at the hotel and a gift exchange will be featured.

Swing Onto Dead End Halts Pursued Driver

Two pursuing policemen knew they had their man early today when he swung his auto into a dead end street in East End.

Dennis Pridemore, 1812 Michigan Ave., nabbed by Patrolmen William Nott and Samuel Hays, was fined $300 and costs and given a 10-day jail term today in Municipal Court on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $25 more on a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

The officers said they first spotted Pridemore's car at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. Deciding to check his registration card, they followed him onto Etruria St., where the pursued car shot past the cruiser without lights, then turned onto the dead end street.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

The Roast Of The Town

I keep getting the feeling that I'm going back, back, back into time and any moment now I expect to find myself walking around in the 18th century just like Leslie Howard in "Berkley Square."

John Crosby

The reason I can't stay pinned to my own century is every time I turn on television it seems as if we've been through all this before. I must be having hallucinations because I thought I saw Ed Sullivan being honored at a banquet on television Sunday.

"Pshaw!" I ejaculated carefully, having been schooled to make the "P" felt but not heard. "This must be an hallucination (no one in my circle says "a hallucination") for they have not telecast banquets since the invention of Milton Berle. But soft! He speaks!"

THAT DIALOGUE may seem a little antiquated but, darn it, I feel a little antiquated. Seems to me they used to broadcast banquets commemorating things like the first anniversary of the telephone back when there was nothing else to broadcast.

But I thought we had all that safely behind us after Howdy Doody took his first flattering steps, after they invented the proscenium arch and began messing around with scenery. Seems to me the banquet, as a framework for entertainment, must even predate the church choir.

But enough of this. Here it was again—the Friars Club testimonial to Ed Sullivan, with celebrities, speeches, waiters, napkins and jokes. I must say they were good jokes.

It started out with J. E. Lewis' celebrated joke about Sullivan: "Man, how that guy can brighten a room—just by leaving it."

That's a good joke but it needs rest. Lewis has used it on Sullivan's show before. It's been in every column in town, including this one years ago. Just before fleeing, Lewis delivered himself of another one: "What have you heard from the autopsy—anything new?"

MR. LEWIS declared that the Friars only roast the people they love.

"If you got a Friar for a friend," I muttered to myself, "you'll never need an enemy." (I must have read that line somewhere; I couldn't have made it up.)

After that the loving jokes flew thick and fast about the fact that Sullivan can't sing, dance, act, smile or even stand. In fact, his publisher got up and said: "He's been a columnist for 26 years and he can't even write."

Sullivan took all this abuse with wonderful good nature. Jack Carter was master of ceremonies and he was mighty funny. Others who pitched in from time to time included Wayne and Shuster, Joey Bishop, Rocky Graziano and Jack E. Leonard.

It exercised a sort of horrid fascination on me. I kept strangling the laughs, feeling that if I had too good a time this could be a regular weekly thing.

"One boffolo out of you, Crosby, and they'll revive all those other programs with table cloths in them—like the Stork Club show."

THE OTHER big news on Sunday was on the other network, where "Omnibus" put Esther Williams on a submarine. That must have been one of these things that seemed like a good idea at a story conference one time and, by Jove, the next thing they knew they were rehearsing the bit.

She made a frightfully pretty guide for a submarine but she seemed mostly taken by the courtesy of the submarines she met in the narrow corridors. The air was full of little sounds of "excuse me" which were engaging but not very elucidating.

"Such polite young men," she'd murmur, staring after them, and I kept waiting for the plot to begin or the band to strike up.

You got the feeling this was a musical named "Ankles Aweigh" rather than a serious documentary about submarines coming live from the New London (Conn.) submarine base.

Later, though, Alistair Cooke took over in earnest and we learned about compression chambers and other educational stuff which isn't as pretty as Miss Williams.

"Omnibus" seems to have been crossed with "Wide Wide World" this year. It was a good, meaty documentary which gave you some idea of the pitfalls of the submarine profession, which will keep me out of that line of work forevermore.

Pike Charts New Plan To Curb Wrecks

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new plan aimed at keeping drunk drivers and unsafe cars off the Ohio Turnpike will be given a trial run.

The plan for spot checks by State Highway Patrolmen posted at toll plazas was outlined Thursday night by C. W. Hartford, executive director of the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

Hartford said the patrolmen will watch for drivers who appear intoxicated, stopping them before they reach the toll gates at turnpike approaches.

They will watch also for defective lighting and worn tires.

Toll collectors have in the past watched lighting fixtures and tires on cars and in some instances have kept motorists off the turnpike when vehicles did not pass inspection, Hartford said.

The commission will not install gates at crossovers between east and west lanes, Hartford said. The gates were suggested Wednesday by Michael Desmond of Columbus, executive director of the Ohio Turnpike and Highway and Turnpike Assn.

Hartford said new problems would be presented by use of locked gates at crossovers and added that the problem of unauthorized crossings is not as great as some people believe.

A wrong-way motorist whom the turnpike patrol said was intoxicated was involved in a headon collision which killed seven persons a week ago.

Checks Totaled $520,000

Arraignment Due Father, Son For Embezzlement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A father and son face arraignment in U. S. District Court here today on charges of conspiring to embezzle more than a half-million dollars from a Fairfield County bank where they worked.

The two are Fred B. Lewis of Rushville and his son, Fred K., of Chillicothe, president and cashier, respectively, of the old Rushville Banking Co.

The indictment against them charges that they drew 1,292 checks, amounting to $520,000, on two companies which did not have sufficient funds to cover them.

The indictment said the father used bank funds to pay the checks, and that he made false entries in the bank's books to cover up the operation.

The two companies are the Ohio Silica Co. and L & M Equipment Co., both of Rushville. It could not be determined whether both father and son were officers of these companies. However, Fred K. Lewis is listed in state records as being one of three incorporators of both companies and also the agent for services.

The other two incorporators are his wife, Florence, and a Charles H. McCreary. Both companies were incorporated Nov. 15, 1955.

The four-count indictment said the conspiracy to defraud the bank occurred between May 1, 1957, and May 1, 1958.

It listed two specific instances in which the father, who also was a bank director, withheld from bank processing a check of Ohio Silica for $331.13 and one of L & M Equipment for $499.55.

In both cases, the indictment said the companies did not have sufficient funds to cover the checks, both dated last January, and that the father used bank funds to pay them.

The indictment did not say to whom the checks were paid, but did say that they were issued by the son.

Apparently the operation was discovered after the father made a report to the State Division of Banks. The indictment said he intended to defraud the bank by falsely stating in the report that its total cash balance was $688,324.88 when he knew it was only $168,324.38.

The $520,000 difference is the amount embezzled, the indictment said. It did not say if any of the money was recovered.

Last May 24, the Rushville bank was taken over by the Farmers and Citizens Bank of Lancaster, which has operated it since then as a branch office.

The two companies involved in the alleged embezzlement were reportedly up for sale in recent months, according to Fairfield County sources. But the State Tax Department, which keeps records of corporation sales, said it has no records of such a transaction being completed.

4 Chicagoans Arrested For Bank Robbery

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A woman's quick surmise as to what was happening, the wrecking of a getaway car, the sharp eye of an automobile junkyard operator and a massive manhunt led to the arrest of four men Thursday on charges of robbery of the Farmers' Bank at nearby Petersburg.

The four, all Chicagoans, were arrested within five hours of the time two of them entered the bank and took $2,000 at gunpoint.

The four were listed as Joseph M. Jalove, 37; Clifford Brinegar, 32; Anthony Orlando, 39, and Patrick Thornton, 19. Brinegar is a Boone County native.

All four were to be given a hearing before a U.S. commissioner in Federal Court at Covington today on the bank robbery charges filed by the FBI.

Police said the woman who touched off the manhunt was Mrs. Jack Clore, wife of the operator of a grocery which is next door to the bank. She saw the men turning up the license plate on their car and saw two enter the bank. She surmised it was a bank robbery. She called to her husband and he followed the getaway car to the farm of B. M. Brinegar, father of one of the arrested men.

Oberlin Students Fail To Influence Meyner Decision

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Oberlin College students tried hard—but without success—to get New Jersey's Gov. Robert B. Meyner to say whether he wants the 1960 Democratic nomination for president.

"If the convention were held next week," the governor said, "I would say what I've been saying right along—I'm not a candidate."

Meyner, who addressed a junior forum sponsored by the college's Young Democrats, did say that he thought there was a "substantial amount of sentiment that Adlai Stevenson should run again." He said he believes the former Illinois governor could be drafted for a third try.

With the governor in the visit here Thursday was his wife, the former Helen Stevenson, daughter of Oberlin College President and Mrs. William E. Stevenson.

Thursday night Meyner spoke at the combined men's club and sisterhood at Fairmount Temple in Cleveland. He said that if this country wants "to succeed in the role of world leadership, we must put our best foot forward in handling our civil rights problem."

A Democratic Congress next year can be expected to push for further civil rights legislation, he said, along with an increased federal school construction program and urban renewal housing.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

The Roast Of The Town

I keep getting the feeling that I'm going back, back, back into time and any moment now I expect to find myself walking around in the 18th century just like Leslie Howard in "Berkley Square."

John Crosby

The reason I can't stay pinned to my own century is every time I turn on television it seems as if we've been through all this before. I must be having hallucinations because I thought I saw Ed Sullivan being honored at a banquet on television Sunday.

"Pshaw!" I ejaculated carefully, having been schooled to make the "P" felt but not heard. "This must be an hallucination (no one in my circle says "a hallucination") for they have not telecast banquets since the invention of Milton Berle. But soft! He speaks!"

THAT DIALOGUE may seem a little antiquated but, darn it, I feel a little antiquated. Seems to me they used to broadcast banquets commemorating things like the first anniversary of the telephone back when there was nothing else to broadcast.

But I thought we had all that safely behind us after Howdy Doody took his first flattering steps, after they invented the proscenium arch and began messing around with scenery. Seems to me the banquet, as a framework for entertainment, must even predate the church choir.

But enough of this. Here it was again—the Friars Club testimonial to Ed Sullivan, with celebrities, speeches, waiters, napkins and jokes. I must say they were good jokes.

It started out with J. E. Lewis' celebrated joke about Sullivan: "Man, how that guy can brighten a room—just by leaving it."

That's a good joke but it needs rest. Lewis has used it on Sullivan's show before. It's been in every column in town, including this one years ago. Just before fleeing, Lewis delivered himself of another one: "What have you heard from the autopsy—anything new?"

MR. LEWIS declared that the Friars only roast the people they love.

"If you got a Friar for a friend," I muttered to myself, "you'll never need an enemy." (I must have read that line somewhere; I couldn't have made it up.)

After that the loving jokes flew thick and fast about the fact that Sullivan can't sing, dance, act, smile or even stand. In fact, his publisher got up and said: "He's been a columnist for 26 years and he can't even write."

Sullivan took all this abuse with wonderful good nature. Jack Carter was master of ceremonies and he was mighty funny. Others who pitched in from time to time included Wayne and Shuster, Joey Bishop, Rocky Graziano and Jack E. Leonard.

It exercised a sort of horrid fascination on me. I kept strangling the laughs, feeling that if I had too good a time this could be a regular weekly thing.

"One boffolo out of you, Crosby, and they'll revive all those other programs with table cloths in them—like the Stork Club show."

THE OTHER big news on Sunday was on the other network, where "Omnibus" put Esther Williams on a submarine. That must have been one of these things that seemed like a good idea at a story conference one time and, by Jove, the next thing they knew they were rehearsing the bit.

She made a frightfully pretty guide for a submarine but she seemed mostly taken by the courtesy of the submarines she met in the narrow corridors. The air was full of little sounds of "excuse me" which were engaging but not very elucidating.

"Such polite young men," she'd murmur, staring after them, and I kept waiting for the plot to begin or the band to strike up.

You got the feeling this was a musical named "Ankles Aweigh" rather than a serious documentary about submarines coming live from the New London (Conn.) submarine base.

Later, though, Alistair Cooke took over in earnest and we learned about compression chambers and other educational stuff which isn't as pretty as Miss Williams.

"Omnibus" seems to have been crossed with "Wide Wide World" this year. It was a good, meaty documentary which gave you some idea of the pitfalls of the submarine profession, which will keep me out of that line of work forevermore.

Pike Charts New Plan To Curb Wrecks

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new plan aimed at keeping drunk drivers and unsafe cars off the Ohio Turnpike will be given a trial run.

The plan for spot checks by State Highway Patrolmen posted at toll plazas was outlined Thursday night by C. W. Hartford, executive director of the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

Hartford said the patrolmen will watch for drivers who appear intoxicated, stopping them before they reach the toll gates at turnpike approaches.

They will watch also for defective lighting and worn tires.

Toll collectors have in the past watched lighting fixtures and tires on cars and in some instances have kept motorists off the turnpike when vehicles did not pass inspection, Hartford said.

The commission will not install gates at crossovers between east and west lanes, Hartford said. The gates were suggested Wednesday by Michael Desmond of Columbus, executive director of the Ohio Turnpike and Highway and Turnpike Assn.

Hartford said new problems would be presented by use of locked gates at crossovers and added that the problem of unauthorized crossings is not as great as some people believe.

A wrong-way motorist whom the turnpike patrol said was intoxicated was involved in a headon collision which killed seven persons a week ago.

Checks Totaled $520,000

Arraignment Due Father, Son For Embezzlement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A father and son face arraignment in U. S. District Court here today on charges of conspiring to embezzle more than a half-million dollars from a Fairfield County bank where they worked.

The two are Fred B. Lewis of Rushville and his son, Fred K., of Chillicothe, president and cashier, respectively, of the old Rushville Banking Co.

The indictment against them charges that they drew 1,292 checks, amounting to $520,000, on two companies which did not have sufficient funds to cover them.

The indictment said the father used bank funds to pay the checks, and that he made false entries in the bank's books to cover up the operation.

The two companies are the Ohio Silica Co. and L & M Equipment Co., both of Rushville. It could not be determined whether both father and son were officers of these companies. However, Fred K. Lewis is listed in state records as being one of three incorporators of both companies and also the agent for services.

The other two incorporators are his wife, Florence, and a Charles H. McCreary. Both companies were incorporated Nov. 15, 1955.

The four-count indictment said the conspiracy to defraud the bank occurred between May 1, 1957, and May 1, 1958.

It listed two specific instances in which the father, who also was a bank director, withheld from bank processing a check of Ohio Silica for $331.13 and one of L & M Equipment for $499.55.

In both cases, the indictment said the companies did not have sufficient funds to cover the checks, both dated last January, and that the father used bank funds to pay them.

The indictment did not say to whom the checks were paid, but did say that they were issued by the son.

Apparently the operation was discovered after the father made a report to the State Division of Banks. The indictment said he intended to defraud the bank by falsely stating in the report that its total cash balance was $688,324.88 when he knew it was only $168,324.38.

The $520,000 difference is the amount embezzled, the indictment said. It did not say if any of the money was recovered.

Last May 24, the Rushville bank was taken over by the Farmers and Citizens Bank of Lancaster, which has operated it since then as a branch office.

The two companies involved in the alleged embezzlement were reportedly up for sale in recent months, according to Fairfield County sources. But the State Tax Department, which keeps records of corporation sales, said it has no records of such a transaction being completed.

To Seek $1½ Million

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Mount Union College officials have decided to campaign for 1½ million dollars to use in a building program that will include a music wing for the fine arts building, a dining commons, a classroom building and possibly other projects. Carl C. Bracy, president of the college, said the executive committee will act soon on setting dates for the campaign.

4 Chicagoans Arrested For Bank Robbery

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A woman's quick surmise as to what was happening, the wrecking of a getaway car, the sharp eye of an automobile junkyard operator and a massive manhunt led to the arrest of four men Thursday on charges of robbery of the Farmers' Bank at nearby Petersburg.

The four, all Chicagoans, were arrested within five hours of the time two of them entered the bank and took $2,000 at gunpoint.

The four were listed as Joseph M. Jalove, 37; Clifford Brinegar, 32; Anthony Orlando, 39, and Patrick Thornton, 19. Brinegar is a Boone County native.

All four were to be given a hearing before a U.S. commissioner in Federal Court at Covington today on the bank robbery charges filed by the FBI.

Police said the woman who touched off the manhunt was Mrs. Jack Clore, wife of the operator of a grocery which is next door to the bank. She saw the men turning up the license plate on their car and saw two enter the bank. She surmised it was a bank robbery. She called to her husband and he followed the getaway car to the farm of B. M. Brinegar, father of one of the arrested men.

Oberlin Students Fail To Influence Meyner Decision

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Oberlin College students tried hard—but without success—to get New Jersey's Gov. Robert B. Meyner to say whether he wants the 1960 Democratic nomination for president.

"If the convention were held next week," the governor said, "I would say what I've been saying right along—I'm not a candidate."

Meyner, who addressed a junior forum sponsored by the college's Young Democrats, did say that he thought there was a "substantial amount of sentiment that Adlai Stevenson should run again." He said he believes the former Illinois governor could be drafted for a third try.

With the governor in the visit here Thursday was his wife, the former Helen Stevenson, daughter of Oberlin College President and Mrs. William E. Stevenson.

Thursday night Meyner spoke at the combined men's club and sisterhood at Fairmount Temple in Cleveland. He said that if this country wants "to succeed in the role of world leadership, we must put our best foot forward in handling our civil rights problem."

A Democratic Congress next year can be expected to push for further civil rights legislation, he said, along with an increased federal school construction program and urban renewal housing.

Crisis After Crisis Like Stalin

Rock 'Em And Sock 'Em May Be Reds' New Angle

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rock 'em and sock 'em.

That may be the new Communist technique, just as it was Joseph Stalin's, to create crisis after crisis to keep the West jittery, gain a little yardage where the West could be forced into concessions, and make propaganda.

Stalin knew the method well, as he showed with the pressure on Greece, Turkey, Iran, at Berlin, in Korea. It was dropped for a while after his death.

A few months ago — after the Iraq revolution — the Eisenhower administration itself jittered American allies by sending troops into Lebanon avowedly to save the government there.

So long as they remained, there was a chance of a Middle East shooting war that could become big war with Russia. The Eisenhower administration was anxious to withdraw the troops as soon as gracefully possible.

Before this could be done — and while Mideast tension continued — Russian Premier Khrushchev visited Peiping. Then came the Communist-made crisis. The Red Chinese began shelling Chiang Kai-shek's troops on the island of Quemoy.

Again jitters for American allies. The United States, under this Red pressure, wouldn't tell Chiang to pull his troops back to Formosa although Quemoy itself was unnecessary for Formosa's defense.

Not to yield under such pressure, said the administration, was a matter of principle. Nevertheless, the Reds gained some psychological yardage at least from their efforts.

After he left came the disclosure that Chiang — who had kept up the spirits of Chinese Nationalists and non-Communist Chinese overseas with threats of recapturing the China mainland — had finally given up any such intention.

The Quemoy problem still is not settled but, now that the tension has died down a bit, Khrushchev has stuck another firecracker under the West, created new tension in another place, this time in Berlin.

Khrushchev jittered the Allies with his call for an end to the occupation of Berlin. The Big Three Western allies have occupied West Berlin since the end of World War II; the Russian-backed East German Communists have East Berlin.

Berlin is 110 miles within East Germany. Now Khrushchev says Russians, Americans, British, French should all clear out. This would leave all Berlin to the Communists. The West says no.

The West doesn't at this minute know what to expect next but does fear that tension over the occupation of Berlin might in the end lead to shooting.

The Russians should be able to turn the heat on and off at Berlin for months or years, just as they please.

They'll hardly stop there. They can think of other places, other crises. The world may be entering a nerve-jangling period, with Russia doing the jangling at will.

The unit was moved to the Diamond for a showing today and Saturday from noon until 8 p. m. They Kissed White Girl

Plea Sent To Ike Asking Release Of 2 Negro Boys

MONROE, N.C. (AP)—Two Negro boys, one 8, the other 9, kissed a 7-year-old white girl as she walked home from school Nov. 1. Two days later the boys were in reform school. Today their names were in a telegram of appeal from a Negro leader to President Eisenhower.

The telegram from Robert F. William Sr. of Monroe claims the boys did not have benefit of counsel or the chance to confront their young accuser.

"Please tell me, Mr. President," says Williams' telegram, "when Negroes may expect your Justice Department to introduce the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution to this social jungle called Dixie."

James Hagery, press secretary to the President, said in Washington Thursday the message had been received, but that there was no comment for publication.

Williams is president of the Union County chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

The two boys, Hannover Thompson, 9, and Fuzzy Simpson, 8, were sentenced to indefinite terms at the Morrison Training School for Negro boys. Judge J. Hampton Price of the county juvenile court would not disclose the trial testimony, saying that juvenile court proceedings are not public record.

Dr. Fred Wilson, mayor, was not available Thursday night for comment on Williams' telegram. At the time of the kissing incident, he told newsmen several white parents had become disturbed over the boys' action but that the situation "cooled off" in a few days. He added:

Ohio-Wide Uniform Entrance Age For First Graders Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio School Board Assn. would like to see a state-wide uniform entrance age established for children entering first grade.

The State Board of Education now recommends that a child be six years old by Sept. 15 in order to enter the first grade but there is no law enforcing this recommendation.

The uniform entrance age requirement was one of several proposals adopted by the association at the concluding session Thursday of its annual convention. There were 2,535 delegates from school boards throughout the state attending the meeting.

Other proposals included in the association's legislative policy are:

1. Keep mill levies for school operation in effect until replaced at the polls.

2. Provide for special state financing for the education of gifted children.

3. Re-examine all school district reorganization laws.

4. Provide state matching funds to enable Ohio to obtain money from the federal government under the National Defense Education Act.

The association elected Don Simmons of Perrysburg president for the coming year. Clyde Crandall of Franklin County was elected first vice president and William Ware of Mentor second vice president.

The board also referred 32 proposed resolutions to the board of trustees for study including one calling for the adoption of a state movie censorship law.

Season's Largest Crowd Due To Watch Potters, Alliance

Game To End Careers Here Of 11 Seniors

The season's largest crowd is expected to be on hand tonight at Patterson Field when East Liverpool's Potters meet one of the state's best football teams—undefeated but once-tied Alliance High.

Alliance's 8-0-1 record, their outstanding defensive unit and overall speed and experience give the Potters the clear role of underdog, but the sharp rivalry between the two schools has caused no little consternation to Aviator coach Mel Knowlton.

IN 1957, the Aviators were pushed to the limit in escaping with a 19-12 decision against another underdog East Liverpool team led by All-Ohio George Hale. But last year Alliance wasn't protecting its rankings as Ohio's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll.

This season the Stark County club has remained atop the heap for the last several weeks and could wrap up the mythical state title by soundly trouncing the Potters. Alliance leads second-place Marion in state ratings with 333 points to 304. Marion is undefeated, however, and possibly could move up if East Liverpool gave Alliance a close game.

Possibilities of an upset, however, are slim as the Aviators have flashed an impressive scoring punch in their nine games and battled Massillon to an 8-8 tie for the only blot on an otherwise perfect record.

The senior contingent is headed by All-Ohio defensive guard candidate Nick Musuraca and rugged fullback Bill O'Neil, who has been troubled the entire season with injuries.

Musuraca, a 160-pounder, has excelled in blocking and tackling all season and is rated a top college prospect despite his rather small size. Powerful when hauling down opposing runners, Musuraca also is fast and has been a virtual "fifth man" in the backfield of opponents. Early in the season, he was shifted to a running halfback due to a wave of injuries, and scored two touchdowns in East Liverpool's 16-6 victory over New Philadelphia.

Musuraca carried the ball 48 times from scrimmage while running with the offensive team, picking up 224 yards and losing only 27 for an aggregate of 197. He has a pair of touchdowns and two running conversions in the scoring column.

O'Neil, a 170-pounder power runner, missed four games this year with injuries and hasn't been in top form since a sophomore. An excellent faker with the offensive unit, he also performed well at defense when in physical condition. He has carried 45 times this year in picking up a total of 193 yards.

Two other seniors who will be sorely missed next season will not be in uniform tonight.

They are linemen Jim Clunk and Mike Kapp, both sidelined by injuries for a good part of the season. Kapp has been one of the bulwarks of the Potter line the last three years.

Along with Musuraca, Goodballet also has had a fine season, both offensively and defensively. He has scored 20 points, second to Bob Mackall who has 38, and is a standout as a pass defender. Goodballet has carried 60 times for 352 yards. He has three touchdowns and one running conversion.

MACKALL, only a junior, is the leading ground gainer for the Potters with 415 yards in 85 carries. He has scored five touchdowns and ran over four conversions from his signal-calling post.

The Potters, 2-5-2, show 108 points for the season with 166 scored by opponents. Slated for early action are sophomore Cookie Goodballet, who will handle the punting, plus Bell, sophomore and Tim Archer, Horger and McCullough.

In the series since 1913 with Alliance, East Liverpool has won four and lost eight, with one game ending in a 7-7 tie.

During tonight's halftime ceremonies, the Blue and White Nonpariel Club will honor Jim Lowery, WOHI sportscaster who will leave in December for New York. He will be presented an engraved plaque by Hap Tullis, president of the club.

ELHS Band To Present '1958 Review' Tonight

East Liverpool High's Marching Band will present their "1958 Review" for the final appearance of the grid season at halftime tonight at the Potter - Alliance game. Three precision drills will be presented to the music of "Mr. Touchdown, USA", "76 Trombones" and "E Pluribus Unum" march. Majorettes also will be featured in a dance version of "Down Yonder".

Selvy Turns On Ex-mates

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was sweet revenge for Frank Selvy in the National Basketball Assn. Thursday night.

The former All-America at Furman, who was traded several weeks ago by the champion St. Louis Hawks to the New York Knicks, lead the Knicks to a 119-102 victory over the Hawks.

"I've been looking forward to this," Selvy remarked gleefully afterwards. "It means a lot to me to beat them."

It meant a lot to the Knicks, too. It was their fourth straight victory and demonstrated to a crowd of 13,850 at New York's Madison Square Garden that their hold on first place in the Eastern Division was no fluke.

Selvy didn't start, but once he got into the game he sparked the Knicks' fast break that broke the game wide open in the second quarter. At the time the Knicks led by only two points, but at the half they were out in front by 19 at 63-44. The Hawks never got close thereafter although their Bob Pettit was top scorer for the game with 28 points.

Although beaten the Hawks retained first place in the Western Division by half a game over the Detroit Pistons. The Pistons, sparked by George Yardley and Gene Shue, whipped the Minneapolis Lakers 119-110 in the first game of the Garden doubleheader.

Elgin Baylor, the former Seattle All-America, scored 28 points for the Lakers, but Yardley and Shue each topped him with 32.

Reserved Tickets Only Get Seats In Stadium

Merrill Hall, high school athletic director, announced today that fans attending the East-Liverpool - Alliance game tonight at Patterson Field should purchase reserved seats if they expect to sit in the stadium. General admission tickets will guarantee standing room only, he said. Sections 1, 2 and 3 were sent to Alliance as reserved. Students of both schools will sit in Sections 9 and 10, he said.

Wellsville Battles Lisbon In Finale For Both Teams

With the humiliating defeat of last season providing the incentive, Wellsville will be battling to upset Coach Bud Bucher's Lisbon Blue Devils when the two rivals close out their seasons tonight at 8 at Nicholson Stadium in Wellsville.

Several returnees from last year's squad, which was crushed by Lsibon, 68-0, will be especially anxious to even the score against this year's high-scoring Lisbon eleven.

A victory would be especially sweet to seven seniors—three of them regulars—who will be closing out their grid careers with the Tigers.

The personnel and season record of the Blue Devils make them a definite favorite. Though losing four of nine games, Lisbon has come on strong in late season play in rolling to three consecutive triumphs.

The Blue Devils are blessed with bountiful talent in the backfield, having two backs—Denny Reese and Tom Brooks—ranked among the top 10 district scorers.

Veteran quarterback Reese, who is both a passing and running threat, has scored ten touchdowns and four extra points in nine games for 68 point.

Brooks, a flashy halfback, has scored 42 points. His running mate, Denny Johnson, has been almost equally effective, dashing for five touchdowns in nine appearances.

End Len McLaughlin has been Reese's favorite aerial target. He has been on the receiving end of three touchdown passes.

Hit by injuries and short on experienced manpower, Coach Ken Wood's Tigers have a 2-5-1 mark prior to tonight's contest.

With halfbacks Jim Stevens and Pat Creaturo out for most of the late season games, the running burden has fallen on the shoulders of fullback Bob Delposen.

Substitute halfbacks John Euill and Dick Brown lack experience and size, but have lots of desire. Euill possesses good speed and is capable of breaking loose for the long dash.

The Tiger passing attack has been on-and-off this season, depending on the accuracy of sophomore quarterback Bob Kiggans' well-thrown but sometimes erratic passes.

End Bob Brown, who has been perhaps the most consistently reliable performer for the Tigers, is a topnotch pass receiver. Brown, who has also done an excellent punting job for Wellsville this year, has a sure pair of hands and has come up with several fine catches.

Three seniors, tackles Len Cuti and Ed Stone and guard Dick Kountz, head the hefty Wellsville forward wall. Biggest man on the line is Ralph "Jiggers" Wagner, who scales 240 pounds.

In a series which spans 42 years, Wellsville has a 12-9 edge over the Blue Devils, with two games ending in ties. But the Tigers have not won since 1940, being trounced last season, losing 25-21 in 1956 and 24-20 in the preceding year.

Oddly enough, last year's score was not the highest of the series. The Tigers ran up an 81-0 count on Lisbon in 1922.

Anthony, Ray Clash Tonight

Anthony, the top light heavyweight contender, has won six straight fights this year, five by knockouts. Ray, ranked sixth by Ring and 10th by the NBA has swept nine in a row.

It's a risky fight for the 23-year-old New Yorker. He'll collect about $5,000 just to keep busy. A defeat by the comparatively obscure Ray would be damaging to Tony's lightheavy position and his heavyweight ambitions. A victory would add nothing.

Conversely, this is a big one for the 22-year-old Ray. The ex-GI is a newcomer to the top ten. He won a berth among the elite group by stopping Jesse Bowdry in the ninth round Sept. 24.

Game To End Careers Here Of 11 Seniors

The season's largest crowd is expected to be on hand tonight at Patterson Field when East Liverpool's Potters meet one of the state's best football teams—undefeated but once-tied Alliance High.

Alliance's 8-0-1 record, their outstanding defensive unit and overall speed and experience give the Potters the clear role of underdog, but the sharp rivalry between the two schools has caused no little consternation to Aviator coach Mel Knowlton.

IN 1957, the Aviators were pushed to the limit in escaping with a 19-12 decision against another underdog East Liverpool team led by All-Ohio George Hale. But last year Alliance wasn't protecting its rankings as Ohio's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll.

This season the Stark County club has remained atop the heap for the last several weeks and could wrap up the mythical state title by soundly trouncing the Potters. Alliance leads second-place Marion in state ratings with 333 points to 304. Marion is undefeated, however, and possibly could move up if East Liverpool gave Alliance a close game.

Possibilities of an upset, however, are slim as the Aviators have flashed an impressive scoring punch in their nine games and battled Massillon to an 8-8 tie for the only blot on an otherwise perfect record.

The senior contingent is headed by All-Ohio defensive guard candidate Nick Musuraca and rugged fullback Bill O'Neil, who has been troubled the entire season with injuries.

Musuraca, a 160-pounder, has excelled in blocking and tackling all season and is rated a top college prospect despite his rather small size. Powerful when hauling down opposing runners, Musuraca also is fast and has been a virtual "fifth man" in the backfield of opponents. Early in the season, he was shifted to a running halfback due to a wave of injuries, and scored two touchdowns in East Liverpool's 16-6 victory over New Philadelphia.

Musuraca carried the ball 48 times from scrimmage while running with the offensive team, picking up 224 yards and losing only 27 for an aggregate of 197. He has a pair of touchdowns and two running conversions in the scoring column.

O'Neil, a 170-pounder power runner, missed four games this year with injuries and hasn't been in top form since a sophomore. An excellent faker with the offensive unit, he also performed well at defense when in physical condition. He has carried 45 times this year in picking up a total of 193 yards.

Two other seniors who will be sorely missed next season will not be in uniform tonight.

They are linemen Jim Clunk and Mike Kapp, both sidelined by injuries for a good part of the season. Kapp has been one of the bulwarks of the Potter line the last three years.

Along with Musuraca, Goodballet also has had a fine season, both offensively and defensively. He has scored 20 points, second to Bob Mackall who has 38, and is a standout as a pass defender. Goodballet has carried 60 times for 352 yards. He has three touchdowns and one running conversion.

MACKALL, only a junior, is the leading ground gainer for the Potters with 415 yards in 85 carries. He has scored five touchdowns and ran over four conversions from his signal-calling post.

The Potters, 2-5-2, show 108 points for the season with 166 scored by opponents. Slated for early action are sophomore Cookie Goodballet, who will handle the punting, plus Bell, sophomore and Tim Archer, Horger and McCullough.

In the series since 1913 with Alliance, East Liverpool has won four and lost eight, with one game ending in a 7-7 tie.

During tonight's halftime ceremonies, the Blue and White Nonpariel Club will honor Jim Lowery, WOHI sportscaster who will leave in December for New York. He will be presented an engraved plaque by Hap Tullis, president of the club.

ELHS Band To Present '1958 Review' Tonight

East Liverpool High's Marching Band will present their "1958 Review" for the final appearance of the grid season at halftime tonight at the Potter - Alliance game. Three precision drills will be presented to the music of "Mr. Touchdown, USA", "76 Trombones" and "E Pluribus Unum" march. Majorettes also will be featured in a dance version of "Down Yonder".

A victory would be especially sweet to seven seniors—three of them regulars—who will be closing out their grid careers with the Tigers.

The personnel and season record of the Blue Devils make them a definite favorite. Though losing four of nine games, Lisbon has come on strong in late season play in rolling to three consecutive triumphs.

The Blue Devils are blessed with bountiful talent in the backfield, having two backs—Denny Reese and Tom Brooks—ranked among the top 10 district scorers.

Veteran quarterback Reese, who is both a passing and running threat, has scored ten touchdowns and four extra points in nine games for 68 point.

Brooks, a flashy halfback, has scored 42 points. His running mate, Denny Johnson, has been almost equally effective, dashing for five touchdowns in nine appearances.

End Len McLaughlin has been Reese's favorite aerial target. He has been on the receiving end of three touchdown passes.

Hit by injuries and short on experienced manpower, Coach Ken Wood's Tigers have a 2-5-1 mark prior to tonight's contest.

With halfbacks Jim Stevens and Pat Creaturo out for most of the late season games, the running burden has fallen on the shoulders of fullback Bob Delposen.

Substitute halfbacks John Euill and Dick Brown lack experience and size, but have lots of desire. Euill possesses good speed and is capable of breaking loose for the long dash.

The Tiger passing attack has been on-and-off this season, depending on the accuracy of sophomore quarterback Bob Kiggans' well-thrown but sometimes erratic passes.

End Bob Brown, who has been perhaps the most consistently reliable performer for the Tigers, is a topnotch pass receiver. Brown, who has also done an excellent punting job for Wellsville this year, has a sure pair of hands and has come up with several fine catches.

Three seniors, tackles Len Cuti and Ed Stone and guard Dick Kountz, head the hefty Wellsville forward wall. Biggest man on the line is Ralph "Jiggers" Wagner, who scales 240 pounds.

In a series which spans 42 years, Wellsville has a 12-9 edge over the Blue Devils, with two games ending in ties. But the Tigers have not won since 1940, being trounced last season, losing 25-21 in 1956 and 24-20 in the preceding year.

Oddly enough, last year's score was not the highest of the series. The Tigers ran up an 81-0 count on Lisbon in 1922.

Anthony, Ray Clash Tonight

Anthony, the top light heavyweight contender, has won six straight fights this year, five by knockouts. Ray, ranked sixth by Ring and 10th by the NBA has swept nine in a row.

It's a risky fight for the 23-year-old New Yorker. He'll collect about $5,000 just to keep busy. A defeat by the comparatively obscure Ray would be damaging to Tony's lightheavy position and his heavyweight ambitions. A victory would add nothing.

Conversely, this is a big one for the 22-year-old Ray. The ex-GI is a newcomer to the top ten. He won a berth among the elite group by stopping Jesse Bowdry in the ninth round Sept. 24.

Baseball Confronted With Threat Of Third Major League

Drive Started By Committee In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time since the Federal League era nearly half a century ago organized baseball was confronted today with the threat of an independent third major league.

New York City, virtually abandoning hopes of obtaining a National League franchise, set in motion the drive for the new league.

Baseball officials, already faced with such problems as controlling television, antitrust inquiries and collapsing minor leagues, met the surprise move with generally skeptical comments. Even baseball-minded people in major-hungry minor league cities viewed the proposal warily.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said, "Baseball is not going to be sledge-hammered."

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, quipped, "First I think they have to catch one team before they can catch eight."

But it was this inability of the nation's largest city to catch a team to replace the Giants and Dodgers that touched off the latest bomb.

William Shea, chairman of Mayor Robert Wagner's committee on baseball, announced at a press conference Thursday that the committee, convinced that it is getting nowhere in its bid to land a National League franchise, would start negotiations for a third major league with an unnamed National League executive.

Shea insisted that the committee would like to see the league formed with the cooperation of the current majors, but added that he felt New York had run into a blind alley in efforts to acquire an existing National League franchise or gain one through NL expansion. He accused NL President Warren Giles of evasive action.

The concept of a third major league is not new. Frick is for it. Most of the club owners favor it. But the general feeling is that the time is not ripe and there are not sufficient players or adequate playing sites available.

"About ten days ago," said Shea "I received a visit from an important National League executive, whose name I cannot divulge. He assured me that if New York were willing to lead the way in the formation of a third major league, he could put me in touch with people who are eager and financially able to promote big league baseball."

Shea said these groups of interested persons were in Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth, Atlanta, Toronto, Denver, Miami, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Detroit and several other cities on the West Coast.

The mayor's representative also said the possibility of raiding established major league teams for player material would have to be considered if the majors did not cooperate.

This brought a strong retort from Frick, who said, "As everybody knows I favor keeping New York open for a National League club, but baseball is not going to be sledged-hammered into putting a team in New York because of a threat of a third major league."

BILL PIZZICA, former East Liverpool lineman and senior guard at Mount Union College at Alliance, is shown in a family "conference" prior to playing his final college game Saturday against Muskingum. Pizzica draws an attentive ear from his son, Joe, 7, while daughter, Roni Mari, brings an extra letter-sweater in case it gets cold when her father concludes his football career at Mount. At the left is his wife, Betti. Pizzica has won three grid awards at the Alliance college. He was a fullback in his freshman year, but then was moved to his present line position. Tri-captain for the Raiders this year, Pizzica was named to the second team of the Methodist All-American College squad in 1957. He will complete his work toward a degree in January and hopes to teach in California. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Faust Pizzica, are now residing in Fontana, Calif. Pizzica worked at a gas station and industrial plant while studying at Mount Union.

IBC Claims Foul In Judge Ruling On Bout Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The IBC's of boxing want the Supreme Court to rule out, or at least take the sting from, a federal judge's decision that they monopolized championship bouts.

The International Boxing Clubs of New York and Chicago Thursday claimed a foul by District Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who ordered them to go out of business and directed their money men to get out of Madison Square Garden.

The government argued otherwise, contending Ryan moved wisely to strip boxing of monopoly and encourage independent promoters to put on more fights.

The Supreme Court took the case under study after two hours of sparring between Kenneth C. Royall, IBC and Garden lawyer, and Philip Elman, Justice Department attorney. Its decision probably won't be known for another two months.

Ryan ordered the IBC's to break up. He also said Norris and Wirtz should sell their controlling stock interest in the Garden and resign as officers of the New York sports palace.

Furthermore, Ryan barred them from entering into exclusive contracts with boxers or arenas. He limited the Garden and Norris-Wirtz to the promotion of two title bouts a year for the next five years.

The latter curb also would affect Chicago Stadium, which Norris and Wirtz own.

In previous sports cases the court has held that boxing and football are subject to federal antitrust laws, but that baseball is exempt.

Army, Air Force Mile Apart On Future Grid Scheduling

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The Army and the Air Force academies are one mile apart on the scheduling of future football games.

That's the approximate difference in elevation of the two service academies. Because of that difference, the West Pointers don't want to meet the Air Force on the gridiron anywhere in Colorado. The thin air here would give the Air Force the advantage, says Army's Earl (Red) Blaik.

Maj. Gen. James E. Briggs, Air Force Academy superintendent, said the Falcons are willing to meet Army anywhere of the Army's choosing on alternate years.

"But we have insisted and we will continue to insist that a return game in any such series be played out here, where our Cadets and the people of Colorado can see it in person," he added.

The teams are scheduled to meet for the first time next year at West Point, N. Y. The rivalry could end with that game unless the academies agree on a playing site.

49ers Release Matuszak, Pick Up Jerry Tubbs

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Marv Matuszak, a linebacking star in 1957 but a failure this year, has been released by the San Francisco 49ers to make room for a castoff.

The slumping National Football League club made the surprise announcement Thursday. To replace the five-year veteran, the 49ers picked up Jerry Tubbs, an Oklahoma All-America who was the Chicago Cardinals No. 1 draft choice two years ago. Tubbs was placed on waivers this season.

Matuszak, obtained from Pittsburgh last year in what the 49ers said was their best trade, reported in July overweight. The 6 foot 2 athlete called the signals on defense until he was benched two weeks ago.

He had suffered a knee and shoulder injury but recovered and started in Sunday's 56-7 loss to Los Angeles. Asked for comment, Matuszak snapped, "I'm disgusted. I ain't talkin'."

Coach Frank Albert said Tubbs, 6 foot 2 and 226 pounds, will join the team tonight in Detroit, where the 49ers play the Lions Sunday.

Ullman, Howe, Delvecchio Spark Wings' Victory

BOSTON (AP) —One of the major problems the Boston Bruins face is how to halt Detroit's Norm Ullman-Gordie Howe-Alex Delvecchio line.

The three continued to haunt the Bruins and prevented them from moving into the National Hockey League's top berth Thursday night in a 3-1 Red Wing verdict.

Ohio Will Open Rabbit Season Saturday At 9

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The annual reduction of Ohio's rabbit and pheasant population begins at 9 a.m. Saturday.

That's when the hunting season opens and it's a signal for a half million nimrods to take to the woods.

They should have good fortune this year. The State Wildlife Division said Thursday that rabbits are as plentiful as ever and pheasants more numerous than any year since 1950.

The season on pheasants ends Dec. 6; on rabbits, Jan. 3. Hunters are limited to four rabbits and two male birds a day. On public lands, pistols, rifles and crossbows are prohibited.

Among regulations to keep in mind: no person under 16 can hunt unless accompanied by an adult; the exterior sex identity of a pheasant may not be destroyed in the field; no firing on, across, or from a road; no Sunday hunting is allowed; hunting must cease for the day at 5 p.m.

Global Boycott Set On 'Cheap Flag' Ships

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The International Transport Workers Federation today ordered a worldwide four-day boycott of 1,200 "cheap flag" ships from Dec. 1 to Dec. 4.

The ITWF, with seven million members in 63 countries, says many ships are registered in Panama, Liberia, Honduras and Costa Rica because of taxation and labor condition advantages.

Battle-Royals Await College Grid Squads

By The Associated Press

Maryland Coach Tommy Mont is beginning the weekend's football activity on a revolutionary note if we are to believe some modern concepts of how a football team should be run.

Mont complained recently that the pressure to win has dictated the use of his most experienced players and a 2-6 record doesn't justify this policy. When the Terps take the field in the Orange Bowl tonight to play the University of Miami, there will be some changes.

Foremost will be quarterback Dickie Scarbarth and end Ed Becker, both third stringers. They will be part of Mont's gamble as he plans to give some of his less experienced players a chance.

There may be a revolution of sorts Saturday too, if Missouri upsets sixth-ranked Oklahoma in their battle for the Big Eight championship and a berth in the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma hasn't lost a Big Eight game since 1947 and will try to keep its streak alive before a regional television audience.

There are some battle-royals on Saturday' schedule. One is between top-ranked Louisiana State, driving for a national championship, an undefeated season and a Sugar Bowl berth, and Mississippi State, in a Southeastern Conference game. LSU has an 8-0 record.

At Iowa City, Iowa's Big Ten champs and Rose Bowl-bound Hawkeyes try to avenge a 17-14 licking from Ohio State last year. This defeat cost the Hawks the Big Ten crown. Ohio State (No. 16) has lost its last two games at Iowa.

The Southwest Conference has a couple that could break a tie for first place and send either Texas Christian or Rice to the Cotton Bowl. TCU (No. 9) tackles Texas in a regionally televised game. Rice (No. 17) meets the Texas Aggies. If TCU and Rice win, their game next week could decide the title.

The Big Ten, which has settled down to playing out the schedule, has fifth-ranked Wisconsin trying to solidify second place against Illinois while Purdue (No. 8) meets 13th ranked Northwestern in a TV game.

Fourth-ranked Auburn, ineligible for any bowls because of NCAA probation, meets SEC foe Georgia. A victory by the defending national champs and an LSU defeat would send Auburn into the SEC lead. Mississippi (No. 7), a potential bowl-participant, plays Tennessee in another SEC game.

In the East, third-ranked Army plays Villanova, its last game before meeting Navy Nov. 29 in Philadelphia. Syracuse (No. 12), a possible for the Gator, Cotton or Orange Bowls, meets intrastate rival Colgate. Rutgers (No. 19) plays the Quantico Marines. Rutgers has a 7-0 record.

The Air Force Academy (No. 10), a hot prospect for the Cotton Bowl, meets Skyline leader Wyoming. Southern Methodist (No. 15) faces elimination from the Southwest Conference race if it loses to Arkansas.

The East has the traditional Princeton-Yale game on a regional television hookup while Dartmouth visits Cornell. Princeton, Dartmouth and Cornell all share the Ivy League lead. Connecticut can gain the Yankee Conference title with a victory over Rhode Island.

California, Pacific Coast Conference leader, plays Washington. It must defeat the Huskies and win next week to guarantee the PCC title and a Rose Bowl slot. Runnerup Oregon State travels to Stanford in a regionally televised affair. Washington State plays College of Pacific in a non-conference game.

20 Games Set Saturday For Ohio College Teams

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Plenty of action is on tap Saturday for Ohio's college gridders as the 1958 campaign wanes. After the weekend's 20-game program only five tilts remain on the slate, with Miami at Cincinnati dropping the curtain Thanksgiving Day.

1 - Iowa has the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl bid wrapped up.

2 - Ohio hasn't scored a point against Iowa in its last two trips to the tall corn country.

3 - Only twice before has a Woody Hayes team gone three games in a row without a win—and a tie or loss could set a new, and unpleasant, record for him.

4 - Ohio must win, or Ohio faces the poorest season, record-wise, since Hayes took over in 1951 and compiled a 4-3-2 mark.

In 1951 Ohio lost to Michigan State, tied Wisconsin and lost to Indiana in one disastrous stretch. In 1956 the Bucks were shut out in the last two by Iowa and Michigan, and then dropped the 1957 opener to Texas Christian. This year Ohio was tied by Wisconsin, lost to Northwestern, and tied by Purdue going into Saturday's fray.

The Bucks will be without the services of Quarterback Frank Kremblas as they go against the Hawkeyes who have a wide edge in statistics, both on offense and defense.

Among the big ones on the Buckeye gridirons are Marshall at Bowling Green, Western Michigan at Kent State, Denison at Ohio Wesleyan, Muskingum at Mount Union, Wooster at Oberlin, Otterbein at Capital, Western Reserve at Case, Dayton at Miami, Baldwin-Wallace at Akron, Louisville at Ohio University, Grove City at Hiram, Heidelberg at Findlay (night), and Youngstown at Toledo (night.)

Thursday, Nov. 27 — Miami at Cincinnati.

By The Associated Press

By a split 2-1 vote, coaches of teams which have played both the Parkersburg Big Reds and the East Bank Pioneers in football this season pick the Big Reds to beat the Pioneers in the state's Class AAA title game at Charleston tomorrow.

Coaches Dick McElwee of Charleston and Doc Young of Stonewall Jackson give Parkersburg a slight edge, while Johnny Cox of Huntington casts a ballot for East Bank.

Parkersburg tied Charleston, 13-13, and whipped Stonewall, 27-18, and Huntington, 25-0. East Bank beat Charleston, 13-12, Stonewall, 7-6, and Huntington, 6-0.

Clarksburg-Sissonville To Clash For AA Title

By The Associated Press

A couple of pint-sized quarterbacks will be the center of attention at Buckhannon tomorrow when Clarksburg Roosevelt-Wilson and Sissonville clash for the state Class AA high school football title. The kick-off is set for 1:30 p. m.

Operating behind the T-formation for the R-W Presidents will be 130-pound Barry Brinkley, the only junior on Coach Vic Bonfili's starting offensive unit. All the other are seniors.

Handling the attack for Sissonville Coach Joe Sawyers' Indians will be T-formation quarterback Bobby Fisher, who also weighs all of 130 pounds.

This will be R-W's first whack at a state football championship since the playoffs were inaugurated in 1947. It will be Sissonville's second. In 1951, the Indians dropped a 26-7 decision to Huntington Vinson in the Class B playoff. In those days, schools were divided into A and B classifications. The present three-division system was established in 1955.

Rosburg's 69 Leads Field In Havana Golf

HAVANA (AP) — New length and confidence off the tee have transformed California's Bob Rosburg into one of the chief tournament threats on the professional golf tour.

"I was in pretty much of a slump until I got a new driver just after the Masters Tournament last spring," the pudgy former Stanford student from Palo Alto said, "and things have been going well ever since."

Rosburg, who has won $25,000 this year, carried a one-stroke lead today into the second round of the $45,000 Havana International Tournament.

The tournament is still wide open with the hand-picked field of 43 closely packed. Seven players are within two shots of each other and only four shots separated the top 20.

Rosburg had a stroke edge over a trio of tough old campaigners, the favorite Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y. and Marty Furgol of Sherman Oaks, Calif., each with an even par 70.

Benedict College TD-Crazy Backs Near Trail's End

ATCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Trail's end is near for a St. Benedict's College backfield of seniors which has scored a whopping total of 662 points in four seasons.

The Ravens close their schedule against William Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., Saturday. Unless a post-season bowl bid is forthcoming, it'll wind up the collegiate careers of halfbacks Gerald Mohlman, Seneca, Kan., and Fred Finer, Kirkwood, Mo.; quarterback Mark Flynn, and fullback Jim Purslow, both of Atchison.

Oosterbaan Resigns Post At Michigan

Oosterbaan said in a statement: "As is generally known I have for the past three or four years been seriously considering retiring from the head coaching position. Last spring at my request this intention was made known to the athletic board, which subsequently offered me a fine opportunity to serve the university in another capacity.

"At that time I decided this would be my last year in the head coaching position and so informed (Athletic Director) Fritz Crisler.

"I considered making the announcement at the opening of the season, but decided to withhold it until the season was over. In view of the recurring rumors, however, I'm making the statement now."

Elliott reportedly will receive an annual salary of $16,000. Oosterbaan's new job is expected to be as assistant athletic director under Crisler, his predecessor as football coach.

Oosterbaan reportedly made $19,000 a year as coach, but it was understood he would take a slight cut in his new job.

Oosterbaan is 52, second oldest Big Ten coach. He was ranked as one of Michigan's greatest all-around athletes. Twice he made the All-America football team as an end.

Elliott, 33, has been Oosterbaan's backfield coach for two seasons. He left a similar post at Iowa to return to Michigan, where he immediately was dubbed Oosterbaan's heir-apparent.

He was a star back on Michigan's unbeaten Big Ten and Rose Bowl champions of 1947, Crisler's final season as coach.

Ohio Collected Nearly 7 Million In Race Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio collected nearly seven million dollars in taxes on pari-mutuel betting at 13 race tracks during the 1958 season, State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy reported today.

The report showed a drop of $427,443, or 5.8 per cent, below revenues of $7,360,296 for the previous year. Actual receipts this year were $6,932,853. The season ended Oct. 31.

Some tracks showed an increase over last year. They included harness tracks at Lebanon and Painesville. At the same time, sulky tracks at Hilliards, Grandview and Bedford reported a decline.

Cleveland Due To Snap Back Against Skins

CLEVELAND (AP)—The feeling is that the Cleveland Browns hit bottom last week against Detroit and are due to snap back in Washington Sunday against the Redskins.

Only once in 12 previous seasons of professional football have the Browns lost three in a row. And that was in 1956 when they admittedly were rebuilding the club.

Washington has been able to beat the Browns only three times in 15 games, and two of those victories were in that bad 1956 season.

What if the Redskins surprise the Browns Sunday by stalling Jim Brown and Bob Mitchell? And if little Eddie LeBaron finds the Cleveland pass defense as porous as Chuck Conerly of New York and Tobin Rote of the Lions found it in the last two games?

Then the outlook for another division championship for the Browns would be dismal indeed, for they must meet these same Redskins here again two weeks from Sunday.

There was a bit of good news for the Browns' defense at Thursday's workout. Halfback Don Paul was back on the job, his injured elbow taped. For a time after he was hurt in last Sunday's game it was feared his grid career was over. He has said he plans to retire after this season.

Notre Dame's basketball captains go to extremes. Tom Hawkins is 6-feet-5 and Gene Duffy is 5-feet-6.

BILL PIZZICA, former East Liverpool lineman and senior guard at Mount Union College at Alliance, is shown in a family "conference" prior to playing his final college game Saturday against Muskingum. Pizzica draws an attentive ear from his son, Joe, 7, while daughter, Roni Mari, brings an extra letter-sweater in case it gets cold when her father concludes his football career at Mount. At the left is his wife, Betti. Pizzica has won three grid awards at the Alliance college. He was a fullback in his freshman year, but then was moved to his present line position. Tri-captain for the Raiders this year, Pizzica was named to the second team of the Methodist All-American College squad in 1957. He will complete his work toward a degree in January and hopes to teach in California. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Faust Pizzica, are now residing in Fontana, Calif. Pizzica worked at a gas station and industrial plant while studying at Mount Union.

IBC Claims Foul In Judge Ruling On Bout Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The IBC's of boxing want the Supreme Court to rule out, or at least take the sting from, a federal judge's decision that they monopolized championship bouts.

The International Boxing Clubs of New York and Chicago Thursday claimed a foul by District Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who ordered them to go out of business and directed their money men to get out of Madison Square Garden.

The government argued otherwise, contending Ryan moved wisely to strip boxing of monopoly and encourage independent promoters to put on more fights.

The Supreme Court took the case under study after two hours of sparring between Kenneth C. Royall, IBC and Garden lawyer, and Philip Elman, Justice Department attorney. Its decision probably won't be known for another two months.

Ryan ordered the IBC's to break up. He also said Norris and Wirtz should sell their controlling stock interest in the Garden and resign as officers of the New York sports palace.

Furthermore, Ryan barred them from entering into exclusive contracts with boxers or arenas. He limited the Garden and Norris-Wirtz to the promotion of two title bouts a year for the next five years.

The latter curb also would affect Chicago Stadium, which Norris and Wirtz own.

In previous sports cases the court has held that boxing and football are subject to federal antitrust laws, but that baseball is exempt.

Army, Air Force Mile Apart On Future Grid Scheduling

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The Army and the Air Force academies are one mile apart on the scheduling of future football games.

That's the approximate difference in elevation of the two service academies. Because of that difference, the West Pointers don't want to meet the Air Force on the gridiron anywhere in Colorado. The thin air here would give the Air Force the advantage, says Army's Earl (Red) Blaik.

Maj. Gen. James E. Briggs, Air Force Academy superintendent, said the Falcons are willing to meet Army anywhere of the Army's choosing on alternate years.

"But we have insisted and we will continue to insist that a return game in any such series be played out here, where our Cadets and the people of Colorado can see it in person," he added.

The teams are scheduled to meet for the first time next year at West Point, N. Y. The rivalry could end with that game unless the academies agree on a playing site.

49ers Release Matuszak, Pick Up Jerry Tubbs

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Marv Matuszak, a linebacking star in 1957 but a failure this year, has been released by the San Francisco 49ers to make room for a castoff.

The slumping National Football League club made the surprise announcement Thursday. To replace the five-year veteran, the 49ers picked up Jerry Tubbs, an Oklahoma All-America who was the Chicago Cardinals No. 1 draft choice two years ago. Tubbs was placed on waivers this season.

Matuszak, obtained from Pittsburgh last year in what the 49ers said was their best trade, reported in July overweight. The 6 foot 2 athlete called the signals on defense until he was benched two weeks ago.

He had suffered a knee and shoulder injury but recovered and started in Sunday's 56-7 loss to Los Angeles. Asked for comment, Matuszak snapped, "I'm disgusted. I ain't talkin'."

Coach Frank Albert said Tubbs, 6 foot 2 and 226 pounds, will join the team tonight in Detroit, where the 49ers play the Lions Sunday.

Ullman, Howe, Delvecchio Spark Wings' Victory

BOSTON (AP) —One of the major problems the Boston Bruins face is how to halt Detroit's Norm Ullman-Gordie Howe-Alex Delvecchio line.

The three continued to haunt the Bruins and prevented them from moving into the National Hockey League's top berth Thursday night in a 3-1 Red Wing verdict.

Ohio Will Open Rabbit Season Saturday At 9

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The annual reduction of Ohio's rabbit and pheasant population begins at 9 a.m. Saturday.

That's when the hunting season opens and it's a signal for a half million nimrods to take to the woods.

They should have good fortune this year. The State Wildlife Division said Thursday that rabbits are as plentiful as ever and pheasants more numerous than any year since 1950.

The season on pheasants ends Dec. 6; on rabbits, Jan. 3. Hunters are limited to four rabbits and two male birds a day. On public lands, pistols, rifles and crossbows are prohibited.

Among regulations to keep in mind: no person under 16 can hunt unless accompanied by an adult; the exterior sex identity of a pheasant may not be destroyed in the field; no firing on, across, or from a road; no Sunday hunting is allowed; hunting must cease for the day at 5 p.m.

Global Boycott Set On 'Cheap Flag' Ships

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The International Transport Workers Federation today ordered a worldwide four-day boycott of 1,200 "cheap flag" ships from Dec. 1 to Dec. 4.

Men are to refuse port facilities or to load or unload ships registered in Panama, Liberia, Honduras and Costa Rica.

The ITWF, with seven million members in 63 countries, says many ships are registered in Panama, Liberia, Honduras and Costa Rica because of taxation and labor condition advantages.

Battle-Royals Await College Grid Squads

By The Associated Press

Maryland Coach Tommy Mont is beginning the weekend's football activity on a revolutionary note if we are to believe some modern concepts of how a football team should be run.

Mont complained recently that the pressure to win has dictated the use of his most experienced players and a 2-6 record doesn't justify this policy. When the Terps take the field in the Orange Bowl tonight to play the University of Miami, there will be some changes.

Foremost will be quarterback Dickie Scarbarth and end Ed Becker, both third stringers. They will be part of Mont's gamble as he plans to give some of his less experienced players a chance.

There may be a revolution of sorts Saturday too, if Missouri upsets sixth-ranked Oklahoma in their battle for the Big Eight championship and a berth in the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma hasn't lost a Big Eight game since 1947 and will try to keep its streak alive before a regional television audience.

There are some battle-royals on Saturday' schedule. One is between top-ranked Louisiana State, driving for a national championship, an undefeated season and a Sugar Bowl berth, and Mississippi State, in a Southeastern Conference game. LSU has an 8-0 record.

At Iowa City, Iowa's Big Ten champs and Rose Bowl-bound Hawkeyes try to avenge a 17-14 licking from Ohio State last year. This defeat cost the Hawks the Big Ten crown. Ohio State (No. 16) has lost its last two games at Iowa.

The Southwest Conference has a couple that could break a tie for first place and send either Texas Christian or Rice to the Cotton Bowl. TCU (No. 9) tackles Texas in a regionally televised game. Rice (No. 17) meets the Texas Aggies. If TCU and Rice win, their game next week could decide the title.

The Big Ten, which has settled down to playing out the schedule, has fifth-ranked Wisconsin trying to solidify second place against Illinois while Purdue (No. 8) meets 13th ranked Northwestern in a TV game.

Fourth-ranked Auburn, ineligible for any bowls because of NCAA probation, meets SEC foe Georgia. A victory by the defending national champs and an LSU defeat would send Auburn into the SEC lead. Mississippi (No. 7), a potential bowl-participant, plays Tennessee in another SEC game.

In the East, third-ranked Army plays Villanova, its last game before meeting Navy Nov. 29 in Philadelphia. Syracuse (No. 12), a possible for the Gator, Cotton or Orange Bowls, meets intrastate rival Colgate. Rutgers (No. 19) plays the Quantico Marines. Rutgers has a 7-0 record.

Georgia Tech (No. 20) meets Alabama, both of whom have been mentioned for a post-season bowl, while Florida (No. 18) faces Arkansas State.

Eleventh-ranked North Carolina goes after its seventh straight victory in the face of Notre Dame's George Izo and his pinpoint passing. Pitt (No. 14), fresh from its 29-26 upset of the Irish last week and a possible in a New Year's Day bowl, plays Nebraska.

The Air Force Academy (No. 10), a hot prospect for the Cotton Bowl, meets Skyline leader Wyoming. Southern Methodist (No. 15) faces elimination from the Southwest Conference race if it loses to Arkansas.

The East has the traditional Princeton-Yale game on a regional television hookup while Dartmouth visits Cornell. Princeton, Dartmouth and Cornell all share the Ivy League lead. Connecticut can gain the Yankee Conference title with a victory over Rhode Island.

California, Pacific Coast Conference leader, plays Washington. It must defeat the Huskies and win next week to guarantee the PCC title and a Rose Bowl slot. Runnerup Oregon State travels to Stanford in a regionally televised affair. Washington State plays College of Pacific in a non-conference game.

20 Games Set Saturday For Ohio College Teams

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Plenty of action is on tap Saturday for Ohio's college gridders as the 1958 campaign wanes. After the weekend's 20-game program only five tilts remain on the slate, with Miami at Cincinnati dropping the curtain Thanksgiving Day.

Ohio State's underdog Bucks, their offense chilled in the last three games, go against Iowa at Iowa City. The angles are numerous.

1 - Iowa has the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl bid wrapped up.

2 - Ohio hasn't scored a point against Iowa in its last two trips to the tall corn country.

3 - Only twice before has a Woody Hayes team gone three games in a row without a win—and a tie or loss could set a new, and unpleasant, record for him.

4 - Ohio must win, or Ohio faces the poorest season, record-wise, since Hayes took over in 1951 and compiled a 4-3-2 mark.

In 1951 Ohio lost to Michigan State, tied Wisconsin and lost to Indiana in one disastrous stretch. In 1956 the Bucks were shut out in the last two by Iowa and Michigan, and then dropped the 1957 opener to Texas Christian. This year Ohio was tied by Wisconsin, lost to Northwestern, and tied by Purdue going into Saturday's fray.

The Bucks will be without the services of Quarterback Frank Kremblas as they go against the Hawkeyes who have a wide edge in statistics, both on offense and defense.

While Ohio is scrapping with its back to the wall, the home folk have plenty of action to view.

Among the big ones on the Buckeye gridirons are Marshall at Bowling Green, Western Michigan at Kent State, Denison at Ohio Wesleyan, Muskingum at Mount Union, Wooster at Oberlin, Otterbein at Capital, Western Reserve at Case, Dayton at Miami, Baldwin-Wallace at Akron, Louisville at Ohio University, Grove City at Hiram, Heidelberg at Findlay (night), and Youngstown at Toledo (night.)

Following Saturday's contests, those still on the slate are:

Thursday, Nov. 27 — Miami at Cincinnati.

By The Associated Press

By a split 2-1 vote, coaches of teams which have played both the Parkersburg Big Reds and the East Bank Pioneers in football this season pick the Big Reds to beat the Pioneers in the state's Class AAA title game at Charleston tomorrow.

Coaches Dick McElwee of Charleston and Doc Young of Stonewall Jackson give Parkersburg a slight edge, while Johnny Cox of Huntington casts a ballot for East Bank.

Parkersburg tied Charleston, 13-13, and whipped Stonewall, 27-18, and Huntington, 25-0. East Bank beat Charleston, 13-12, Stonewall, 7-6, and Huntington, 6-0.

Clarksburg-Sissonville To Clash For AA Title

By The Associated Press

A couple of pint-sized quarterbacks will be the center of attention at Buckhannon tomorrow when Clarksburg Roosevelt-Wilson and Sissonville clash for the state Class AA high school football title. The kick-off is set for 1:30 p. m.

Operating behind the T-formation for the R-W Presidents will be 130-pound Barry Brinkley, the only junior on Coach Vic Bonfili's starting offensive unit. All the other are seniors.

Handling the attack for Sissonville Coach Joe Sawyers' Indians will be T-formation quarterback Bobby Fisher, who also weighs all of 130 pounds.

This will be R-W's first whack at a state football championship since the playoffs were inaugurated in 1947. It will be Sissonville's second. In 1951, the Indians dropped a 26-7 decision to Huntington Vinson in the Class B playoff. In those days, schools were divided into A and B classifications. The present three-division system was established in 1955.

Rosburg's 69 Leads Field In Havana Golf

HAVANA (AP) — New length and confidence off the tee have transformed California's Bob Rosburg into one of the chief tournament threats on the professional golf tour.

"I was in pretty much of a slump until I got a new driver just after the Masters Tournament last spring," the pudgy former Stanford student from Palo Alto said, "and things have been going well ever since."

Rosburg, who has won $25,000 this year, carried a one-stroke lead today into the second round of the $45,000 Havana International Tournament.

The tournament is still wide open with the hand-picked field of 43 closely packed. Seven players are within two shots of each other and only four shots separated the top 20.

Rosburg had a stroke edge over a trio of tough old campaigners, the favorite Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y. and Marty Furgol of Sherman Oaks, Calif., each with an even par 70.

Benedict College TD-Crazy Backs Near Trail's End

ATCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Trail's end is near for a St. Benedict's College backfield of seniors which has scored a whopping total of 662 points in four seasons.

The Ravens close their schedule against William Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., Saturday. Unless a post-season bowl bid is forthcoming, it'll wind up the collegiate careers of halfbacks Gerald Mohlman, Seneca, Kan., and Fred Finer, Kirkwood, Mo.; quarterback Mark Flynn, and fullback Jim Purslow, both of Atchison.

Oosterbaan Resigns Post At Michigan

Both are former Michigan football stars.

Oosterbaan said in a statement: "As is generally known I have for the past three or four years been seriously considering retiring from the head coaching position. Last spring at my request this intention was made known to the athletic board, which subsequently offered me a fine opportunity to serve the university in another capacity.

"At that time I decided this would be my last year in the head coaching position and so informed (Athletic Director) Fritz Crisler.

"I considered making the announcement at the opening of the season, but decided to withhold it until the season was over. In view of the recurring rumors, however, I'm making the statement now."

Elliott reportedly will receive an annual salary of $16,000. Oosterbaan's new job is expected to be as assistant athletic director under Crisler, his predecessor as football coach.

Oosterbaan reportedly made $19,000 a year as coach, but it was understood he would take a slight cut in his new job.

Oosterbaan is 52, second oldest Big Ten coach. He was ranked as one of Michigan's greatest all-around athletes. Twice he made the All-America football team as an end.

Elliott, 33, has been Oosterbaan's backfield coach for two seasons. He left a similar post at Iowa to return to Michigan, where he immediately was dubbed Oosterbaan's heir-apparent.

He was a star back on Michigan's unbeaten Big Ten and Rose Bowl champions of 1947, Crisler's final season as coach.

Ohio Collected Nearly 7 Million In Race Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio collected nearly seven million dollars in taxes on pari-mutuel betting at 13 race tracks during the 1958 season, State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy reported today.

The report showed a drop of $427,443, or 5.8 per cent, below revenues of $7,360,296 for the previous year. Actual receipts this year were $6,932,853. The season ended Oct. 31.

Some tracks showed an increase over last year. They included harness tracks at Lebanon and Painesville. At the same time, sulky tracks at Hilliards, Grandview and Bedford reported a decline.

Cleveland Due To Snap Back Against Skins

CLEVELAND (AP)—The feeling is that the Cleveland Browns hit bottom last week against Detroit and are due to snap back in Washington Sunday against the Redskins.

Only once in 12 previous seasons of professional football have the Browns lost three in a row. And that was in 1956 when they admittedly were rebuilding the club.

Washington has been able to beat the Browns only three times in 15 games, and two of those victories were in that bad 1956 season.

What if the Redskins surprise the Browns Sunday by stalling Jim Brown and Bob Mitchell? And if little Eddie LeBaron finds the Cleveland pass defense as porous as Chuck Conerly of New York and Tobin Rote of the Lions found it in the last two games?

Then the outlook for another division championship for the Browns would be dismal indeed, for they must meet these same Redskins here again two weeks from Sunday.

There was a bit of good news for the Browns' defense at Thursday's workout. Halfback Don Paul was back on the job, his injured elbow taped. For a time after he was hurt in last Sunday's game it was feared his grid career was over. He has said he plans to retire after this season.

Notre Dame's basketball captains go to extremes. Tom Hawkins is 6-feet-5 and Gene Duffy is 5-feet-6.

Record Year Predicted In Construction Activity

WASHINGTON — One of the nation's leading building economists predicted today that construction activity in 1959 will hit a new all-time high for the 12th successive year, but housing starts, public and private combined, will remain at about the 1958 level of 1,160,000.

Edwin W. Magee Jr., associate economist of the F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news and marketing service, explained that his forecast was based on recent construction contract awards and the outlook for contract awards next year.

"Construction contract awards are apt to rise 3 per cent next year to a total of $35,570,000,000. This would be on top of a 7 per cent rise in 1958 compared with 1957."

Residential construction, according to Magee, is one of the most difficult categories of building to forecast at this time. A tightening of the mortgage money market, making it difficult in many areas to obtain FHA-insured and VA-guaranteed financing, should exert a downward pressure on home building during the early months of 1959, he stated.

At the same time, the new Congress is expected to take prompt action to pour more funds into the lending stream and the result should be a moderate upsurge in home construction during the second half of 1959, Magee emphasized.

"With these factors more or less balancing each other off, we look for next year's housing starts, public and private combined, to show very little, if any, change from this year's expected total of about 1,160,000."

CONTRACT awards for new residential construction next year will be down 2 per cent in floor area but up 1 per cent in dollar volume, Magee told his audience of leading lumber manufacturers from all parts of the U. S.

This is accounted for, he explained, by the prospect that apartment construction will represent an increasing share of new residential units while the cost of all residential building, reflecting higher price tags on materials and labor, will continue upward.

Non-residential construction awards next year, Magee reported, are expected to be up some 4 per cent in physical volume, with manufacturing buildings accounting for the largest gain percentage-wise—at last 14 per cent.

Contracts awards for other types of construction, he said, are likely to increase in physical volume as follows:

Commercial building, up 3 per cent; educational buildings, up 2 per cent; religious buildings, up 4 per cent.

Chimney Cap Will Save Many Home Headaches

During the days of substantial building practically all chimneys were topped with a slate or stone chimney cap, which covered the joints between the top bricks.

In these days you seldom see that. Instead there is usually a thin skim of cement or a beveled cement cap. This cracks and allows water from rain or melted snow to penetrate through the masonry and results in stained ceilings and spotted wallpaper.

If there is no cap on your chimney, it takes but a bucketful of cement and a half-hour to lay a beveled cap where it belongs. If there is a cracked cap it can be made water-tight with roofing cement or heavy paint.

Chimneys seem to have great individuality. In a row of 20 houses, all as alike as peas in a pod, you can find chimneys that smoke; chimneys that do not smoke but have too great a draft; chimneys that drip water into the fireplace; chimneys that emit a dismal howl when the wind blows, and chimneys that are absolutely perfect in every respect.

There is a specific reason for each, and it usually can be cured by patient investigation by the home owner or by consulting a chimney expert. Some of these men are wizards at finding and correcting chimney complaints.

Probably the most prevalent complaint is the chimney that wets the fireplace when there is a heavy and long rainfall.

Usually the cure for this is to install a hood over the opening at the top of the chimney flue. This should be at least 10 inches high so that it does not interfere with the proper drawing of the fireplace, and it should be made of copper or heavily galvanized iron.

The second major complaint is that of porous or water-absorbing brick. This is quickly cured by either painting the chimney or giving it a coat of waterproofing compound.

Friendly Persuasion Aids Diet Appeal

Ida Jean Kain

Stop trying to browbeat yourself into staying with reducing fare. With this approach, you can hold out only as long as you exert force of will — but let up a little and you slip right back into the old habit pattern.

Have you ever been baffled as to why you break your slimming resolutions though you desperately desire to lose the excess pounds that are spoiling your life? Undoubtedly you interpreted this failure as a dismal lack of will. Overweights, know for a certainty that the will is there abiding in full power. The technique is to find how to harness the inner force for your purpose.

HERE IS a potent secret of success and failure: The will is partly subconscious and is therefore strongly influence by your mental pictures which are formed by your persistent thoughts.

When you half expect to fail, without being aware of it, you picture failure. Over-concern with final results is a hindrance, too, for you are fearful of failure. In short, anything that plants negative images works contrary to your real desires. It amounts to trying to go ahead with the brakes on.

Do an about-face in your thinking. Instead of feeling disgruntled because you cannot eat all the fattening favorites, just thank your lucky stars that the science of nutrition applied to daily fare can help you to become beautifully slim. Be confident that you will not lack energy, lose your laughter, or even have to go hungry.

Now for some mental gymnastics that act as a liberating force: Start giving your inner mind instructions. Relax and get very quiet within yourself, then say to yourself. . ."I will feel perfectly content with this scientific way of eating to slim down. I'll feel wonderful. This is it. . .I know I can be shapely weight."

Friends, realize the importance of thinking right. The Scriptures say, "As a man thinketh, so is he." The thoughts which you accept wholeheartedly will bring results. And results breed belief, which in turn gives you a seven-league boots stride in your slimming venture.

Think about all this tonight on the thin edge of sleep — and again as your first waking thought. Give your mind the thoughts, instructions and pictures you want to come true. In your mind's eye, start to be the person you want to become. It works!

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Undisciplined Children Make Trouble For All

In many new housing developments in big cities, and in areas of mushrooming Suburbia, there are streets teeming with young children. When there are ample playgrounds available, and many children of the same age, there's an excellent opportunity for normal education in growing up together. How much better this sort of neighborhood is than one with only a few children and almost nobody to play with.

By Garry Meyers

BUT I'M receiving a lot of letters from young mothers in these areas who, having tried to bring up their own child or children to respect the rights of others, complain of the many other children on the street who are "running wild."

Often both parents, away at work or at pleasure, may leave their children, say from 5 to 12, unsupervised.

The complaining correspondent tells of the danger to her own children from flying stones and other small, sharp objects; of the wanton destruction of property; of the impossibility, perhaps, of developing new grass lawns; and of the insults they themselves must endure from young children on their street.

A few manage to attract some of the neighbor children to their homes, where they urge them to better ways and thus cultivate better playmates for their own children. Yet there's a limit to the time and energy of such helpful parents.

MANIFESTLY, the theory and practice so widely prevalent in America of restraints - to - the-winds contributes to the tragic conditions in Suburbia and the new housing areas of big cities.

Until more young parents learn to discipline their children, beginning in the early years, matters will grow worse for the few wise and skillful mothers in areas where there are many young children.

Otherwise it may not be long before Suburbia and good housing areas in cities will breed more adolescent criminal groups than the slums.

My bulletin, "How To Teach Tot Meaning of No," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I bring out all the lights in blonde hair without injuring the hair?

A. Place as much borax as can be held on a quarter of a dollar coin, add to a gallon of water, and use as a rinse.

Q. How can I make use of faded rugs that are otherwise good?

A. Why not dye the rugs a plain dark color. A small bright rug will take away the somber appearance of a larger dark one.

Q. How can I remove indelible ink stains from linen?

Protestantism Seen Victim Of Greatest Virtue

Bishop J. Gordon Howard of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Pittsburgh, says many evils and shortcomings sprang from the fragmentation of protestantism.

In a speech Thursday night before the assembly of the Ohio Council of Churches, Bishop Howard said:

"Our sin is not in having convictions of our own but in denying others the right to theirs. This was the sin of the ancient Pharisees . . . The Protestant drive for freedom must be matched by a corresponding drive for unity."

Other officers elected were Dr. William K. Messmer of Dayton, first vice president; Dr. Lance Webb, second vice president; Dr. J. Dallas Jenkins, recording secretary, and Robert W. Newlon, treasurer.

Drs. Webb and Jenkins and Mr. Newlon are from Columbus.

Police Cadets To Watch For Men Wearing Caps

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Two Toledo Police Academy cadets will be noticing the kind of caps men are wearing during the next few days.

The cadets, Nayland Rose, and Theodore Bender were doing downtown traffic duty Thursday night for the first time. Their car was parked in the 100 block of St. Clair Street.

A reckless thief entered the car by breaking a vent window, they reported. The loss—four new police caps.

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $200,000 SEWERAGE SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT BONDS OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING PART OF THE COST OF IMPROVING AND EXTENDING THE MUNICIAL SEWERAGE SYSTEM, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, for the purpose hereinafter stated Council by Ordinance Number 8, 1957, as amended by Ordinance Number 10, 1957, authorized the issuance of notes in the principal amount of $500,000 of which $300,000 in principal amount were thereafter issued and sold; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Ordinance Number 4, 1958, notes in the amount of $300,000 were issued and delivered to pay off and retire the aforesaid original note issue, which new notes are about to fall due, and Council has determined that no additional borrowing will be required for the completion of the sewerage project and that bonds shall now be issued to pay off, together with other funds available, such outstanding $300,000 of note indebtedness; and

WHEREAS, at Council's request the Auditor, as fiscal officer of the City, has certified that the estimated life of the properties and improvements to be acquired and constructed would exceed five (5) years and that the maximum maturity of such proposed bonds would be twenty-five (25) years.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED by Council of the City of East Liverpool, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That it is necessary to issue bonds of the City of East Liverpool in the principal amount of $200,000 in order to provide a fund for the purpose of paying part of the cost of improving and extending the municipal sewerage system; that such bonds shall be issued in one lot and that notes have been issued in anticipation of the issuance of said bonds and are about to mature.

SECTION 2. That said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, and numbered from 1 to 200, both inclusive, shall be dated the first day of December, 1958, and shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum (4%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of June and the first day of December of each year until the principal sum is paid, commencing June 1, 1959, as evidenced by the coupons attached thereto; provided, however, that if the bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest then herein specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided in the resolution of Council approving the award thereof. Such bonds shall mature as follows: $10,000 on the first day of December from 1960 to 1979, inclusive which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

SECTION 3. Said bonds shall be executed by the Mayor and Auditor and shall bear the corporate seal of said City. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the Auditor printed or lithographed thereon. They shall be designated "Sewerage System Improvement Bonds" and shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the office of the City's legal depositary, presently The Potters Bank & Trust Company, East Liverpool, Ohio.

SECTION 4. For the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds promptly when and as the same falls due, and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on the taxable property in the City of East Liverpool, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay the interest upon said bonds as and when the same fall due, and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of the said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall not be less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Section 11 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio; provided that the amount of such tax may be reduced in any year by the amount of surplus funds from the operation of the sewerage system which are available for the payment of such principal and interest and are appropriated for such purpose.

SECTION 5. Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levy hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund which, together with the interest collected on the same shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds when and as the same fall due.

SECTION 6. Said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Sinking Fund Trustees of the City, and so many of the same as shall not be taken by said trustees shall be sold at public sale to the highest bidder therefor, in the manner prescribed by law. The proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon, shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose and be allocated to the improvement herein described.

The premium and accrued interest received from such sale shall be transferred to the Bond Retirement Fund to be applied to the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds, in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 7. It is hereby determined that all acts, conditions and things necessary to be done, precedent to and in the issuing of these bonds in order to make them legal, valid and binding obligations of said City have been done, performed and have happened in regular and due form as required by law; that the faith, credit and revenue of said City are hereby irrevocably pledged for the prompt payment of the principal and interest thereof at maturity and that no limitation of indebtedness or taxation either statutory or constitutional, has been exceeded in issuing these bonds.

SECTION 8. The Clerk of Council is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this Ordinance to the County Auditor.

SECTION 9. This Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the peace, health and welfare of said City and for the further reason that issuance and sale of the bonds herein authorized are immediately essential to provide for the retirement of outstanding notes and thereby to preserve the credit of the City; wherefore, this Ordinance shall go into effect immediately upon its passage and approval.

Friendly Persuasion Aids Diet Appeal

Ida Jean Kain

Stop trying to browbeat yourself into staying with reducing fare. With this approach, you can hold out only as long as you exert force of will — but let up a little and you slip right back into the old habit pattern.

Have you ever been baffled as to why you break your slimming resolutions though you desperately desire to lose the excess pounds that are spoiling your life? Undoubtedly you interpreted this failure as a dismal lack of will. Overweights, know for a certainty that the will is there abiding in full power. The technique is to find how to harness the inner force for your purpose.

HERE IS a potent secret of success and failure: The will is partly subconscious and is therefore strongly influence by your mental pictures which are formed by your persistent thoughts.

When you half expect to fail, without being aware of it, you picture failure. Over-concern with final results is a hindrance, too, for you are fearful of failure. In short, anything that plants negative images works contrary to your real desires. It amounts to trying to go ahead with the brakes on.

Do an about-face in your thinking. Instead of feeling disgruntled because you cannot eat all the fattening favorites, just thank your lucky stars that the science of nutrition applied to daily fare can help you to become beautifully slim. Be confident that you will not lack energy, lose your laughter, or even have to go hungry.

Now for some mental gymnastics that act as a liberating force: Start giving your inner mind instructions. Relax and get very quiet within yourself, then say to yourself. . ."I will feel perfectly content with this scientific way of eating to slim down. I'll feel wonderful. This is it. . .I know I can be shapely weight."

Friends, realize the importance of thinking right. The Scriptures say, "As a man thinketh, so is he." The thoughts which you accept wholeheartedly will bring results. And results breed belief, which in turn gives you a seven-league boots stride in your slimming venture.

Think about all this tonight on the thin edge of sleep — and again as your first waking thought. Give your mind the thoughts, instructions and pictures you want to come true. In your mind's eye, start to be the person you want to become. It works!

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Undisciplined Children Make Trouble For All

In many new housing developments in big cities, and in areas of mushrooming Suburbia, there are streets teeming with young children. When there are ample playgrounds available, and many children of the same age, there's an excellent opportunity for normal education in growing up together. How much better this sort of neighborhood is than one with only a few children and almost nobody to play with.

By Garry Meyers

BUT I'M receiving a lot of letters from young mothers in these areas who, having tried to bring up their own child or children to respect the rights of others, complain of the many other children on the street who are "running wild."

Often both parents, away at work or at pleasure, may leave their children, say from 5 to 12, unsupervised.

The complaining correspondent tells of the danger to her own children from flying stones and other small, sharp objects; of the wanton destruction of property; of the impossibility, perhaps, of developing new grass lawns; and of the insults they themselves must endure from young children on their street.

A few manage to attract some of the neighbor children to their homes, where they urge them to better ways and thus cultivate better playmates for their own children. Yet there's a limit to the time and energy of such helpful parents.

Yet, consider how many parents have bought homes in Suburbia, believing it an ideal place for their little children to grow up.

MANIFESTLY, the theory and practice so widely prevalent in America of restraints - to - the-winds contributes to the tragic conditions in Suburbia and the new housing areas of big cities.

Until more young parents learn to discipline their children, beginning in the early years, matters will grow worse for the few wise and skillful mothers in areas where there are many young children.

Otherwise it may not be long before Suburbia and good housing areas in cities will breed more adolescent criminal groups than the slums.

Police Cadets To Watch For Men Wearing Caps

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Two Toledo Police Academy cadets will be noticing the kind of caps men are wearing during the next few days.

The cadets, Nayland Rose, and Theodore Bender were doing downtown traffic duty Thursday night for the first time. Their car was parked in the 100 block of St. Clair Street.

A reckless thief entered the car by breaking a vent window, they reported. The loss—four new police caps.

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $200,000 SEWERAGE SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT BONDS OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING PART OF THE COST OF IMPROVING AND EXTENDING THE MUNICIAL SEWERAGE SYSTEM, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, for the purpose hereinafter stated Council by Ordinance Number 8, 1957, as amended by Ordinance Number 10, 1957, authorized the issuance of notes in the principal amount of $500,000 of which $300,000 in principal amount were thereafter issued and sold; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Ordinance Number 4, 1958, notes in the amount of $300,000 were issued and delivered to pay off and retire the aforesaid original note issue, which new notes are about to fall due, and Council has determined that no additional borrowing will be required for the completion of the sewerage project and that bonds shall now be issued to pay off, together with other funds available, such outstanding $300,000 of note indebtedness; and

WHEREAS, at Council's request the Auditor, as fiscal officer of the City, has certified that the estimated life of the properties and improvements to be acquired and constructed would exceed five (5) years and that the maximum maturity of such proposed bonds would be twenty-five (25) years.

NOW, THEREFORE,

SECTION 1. That it is necessary to issue bonds of the City of East Liverpool in the principal amount of $200,000 in order to provide a fund for the purpose of paying part of the cost of improving and extending the municipal sewerage system; that such bonds shall be issued in one lot and that notes have been issued in anticipation of the issuance of said bonds and are about to mature.

SECTION 2. That said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, and numbered from 1 to 200, both inclusive, shall be dated the first day of December, 1958, and shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum (4%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of June and the first day of December of each year until the principal sum is paid, commencing June 1, 1959, as evidenced by the coupons attached thereto; provided, however, that if the bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest then herein specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided in the resolution of Council approving the award thereof. Such bonds shall mature as follows: $10,000 on the first day of December from 1960 to 1979, inclusive which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

SECTION 3. Said bonds shall be executed by the Mayor and Auditor and shall bear the corporate seal of said City. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the Auditor printed or lithographed thereon. They shall be designated "Sewerage System Improvement Bonds" and shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the office of the City's legal depositary, presently The Potters Bank & Trust Company, East Liverpool, Ohio.

SECTION 4. For the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds promptly when and as the same falls due, and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on the taxable property in the City of East Liverpool, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay the interest upon said bonds as and when the same fall due, and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of the said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall not be less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Section 11 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio; provided that the amount of such tax may be reduced in any year by the amount of surplus funds from the operation of the sewerage system which are available for the payment of such principal and interest and are appropriated for such purpose.

SECTION 5. Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levy hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund which, together with the interest collected on the same shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds when and as the same fall due.

SECTION 6. Said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Sinking Fund Trustees of the City, and so many of the same as shall not be taken by said Trustees shall be sold at public sale to the highest bidder therefor, in the manner prescribed by law. The proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon, shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose and be allocated to the improvement herein described.

The premium and accrued interest received from such sale shall be transferred to the Bond Retirement Fund to be applied to the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds, in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 7. It is hereby determined that all acts, conditions and things necessary to be done, precedent to and in the issuing of these bonds in order to make them legal, valid and binding obligations of said City have been done, performed and have happened in regular and due form as required by law; that the faith, credit and revenue of said City are hereby irrevocably pledged for the prompt payment of the principal and interest thereof at maturity and that no limitation of indebtedness or taxation either statutory or constitutional, has been exceeded in issuing these bonds.

SECTION 8. The Clerk of Council is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this Ordinance to the County Auditor.

SECTION 9. This Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the peace, health and welfare of said City and for the further reason that issuance and sale of the bonds herein authorized are immediately essential to provide for the retirement of outstanding notes and thereby to preserve the credit of the City; wherefore, this Ordinance shall go into effect immediately upon its passage and approval.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I bring out all the lights in blonde hair without injuring the hair?

A. Place as much borax as can be held on a quarter of a dollar coin, add to a gallon of water, and use as a rinse.

Q. How can I make use of faded rugs that are otherwise good?

Q. How can I remove indelible ink stains from linen?

Protestantism Seen Victim Of Greatest Virtue

Bishop J. Gordon Howard of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Pittsburgh, says many evils and shortcomings sprang from the fragmentation of protestantism.

In a speech Thursday night before the assembly of the Ohio Council of Churches, Bishop Howard said:

"Our sin is not in having convictions of our own but in denying others the right to theirs. This was the sin of the ancient Pharisees . . . The Protestant drive for freedom must be matched by a corresponding drive for unity."

The assembly of the Ohio Council of Churches is the policy making body of the group and is composed of delegates from member denominations.

Other officers elected were Dr. William K. Messmer of Dayton, first vice president; Dr. Lance Webb, second vice president; Dr. J. Dallas Jenkins, recording secretary, and Robert W. Newlon, treasurer.

Drs. Webb and Jenkins and Mr. Newlon are from Columbus.

Gov. O'Neill Spares Life Of 2 Deaf Mutes

Brothers' Death Sentence Commuted To Life In Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today spared two deaf mute brothers from death in Ohio's electric chair tonight.

The brothers, Joseph Buza, 21, and Bert, 17, were convicted of the first-degree murder of Margaret Denham, 76, operator of a confectionery and filling station in Barton, Belmont County. The slaying occurred April 10, 1957.

The Belmont County prosecutor said the woman was stabbed 18 times and had been stomped and kicked in the face and back.

The slaying followed attempts by the store owner to recover about $100 she gave the boys. They obtained the money by cashing worthless checks at her store.

At a recent informal clemency hearing conducted by the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission, Prosecutor William H. Irwin said, "I don't suppose there could be a more brutal murder." He said the brothers went to Wheeling, W. Va. and attended a dance after the slaying.

Attorneys for the boys said that because of their physical defects the boys had no contacts with schools, churches and other children during their formative years. They claimed the boys were victims of their affliction.

The boys were sentenced to death a year ago Saturday by Belmont County Common Pleas Ross Michener after a jury withheld a recommendation for mercy.

Their execution was originally scheduled for last March 10, but appeals stayed it. The Ohio Supreme Court recently turned down their final plea anl set the new execution date.
